FUTURE FEARS SPUR DEBATES ON NEW DEAL

Roosevelt's Speech Discussed.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 8.—[Special.]—When President Roosevelt asked the people in his radio address to say whether they are not better off today than a year ago he started a debate in every household and on every street corner.

A chorus of ayes has gone up from the 5 million persons who have found jobs since March, 1933, and from the 20 millions who are subsisting either wholly or partly on the United States treasury.

No less emphatic are the nays uttered by those who find that the contents of the pay envelope no longer buy as much of life's necessities as a result of the increased cost of living. Business men testify to any improvement of business variously attributed to the outpouring of billions of dollars of public funds to increase purchasing power and to the natural recovery from the depression which is in evidence in other countries also, notably Great Britain.

Many Fear the Future.

The feeling that people are better off, on the whole, than a year ago is palpably offset by a fear of what the future is to bring forth which permeates the entire business community and affects the attitude of almost every one who has been able to put aside anything for a rainy day. As a result of these fears business is hesitant and investors are putting their savings into government bonds pending future developments.

There is uneasiness over the monetary course of the administration in the next year or two. The uppermost thought is how long the government can continue the present rate of colossal spending and borrowing on its credit without being compelled to resort to inflation of the currency on a far greater scale than has occurred up to date.

Gold Experiment's Results.

The experiment in gold manipulations, which the President himself pronounced disappointing, and the experiment in silver manipulations which he reluctantly consented to are regarded by the business world as far from reassuring.

The stagnant state of the investment market testifies to the distrust of the implications of the New Deal not only by the millionaires but by such wage earners as are able to buy a bond now and then. Money is not sentimental. It seeks the highest profit consistent with safety.

The New Deal promises the redistribution of wealth and frowns on the profit motive. Those who engage in business are not to be allowed to make as much profit as formerly, and what profits they do make will be taken from them in greater degree through increased income taxes. Hence, money is timid, waiting to see what is going to happen.

The administration is already moving to boost income taxes at the next session of congress to meet the colossal cost of the recovery program which is destined to increase the national debt to not less than 35 billion dollars. Eventually income taxes are to be doubled, perhaps trebled.

There appears to be a prevalent opinion in the country that the cost of the New Deal will be paid by the 3 million persons who pay income taxes. Of course, however, the income tax payers will pass every penny of the burden they can onto others. Every business man will raise prices in order to collect his increased taxes from consumers. Thus the 120 millions who pay no income taxes will find themselves paying for the New Deal in the end through the increased cost of living.

Survey of NRA Tactics.

The New Deal has decreased the hours of labor and increased pay, but at the same time has increased the cost of living to such an extent that many workers find themselves worse off than they were under the old deal.

According to the department of labor statistics the average hours of labor per week in manufacturing and nonmanufacturing industries combined declined 5.7 per cent between March, 1933, and March, 1934. The average hourly earnings increased 18.3 per cent and the average weekly earnings 11.5 per cent. At the same time the cost of food increased 17.5 per cent. While the average worker had 11.5 per cent more money in his pay envelope at the end of the week, his grocery and meat market bill was 17.5 per cent higher.

SAN FRANCISCO TEAMSTERS ACT TO JOIN STRIKE

General Call Spreads to Northwest.

San Francisco, Cal., July 8.—(AP)—Teamsters of San Francisco and Oakland voted today to strike in support of the 27,000 idle Pacific coast marine workers. Threats of a general walkout spread farther along the coast.

The action of the strong teamsters' unions in the two San Francisco bay cities came during a lull in hostilities, broken only by a bloodless charge of National Guardsmen up Rincon hill on the water front, where two men died in skirmishes Thursday.

The general strike call, which already had gained some support in Portland, spread to Seattle. J. C. Bjorklund, Pacific coast secretary of the International Longshoremen's association, announced the question may be discussed at a meeting of the northwest strike committee tomorrow.

Strike Sentiment Growing.

"I talked to William J. Lewis, our Pacific coast president, by phone last night and he informed me sentiment in San Francisco for a general strike is spreading rapidly as a result of police shooting strikers," Bjorklund said.

The San Francisco teamers voted, 1,22[illegible] to 217, to strike Thursday. The vot in Oakland was 369 to 54. Members of the San Francisco Butchers' union voted to leave the matter of a general strike in the hands of a "strategy" committee appointed by the central labor council.

Support for a general strike in San Francisco, if one is called, was previously announced by representatives of 1[illegible] of the city's 120 trade unions. A dozen or more other unions are expected to vote on the question within the next day or so in response to appeals from the striking longshoremen, seamen and allied maritime workers. The 120 unions have a membership of 45,000.

Depends on Dock Settlement.

The strike vote of the teamsters, which would spread the water-front blockade throughout the city, was subject to confirmation at another meeting Wednesday night. Explaining this qualification, Michael J. Casey, president of the union, said: "The teamsters have no desire to complicate the strike situation. However, unless there is some apparent adjustment of the maritime strike by Wednesday night the men undoubtedly will go out."

Curious water-front sightseers and strike pickets who had gathered on the hill, scattered before the advance of the militiamen, whose fixed bayonets and machine guns gave a grim appearance to the movement. Guard officers said they decided to clear the hill because "spies" had been posted there. One man, they said, had been scanning water-front piers for hours through binoculars.

Twelve thousand Pacific coast longshoremen have been on strike since May 9, seeking principally a change in control of hiring agencies where the stevedores and employes are assigned. Approximately 15,000 other marine workers have joined them. Two men were killed and nearly 40 injured seriously last Thursday when strike pickets battled police.

15 Unions Stand Ready.

Other unions ready to join a general strike in San Francisco include:

Motion picture projectionists, waiters, waitresses, certified welders, boilermakers, barbers, machinists, the sign, seal, and pictorial workers; painters, bronze and metal workers, window cleaners, the pile drivers, dock and wharf workers, and the cleaners and dyers.

The bodies of Harry S. Sperry and George Coundourakis, killed in Thursday's battle, lay in state in International Longshoremen's headquarters. They were viewed by hundreds.

"Two of our brothers gave their lives," said handbills distributed by longshoremen at the teamsters' meeting, "and a hundred were wounded in the riots last week—shot and clubbed by the police—by order of the union breaking San Francisco Industrial association."

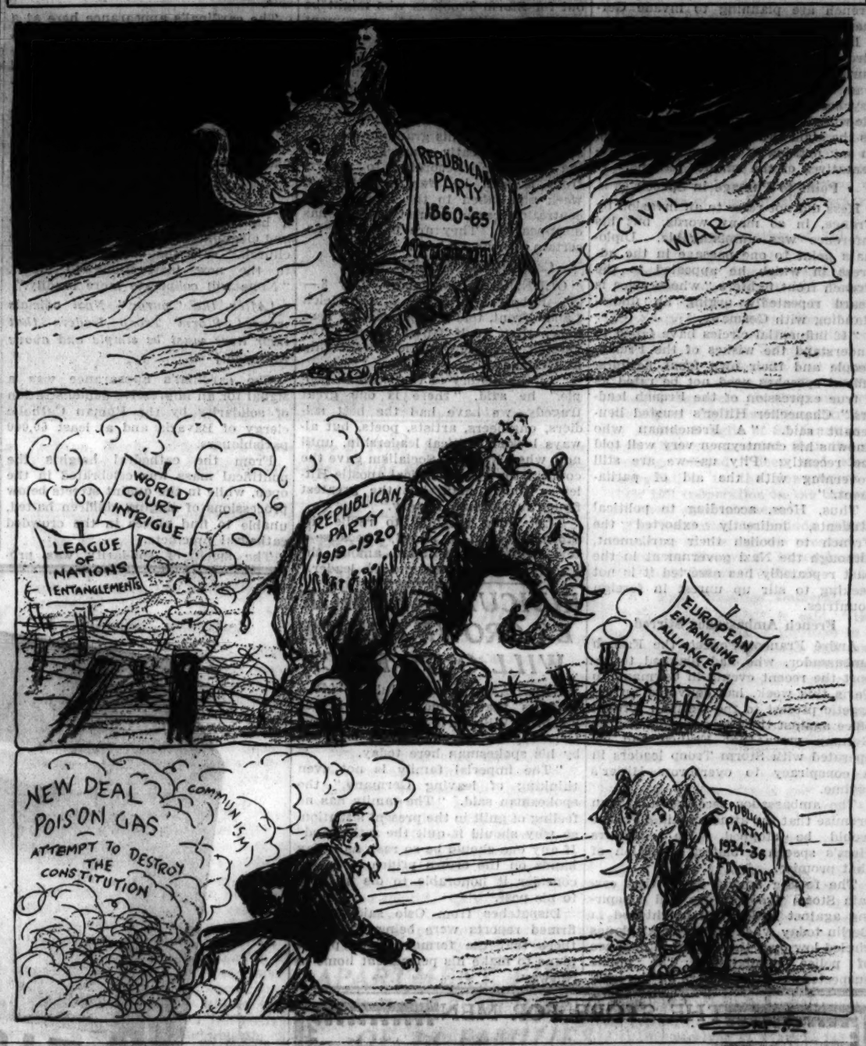

Predicts Minneapolis Strike.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 8.—(AP)—A general strike was predicted today by William S. Brown, president of the truck drivers' union here, unless every man in the union is granted an increase in pay.

"If there is another truck drivers' strike there will be a general strike," he predicted. Two men were killed in downtown rioting during the truck drivers' strike of last May.

Union officials today denied that any statement declaring they were through with the labor board had been issued by them or that they were bending all efforts to force a strike. They were striving to avoid such action, they said, but added that if drawn into it, a "fight to the finish" would result.

THE PARTY OF RESCUE

President's Wife Arrives to Visit Fair

A rumpled white scarf around her head, white sneakers on her feet, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the President, arrived in Chicago at 7:30 o'clock last night at the wheel of a low slung, sand colored automobile. She plans two days of activity here.

Accompanying her were Miss Marion Bickerman and Miss Nancy Cook of Hyde Park, N. Y., who took turns at the wheel in the 265 mile drive to Chicago yesterday from Madison, in southeastern Indiana. Their arrival at the Blackstone hotel was heralded by no fanfare, their path was cleared by no police escort and no committee of notables was waiting to greet them.

Instead they drove up to the hotel with the least possible ado, as Mrs. Roosevelt had particularly requested, and withdrew immediately to the 10 room presidential suite.

Sits Reluctantly for Pictures.

"We're not here officially until tomorrow," she told the group of newspaper reporters and photographers. "Can't you wait for your interviews and pictures till then?"

After much pleading, she agreed to pose for press photographers. She pulled a white hat over the scarf on her head and sat obediently at the wheel of her roadster.

Mrs. Roosevelt remarked that she was quite tired. She was going have dinner and retire early. No interviews, no receptions, no folderol. Just bed.

G. Hall Roosevelt of New York, Mrs. Roosevelt's brother, arrived at the hotel about an hour before his sister. He, too, will be in the presidential suite, as will Mrs. Malvina Scheider, Mrs. Roosevelt's secretary, and Miss Doris H. Goodwin, both of whom arrived from Washington by train early in the day.

Goes on Air Tonight.

A full program has been arranged for today. It will begin at 9:30 a. m. with a press conference in the National Broadcasting company studios in the Merchandise mart.

At 10:15 a. m. she will visit the Simmons company exhibit at A Century of Progress Exposition. The company is sponsoring a commercial broadcast which Mrs. Roosevelt will give at 9 p. m., from the Globe theater in Merrie England at the Fair. Mrs. Roosevelt is donating her fee from the broadcast to charity.

At 11 a. m. she was scheduled to unveil at the Art institute the most popular painting in the World's Fair exhibit there, but last night, to suit her convenience, Chauncey McCormick, vice president of the institute, postponed this ceremony until 11 a. m. tomorrow.

At noon Mrs. Roosevelt will lunch with Mr. and Mrs. Rufus C. Dawes in the private office of the Fair president. After lunch, she will visit the Fair, and has requested that she be allowed to see it alone.

At 5:30 p. m. she is to be the guest at a reception given by the Women's Trade Union league at 630 South Ashland avenue.

GIRL DROWNED, 4 SAVED WHEN BOAT OVERTURNS

Miss Jean Rydzy, 2535 North Mansfield avenue, 17 years old, was drowned yesterday when a small rowboat in which she and another girl and three men were riding was upset in Round lake, in the western part of Lake county.

Miss Rydzy's companions were Miss Mary Marzes, 18 years old, 2428 North Mansfield avenue; Edward Jassok, 2243 North Park Ridge boulevard; Stanley Cula, 2248 North Central avenue, and Adolph Poterek, 5753 Fullerton avenue, an undertaker. All were on a Sunday school outing.

According to Deputy Sheriffs George Tiffany and John De Schmidt, the men were rocking the boat when it upset. Miss Rydzy sank immediately. Miss Marzes were carried to shore by an unidentified swimmer. The men, who clung to the overturned boat, were rescued by Stanley Borkowski, 1917 West 21st street, a field worker in the internal revenue department, who reached the scene in his outboard motorboat. His wife, Pauline, and his nephew, Ignatius Pietrowiak, 1714 West 21st place, assisted in the rescue.

3 Women Die, 8 Others Hurt in Auto Crash

Three women were killed, three persons were probably fatally injured and five others were hurt yesterday in an accident involving three automobiles at the intersection of Butterfield and Roosevelt roads, on the southwestern outskirts of Elmhurst in Du Page county.

The dead women were Mrs. Bessie Scott, 49 years old, 4239 North Whipple street; Miss Mildred Hirsch, 24 years old, of 5459 Ingleside avenue, and Miss Bess Siegel, 23 years old, of 1972 East 73d place. They were riding in one of the automobiles with Mrs. Scott's husband, Albert, and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Marten, who live at Miss Siegel's address. All three were reported hurt critically. They were taken to Elmhurst hospital.

Auto Bursts Into Flames.

Their car burst into flames and was demolished when it ran head-on into the car in which Edward Cornish, 58 years old, Guthrie Center, Ia., was driving his family to the World's Fair. Before striking the Cornish vehicle, the Scott car had glanced off another automobile driven by Fred Weserman, 218 South Kenilworth avenue, Elmhurst.

With Mr. Cornish, whose car was struck as it was coming onto Roosevelt road from a refreshment stand, was his wife, Grace, 48 years old; a son, Harold, 16 years old; another son, Robert, 24 years old, and Robert's wife, Catherine, 19 years old. They were all severely shaken up, but doctors at the Elmhurst hospital said their injuries were not serious.

Mr. Weserman, who was riding with his wife, said his car was coming slowly out onto Roosevelt road from Butterfield road to the north, when the Scott car, which he said was coming fast, glanced off his bumper. He said it veered across the road and ran into the refreshment stand's parking lot, where it struck the Iowa automobile.

Eleven Are Shaken Up.

Eleven persons were shaken up last night in a collision of two cars at Ridge road and Halsted street, near Homewood. First reports to police were that several persons were killed, and as a result a number of ambulances were rushed to the scene. One of the cars was driven by Carl Bayens, 5342 South Talman avenue. With him was his wife, Agnes. The other car was operated by Remo Angelilli, 227 East 17th street, Chicago Heights. With him were his wife and seven children, Remo Jr., 7, was the most seriously bruised and cut. All went home after the accident.

Man Dies After Crash.

Harold C. Mullen, 26 years old, of Richmond, Ind., was fatally injured early yesterday in an automobile collision at Glenwood-Dyer road and Burnham avenue, four miles east of Chicago Heights. Seriously injured in the crash were Miss Rhea Johanning, 22 years old, also of Richmond, and J. E. Ulrich, 4659 Drexel avenue.

His death and four others of the day increased the number of fatalities in Cook county for 1934 to 627. The other victims:

Owen T. Ensign, 30 years old, 7305 South Michigan avenue, a driver for the Wanzer Dairy company. Killed early yesterday as he was running to catch a street car at 73d and State streets, when he was struck by a machine driven by Arthur Eklund, 8044 Rhodes avenue, also a milk wagon driver.

Melville Kelly, 40 years old, 4931 Jackson boulevard, a salesman. Died last night in St. Anne's hospital of injuries suffered on July 3 when he lost control of his car and crashed into a railroad viaduct pillar at Augusta boulevard and Kenton avenue.

Mrs. Louise Miller, 37 years old, 1411 Hyde Park boulevard. Died in the South Town hospital early yesterday after she had been struck by an automobile driven by Dr. Carl Lewerenz, 3952 West 63d street.

Henry Peterson, 26 years old, 7455 Merrill avenue. Died yesterday in the Auburn Park hospital of injuries suffered Saturday.

5 Saw Steel Bars and Flee at Woodstock

Five prisoners escaped from the county jail at Woodstock yesterday, leaving behind them a series of sawed steel bars, cut screens, broken doors, and five other prisoners who didn't care to break out. The escape of the prisoners, who were awaiting trial for various offenses, including bank robbery, was noticed at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, and their trail was cold.

Those who escaped are:

JOHN ENOS, alias Evans, 31 years old, of Springfield, accused of robbing banks at Huntley and Union, and whose alleged accomplices are serving penitentiary sentences.

CHARLES TAYLOR, alias Terry, 53 years old, who, with his wife Emma, was brought back from Oregon last week to be tried for the theft of jewelry from the Crystal Lake home of John Barrett, International Harvester company official, by whom they were employed.

HENRY ODINBREIT, aged 42, awaiting trial for check forgery.

Enos and Taylor are ex-convicts.

Sherif Lester Edinger of McHenry county complained that Enos had been on his hands since January without being brought to trial, and this delay he charged up to State's Attorney Vincent S. Lumley.

Prosecutor Explains.

The prosecutor explained that this delay was due to the fact Enos was represented by Attorney William Carroll of Woodstock, a member of the state legislature, and formerly by Representative Roland Libonatti of Chicago.

Under the state law a defendant who has a state legislator for his lawyer may not be forced to trial while the legislature is in session.

To escape, the prisoners first sawed a hole in a steel partition one-quarter inch thick between cells, and through this were able to get into the bull pen and then to the top of the cell block. Next they cut a wire mesh and picked a lock into an office. Sawing bars on this door let them to the basement, where they cut the bars and lock away to gain freedom.

ASKS GOOD WILL OF OLD FOE TO AVERT NEW WAR

Peace Menaced, Says Hitler Minister.

KOENIGSBERG, Germany, July 8. —(AP)—Rudolph Hess, cabinet minister known as Chancellor Hitler's "second self," in an amazing address today pleaded for an understanding with France, sounded a warning against impending war, and defied any nation to invade Germany.

The speech was delivered before Nazi chieftains of East Prussia and was broadcast throughout the nation. Translations were then broadcast to the remotest corners of the world, showing the emphasis placed on this pronouncement, which followed by just a week the bloody "purge" of the Nazi party.

Defiance to Invaders.

The speech was amazing not only because of its appeal to France but also because of an implied warning that war threatens Europe and its defiance to invaders.

The appeal to France was underscored by Hess as he suddenly switched from German to French and shouted, speaking of the miseries of war:

"Malheur pour nous, malheur pour vous, et malheur pour tout, pour le monde." [Unhappiness for us, unhappiness for you, unhappiness for all, for the world.]

"I turn to the comrades of the front, both here and on the other side of the trenches," said Hess. "Be honest; didn't we experience horror at the thought of death?

Speaks of Horror of War.

"When hand grenades were hurled at us, when poisonous gas threatened to choke us despite our gas masks, when we heard the cries of anguish from the dying, when horror of every kind surrounded us, did we not ask ourselves, 'Cannot humanity be spared all this?'

"To be sure, out there in the trenches we felt ourselves real men. We knew we were defending the fatherland. We would not have missed the experience.

"Yet, we, the first fighters, want to avoid another war wherein the trench soldiers will again pay the bill.

Speaks as Veteran to Veterans.

"I say as a veteran to veterans across the borderland, I as a leader of one people ask the leaders of other peoples: Must this be? Can we not by mutual good will spare humanity another war?"

Hess then explained why he [and thereby the Nazi régime] hitherto had not supported pleas for international understanding.

Without mentioning names he apparently referred to former Chancellor Bruening's radio appeal to French Premier Laval in 1931 among other events of pre-Hitler days.

Probably also he had in mind the charges that the slain former Chancellor Kurt von Schleicher had dealt with a "foreign power."

"I will tell you why," said Hess. "Because my voice would have joined voices of traitors to our people, the voices of those who sacrificed the honor of our nation, whose conscience as far as Germany is concerned rests on the Versailles treaty.

"Nazi Fighter No Coward."

"Today I may speak because a man of my nation has rehabilitated Germany's honor before the world, because this man silenced the voices of traitors, because the whole world knows the National Socialist fighter is no coward.

"Today I may speak because the leader of my people himself stretches out the hand of peace to the world.

"Today I must speak because I thereby am supporting the man who is trying at the last minute to avert a catastrophe."

Hess then became defiant.

"I raise my voice, also, however," he said, "because I want to warn the world against mistaking the Germany of today—the Germany of peace—for the Germany of yesterday—the Germany of pacifism.

Ready to Repel Invasion.

"Let this be remembered: Despite our memories of the terrors of war, despite the fact that the younger generation wants war as little as does the older, the way is not open for a 'stroll' into our country.

"Just as the French people during the war defended every handful of native soil with all their power and would do so again in case of need, just so we Germans would defend ours today.

"The French trench soldier will especially understand us if we say to those who play with the idea of war: Just you dare attack us! Just you dare to march into Germany!

"The world would then learn to feel the spirit of new Germany. It would fight as no people ever yet fought for liberty.

"The French people know how one defends one's own soil! Every bit of forest, every hillock, every farmstead would have to be counted with blood.

"Old and young would dig themselves into their native soil to defend it. With unparallered fanaticism they would oppose the attempt."

Hess then paid a compliment—rare from Nazi lips—to the French.

"We don't believe that many people want to disturb the peace of Germany and thereby the peace of Europe," he said. "We especially are unwilling to believe it of the French people.

"We know these people, too, long for peace. We trench fighters remember France's population behind the lines always regarded the war as a misfortune for itself and for the world.

Plea for Peace.

"Honest sympathy greeted the utterances of French organizations of war veterans demanding an honest understanding with Germany.

"France's soldiers know how bravely Germany fought for four and a half years.

With an evident effort to placate French Foreign Minister Louis Barthou, now in England, Hess then said:

"One may share the conviction that M. Barthou also desires peace despite various turns in his speeches that sound cacophonous to the ears of people ready for an understanding.

Tribute to Barthou.

"For Barthou is a man who combines political foresightedness with personal culture, yet who states proudly he admires Richard Wagner and his works.

"It is not without intention, probably, that at Geneva he emphasized that he knows German intellectual and spiritual life thoroughly.

"It is therefore not impossible that he might in the last analysis take German conditions into account and this decisively in the pacification of Europe.

"There is no doubt but that a boon would come from an understanding between Germany and France not only to these states in their entirety but to each individual of these two peoples.

"To put it concretely, every Frenchman and German would have a better income and real peace. Real confidence between people makes possible reduction of armaments which today swallow a great part of the incomes of nations and thereby of the individual citizens."

Urges Equality in Arms.

Hess expressed the opinion that once equality of armaments was vouchsafed Germany "would be more easily satisfied with a minimum armament for security as a guarantee of peace."

A defenseless country, he claimed, represents a danger to peace in that foreign armies in an attempt to avert troubles at home might be tempted to invade a defenseless country.

Earlier in the speech Hess extolled Chancellor Hitler's speed in suppressing the incipient Storm Troop revolt. He praised Hitler as one of Germany's greatest heroes of all time.

Hess appeared in the brown uniform of the Storm Troopers—materially fallen from the high position it once held—and in his brief introductory remarks to his audience of 12,000 said that the execution of rebel leaders was "essential to avoid civil war which would have brought bolshevism and its attendant miseries to Germany."

LOYAL TO HITLER

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

KOENIGSBERG, Germany, July 8.—East Prussia, formerly a stronghold of the Hohenzollerns and the reactionary Herren club, today staged a remarkable demonstration of loyalty to Chancellor Hitler. Twenty-six thousand brown shirted men between the ages of 35 and 50 participated in a four hour parade on this city's new parade ground, Zogershof.

Accompanied by an additional 10,000 uniformed Storm Troopers, they later marched through Koenigsberg and crowded into an enormous hall to listen to Rudolph Hess, cabinet minister and deputy leader of the Nazi party.

Today's parade was the largest Nazi procession ever staged here. The older Nazi party workers, whose duties are chiefly to spread the Nazis' political beliefs among the remainder of the population, were the chief participants. Every city and village of east Prussia sent delegations. They received orders to continue to spread the new Nazi dogma with redoubled efforts.

The east Prussians stood for four hours on the parade ground, marched ten miles, and listened to two speeches by Hitler's emissary. They were exhausted by nightfall. Special trains returned the Nazis to their homes this evening.

FRANCE BIDS ENGLAND TO ENTER ALLIANCE AGAINST GERMANY

PARIS, July 8.—(AP)—Informed observers here say that Foreign Minister Louis Barthou took with him to England the plan for forging a military and political alliance around Germany.

He will undertake, it was said, to convince the British that their best guarantee of peace would be an announcement that they would give immediate armed aid to France if she is attacked.

(This prediction was made in the face of repeated open statements of British government spokesmen that their nation will enter no political pacts.)

François Pietri, minister of the navy, accompanied Barthou in order to discuss the 1935 naval conference as well as cooperation between the British and French fleets.

Barthou, who will confer with members of the British cabinet tomorrow and Tuesday, declared that Great Britain and France "think the same on many questions" arising from the search for a substitute for the league of nations disarmament conference.

Barthou disclaimed any idea, though of trying to renew the pre-war alliance between France and Britain which government officials have said would be impossible in view of Britain's present frame of mind.

PARIS SKEPTICAL OF NAZI GESTURE OF FRIENDSHIP

PARIS, July 9 [Monday].—(AP)—The French press views the gesture of friendship toward French war veterans by Rudolph Hess, Nazi chieftain, as an effort to blot out as quickly as possible the memory of the recent executions in Germany.

Some newspapers observe it is noteworthy that Hess' "honeyed words" were uttered on the day the French foreign minister, Louis Barthou, arrived at London to seek new understandings with Great Britain.

Newspapers were skeptical of the sincerity of Hess' remarks because, they said, while he expresses a new attitude toward France, the government controled newspapers of the rein continue an anti-French campaign of "absurd calumnies." French newspapers gave prominence to Hess' address this morning, but there was little editorial comment.

DIPLOMATS VIEW NAZI SPEECH AS THRUST AT PARIS

Claim It Charges France Is Planning Invasion.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 8.—Diplomatic circles in Berlin are deeply perturbed by the sensational speech Rudolph Hess, minister without portfolio and second in command of the Nazi party, delivered at Koenigsberg today.

They regard the Nazi leader's utterances as an insinuation that the French are planning to invade Germany.

Diplomats see in the address the strongest provocation which has been hurled at France in years. The speech was cleverly calculated for German psychology, but it staggered the nimble-witted western Europeans, as well as the staid Britishers and Americans, to say nothing of the excitable representatives of the smaller nations.

Point to Passage in Speech.

Hess did not refer to an invasion by France, in so many words, but his inference was unmistakable. Diplomats point to one passage in the address in which he appealed to the French front fighters "whose voice is heard repeatedly urging an understanding with Germany.

"If influential circles have failed to understand the wishes of the French people and their own front fighters, official speeches need not be rated as a true expression of the French leaders," Chanceller Hitler's trusted lieutenant said. "A Frenchman who knowns his countrymen very well told me recently: 'Pity us—we are still governing with the aid of parliament.'"

Thus, Hess, according to political students, indirectly exhorted the French to abolish their parliament, although the Nazi government in the past repeatedly has asserted it is not seeking to stir up unrest in foreign countries.

French Ambassador Stirred.

André Francois-Poncet, the French ambassador, who had planned to report the recent events in Germany to Paris this week, has delivered an energetic protest to the German foreign office against the charges made in the German press that France had cooperated with Storm Troop leaders in a conspiracy to overthrow Hitler's régime.

The ambassador received a solemn promise that the attack against France would be stopped. He considers Hess's speech a blatant violation of that promise.

The feeling among Nazis that certain Storm Troopers are still conspiring against Hitler was heightened in Berlin today when a fleet of airplanes circled low over the capital in defiance of police regulations. The public suspected the planes were on the look-out for Storm Troopers who might be banding together against government orders.

Friends of Col. Theodore Duesterberg, candidate for the German presidency in 1932 and one time leader of the Steel Helmet war veterans' organization, who was compelled to resign the post because his grandmother was Jewish, are greatly concerned regarding his fate. According to reports from Munich he was arrested last week and taken to the Dachau concentration camp, from where he has disappeared. They are unable to ascertain his whereabouts.

Calls Hitler "Political Savior."

OLDENBURG, Germany, July 8.—(AP)—Robert Ley, leader of the Reich Labor Front, told a Nazi meeting here today that Adolf Hitler answers the longfelt need for political leadership in Germany.

"In the history of the German people," he said, "there is one great tragedy—we have had the best soldiers, engineers, artists, poets, but always lacked political leadership, until now when National Socialism gave the country the great political apostle Hitler—a lonely man, but the greatest figure in German history."

"Let none presume to revile the Storm Troops," he added, "because a few traitors were found among the leaders. We rally around the leader."

JEWS PUSH CAMPAIGN TO HELP VICTIMS OF HITLERITE ATTACKS

New York, July 8.—[Special.]—American Jewry thus far has pledged a total of $1,554,256 to aid persecuted co-religionists in Germany. That was announced today by Felix M. Warburg, national chairman of the united Jewish appeal. That group is seeking $3,000,000 in the United States.

The contributions have resulted from drives in forty-four states in which 341 communities have joined. Mr. Warburg said, in addition, campaigns are to be held in at least another 200 cities, including Chicago, Baltimore, Denver, Louisville, Wilkes-Barre, Buffalo, Atlanta, New Orleans, Dayton, Rochester, Cincinnati, Des Moines, Birmingham, Wilmington, Del., St. Paul, Tulsa, Milwaukee, Oklahoma City, Springfield, Ill., and Davenport, Ia.

RIDICULES RUMOR EX-CROWN PRINCE WILL QUIT REICH

POTSDAM, Germany, July 8.—(AP)—Rumors that former Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm is preparing to leave Germany for Norway were ridiculed by his spokesman here today.

"The imperial family is not even thinking of leaving Germany," the spokesman said. "The family has no feeling of guilt in the present situation, so why should it quit the fatherland? If any one should be so rash as to lay hands on the crown prince he would consider it honorable to die sticking to his post."

Dispatches from Oslo said unconfirmed reports were being circulated there that the former crown prince plans to make his permanent home in Norway.

CARDINAL TAKES STEP TO SETTLE FEUD WITH NAZIS

Faulhaber Speaks to 60,000 at Jubilee.

BAMBERG, Germany, July 8.—(AP)—Apparently encouraged by recent political events, Germany's indomitable Catholic cardinal, Michael von Faulhaber, today made the first public move for a Nazi-Catholic reconciliation, but indicated that no concessions could be expected from the Catholic side.

The cardinal's appearance here at a jubilee celebration in honor of the 50th anniversary of the ordination of Archbishop Jacobus von Hauck dispelled all doubt as to his freedom of movement.

It had been reported and denied that he was under guard after the "purge" which cost so many lives in high places last week-end.

Praises Nazi Demand.

"No one welcomes a demand from a high official source for simplicity and cleanliness more than the Catholic church," said the cardinal, referring to the new instructions to Nazis. "None will coöperate more readily."

[After the "purge" Nazi officials warned Storm Troop leaders that their lives must be simple and above reproach.]

The cardinal's appearance was a signal for an impressive demonstration of solidarity by the Roman Catholic clergy of Bavaria and at least 60,000 parishioners.

From the cathedral heights the pontifical mass was celebrated in the open, while in the quaint streets below processions of singing children halted, unable to find places in the crowded cathedral precincts.

The spirit of solidarity was pronounced in this city, which has been called the "Rome of Germany."

Overflow services were held in all churches, and in the cardinal's processions were representatives of all houses of the old Franconian nobility. Prominent also was Prince Friedrich Christian, heir to the throne of Saxony.

The reichswehr [regular army] sent a delegation to the celebration.

A hush fell upon the multitude when the cardinal by inference touched upon the current church strife.

"No one knows how the church is being traduced," he said.

Answer to Nazi Charges.

Answering the Nazi charges of particularism, he said the Catholic clergy is rendering a great community service in the ministration to souls gone astray through suffering under the stress of the times.

"At confession we teach children and prevent their seeking their own parents' graves through their errors," he said. "We have saved the honor and loyalty of many. We have told weary souls they must not commit suicide, and have revived hope in them."

Priests, he said, must "rise against the spirit of the times," adding that the Catholic church has no place for clergymen seeking to profit by the popularity of present trends.

The cardinal said that the clergy are meeting with untold difficulties because the public authorities are "putting political construction on everything."

Protect Priests, He Urges.

"There are no other priests than the ministrants of Christ," he said. "Catholic people, you must not let your priests hang crucified on the cross."

The cardinal's discussion of the difficulties of the Catholic clergy was vividly illustrated in the market streets below where a company of the Hitler youth organization in brown uniforms was on duty in connection with a local "Colonial day."

Uniforms have been forbidden to Catholic organizations, but today the papal colors were in evidence everywhere and processions were permitted.

The concordat interpretation recently agreed on in Berlin was reliably stated here to have been forwarded to the Vatican with the approval of Catholics.

German World War Cavalry Vets Stage Brilliant Parade

MUNICH, Germany, July 8.—(AP)—Scarcely recovered from the bloody events of a week ago, Munich today was the scene of a brilliant cavalry parade redolent of imperial days.

Chancellor Hitler, Gen. Werner von Blomberg, minister of defense, and Franz von Papen, conservative vice chancellor and former cavalry officer, whose position has been a delicate one since the Storm Troop revolt, however, were conspicuous by their absence.

Gen. Franz von Epp presided over the gala parade, which formed part of the annual two day reunion of German world war cavalry veterans and was intended to accentuate the comradeship between the old army and the new generation.

Veterans wearing the dashing uniforms of imperial days and mounted on prancing steeds made the event, which took place in the Munich stadium, a stirring one.

President von Hindenburg telegraphed greetings and expressed regret over his inability to attend, adding, "I am sure all old cavalrymen in soldierly spirit and with unswerving devotion are loyal to the fatherland."

Much comment was aroused by the fact that Chancellor Hitler apparently ignored the reunion, remaining at his Alpine retreat on the Obersalzberg.

Hitler Cannot Last Long, Senator Borah Believes

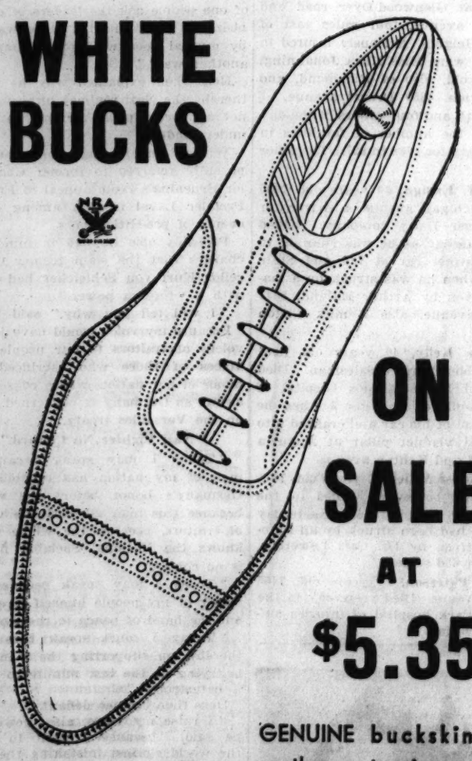

Boise, Idaho, July 8.—(AP)—A conviction that "Hitler cannot last much longer" was voiced by Senator William E. Borah today as he returned to Boise to spend the 27th summer since he started his career in the senate.

Borah expressed amazement that the German people have "tolerated" the practice of the chancellor in recent weeks.

"The inevitable parallel occurs to me," he said. "Just a year to the day after Danton began the reign of terror in which also 'heads rolled' and men were led to death without trial, the same Danton was facing the revolutionary tribunal pleading in vain for a chance even to defend himself.

GERMANS BEGIN TO CALL HITLER'S RULE A FAILURE

Find His Fascist System Bad Experiment.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MUNICH, July 8.—The present crisis of the Nazi régime is due to inherent contradictions in the fascist system, and not to any accidental causes such as the conspiracy of Capt. Ernest Roehm, slain chief of staf of the Storm Troopers, as it was pictured to be. This conclusion is now apparent to all politically minded Germans.

While they admit that for the moment Chancellor Hitler's government is sitting firmly in the saddle, thanks to the black cheka of Heinrich Himmler, chief of the secret police, they consider that the chancellor's new deal has gone to join countless other noble experiments on history's junk heap. Consequently, they are pondering over the lesson.

An Inevitable Evolution.

As they see it, the Nazi régime has only started to fulfill its obvious historic destiny. On the political side they see in the reign of terror inaugurated a week ago last Saturday the inevitable evolution of all régimes which are based on enthusiasm and confidence instead of on constitutional form. This evolution into terrorism, they feel, appears when enthusiasm dies out and confidence begins to waver.

Back of the intrigues and rivalries of the Nazi leaders, as revealed by the reputed Roehm plot, they see another ineluctable feature of all dictatorial régimes. Mystic emphasis on dynamic leadership unaccompanied by legal checks on the authority of the leaders is bound to produce conspiracies like Roehm's, it is argued. Since the Nazi doctrine has not changed in this respect, more conspiracies are arising from the conflicting ambitions of the chiefs, and more bloody "purges" like that of a week ago are foreseen.

On the economic side, the situation is not less menacing. The obvious lesson of Germany—and it is confirmed by the difficulties of Italian fascism—is that the faster you go when you don't know where you are going the more chance there is of a crash.

Managed Economy Plunge.

Hitler started out by plunging headlong into the treacherous rapids of a managed economy where his master, Premier Mussolini of Italy, had been cruising prudently for the last ten years. Now, however, there are indications that "Der Fuehrer" [Hitler] sees rocks ahead and is trying to get back to dry land as fast as he can.

Whatever conclusions Nazi leaders have drawn from their experiences, the results for themselves—in fact, the failure of the corporate state to solve many essential problems of modern life is obvious to all Germans after years of trial of the Nazi party's popularity.

The Nazis have achieved the economic essence of fascism—a blend of capitalistic forms and communistic principles. The dominant theme of the new deal is that it is no credit to make money, but a great honor to work. This principle applied consistently to all classes is largely responsible for the economic collapse which threatens Germany today.

Tired of Honors.

Workers, capitalists, and all intermediate classes are tired of honors, and hungry for a little honest profit. For the workers, the Nazi slogan means that the government will do the impossible to find them jobs—but that they must not be too particular about what kind of jobs. Through the Nazi labor corps, which is the equivalent of President Roosevelt's conservation corps; through the SA [Storm Troopers], through a mulitude of petty burocratic jobs and through an extravagent public works program some kind of an active job has been found for many of Germany's unemployed.

Above all, heavy pressure has been brought to bear on employers to augment their pay rolls. For factories producing war materials it amounts virtually to a subsidy by the state to the employer to take on new men.

But while the jobs have been spread out—an enormous number of part time jobs requiring only a few hours per week have been artificially created—salaries have been steadily dropping. They dropped so low that great numbers of Germany's newly employed are getting less money than if they were on the dole. In addition, they are not eligible to subsidies of food, clothing, coal, and other essential supplies handed out to the unemployed by the NSV, the Nazi party welfare organization.

Wonder "What's the Use?"

While a great part of the German workers, who formerly were unemployed, probably feel a lot better off working even on starvation wages, there are plenty of others who are beginning to wonder what is the use of working when one can live better on the dole.

The same thing is happening to the capitalists and the middle classes. The big industrialists who were at first relieved to see that their factories had been saved from the communist menace are now asking themselves in many cases how they could be worse off under a communist régime. The factories are kept running, but they do not make any money for the factory owners or the stockholders. Indeed, in many cases the big industrial concerns are being run at a loss to their owners.

When the employers suggest that times are bad, that there is no market for their products, and consequently it would be better to reduce production costs, the Nazis remind them it is a great privilege to serve the state by running the factory out of their own pockets. The employers thereupon are invited to take on a few hundred more men and to contribute a few more thousand marks to the NSV. Perhaps the employers are asked to supply local Storm Troopers with autos, motorcycles, cutlery, uniforms, or other necessary equipment under cost or even gratis.

Forced to Sell Below Cost.

In order to give the country the illusion that business is flourishing big export firms, which have been driven out of the world market by the depreciation of the pound and Japanese competition, are forced to sell below cost in order to defend the prestige of Germany's foreign trade.

Thus while a constantly greater effort is being demanded of all classes of citizens the incentive in the form of profit is constantly diminishing.

Jobs which do not exist are created for men who cannot live off of them. Thousands of tons of goods which cannot be sold are being turned out every day for eventual consumption by a people who cannot buy them, or who do not really want them. Merchants toil all day in little shops doing a rushing business, and at the end the ledger just balances—or perhaps not quite.

Money Getting Rarer.

Money is getitng rarer and rarer, and what is even more alarming, less and less necessary. A few weeks ago it seemed the ultimate German economic unit would be a brown shirt Storm Trooper, who produces nothing and receives no salary, yet lives very comfortably—at heavy cost to the state. The state sucks all available money from the citizens and redistributes it among the citizens, thus replacing the ordinary machinery of business. There is not enough to go around—or rather there shouldn't be—but with the mark supported only by mesmerism and with Germany's foreign debts it can be just as flexible in practice as the soviet ruble.

Altogether Germany economically seems to be separated by only a hair from communism, which the Nazis profess to hate so much. The nation already is encountering difficulties which beset the 100 per cent communist state—creating incentive for work to replace money.

See Hitler Wavering.

This at least was the situation in Germany a couple of weeks ago. Now Hitler seems to be wavering. The appointment of Dr. Kurt Schmitt, minister of economics, as economic dictator is seen by many as an indication that the Nazis are trying to beat a retreat back toward relative economic liberalism.

Whether they can or not is a question which many Germans are anxiously asking themselves. They begin to fear that one of the serious disadvantages of Fascism is that it does not run very well in reverse.

REPUBLICAN PARTY CELEBATES 80TH BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

Pilgrims commemorate founding of the party "under the oaks" at Jackson, Mich., which took place July 6, 1854. U. S. REPUBLICAN COUNCIL OF WAR TO START TODAY

Fletcher Will Confer Here for 3 Days.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Big Republican doings, largely behind closed doors, are scheduled to take place in Chicago during the next three days.

There are no large public meetings or demonstrations listed, but many of the important men of the party, nationally and in the middle west, are expected to take part in the conferences to be held.

The most important figure is to be Henry P. Fletcher of Pennsylvania elected chairman of the national committee in Chicago last month. Then there will be George F. Getz of Chicago, national treasurer, and Representative Chester C. Bolton of Ohio, chairman of the congressional campaign.

It is hoped that the head of the senatorial campaign committee, Daniel O. Hastings of Delaware, also will be present, but no definite word had been received from him yesterday.

Social Program Ready.

Chairman Fletcher left Jackson, Mich., at the close of the Republican "birthday party" there and went with Treasurer Getz to the latter's farm near Holland, Mich., to spend Sunday. He will be on hand to start a three day series of conferences, opening with one for the press at 10 o'clock this morning.

Mr. Getz is to give a private luncheon for the national chairman at the Chicago club this noon, and it is expected the program will include at least one more gathering of a semi-social nature, a dinner at some country club for about 100, which also will be private.

Tomorrow and Wednesday the national officers will go over plans with leaders of the Young Republicans, who are planning to weld together several organizations that now operate independently.

Chairman Fletcher and Mrs. Fletcher expect to leave Chicago for Washington Wednesday evening. He said yesterday that he hopes they will be able to pay at least one visit to A Century of Progress before their departure.

Plan Million War Chest.

State Chairman Justus L. Johnson of Illinois and leaders from nearby states are invited to talk with Chairman Fletcher and Chairman Bolton during their stay here, particularly concerning the November election. But it also is understood that the national chairman and Treasurer Getz will devote a considerable effort to the financial side of their job.

It has been reported that Mr. Fletcher hopes to bring $1,000,000 into the party treasury this summer and fall and that Chicago's tentative quota has been unofficially fixed at $100,000. The deficit was wiped out by guaranties received during the national committee meeting here last month, but it is said the new chairman feels that to be prepared for all emergencies the organization should have at least a million dollars in its war chest.

This subject probably will be taken up at the Chicago club luncheon to which a number of Republican captains of finance have been invited.

DUTCH SOLDIERS FIRE ON REDS IN NEW DISORDERS

AMSTERDAM, July 28.—(AP)—Bullets spattered in the streets of Amsterdam tonight as soldiers and police made a determined effort to suppress a new riot of communists and unemployed persons. Many were injured as officers charged on two street barricades in the Wittenburg district, the poorest section of the city.

From the housetops many of the rioters stoned the police and soldiers, and officers replied with several volleys of rifle fire. In the Jordamm section of the town, where two bridges were burned last week, military engineers forestalled an effort of a mob of about 200 to burn a church.

No disorders were reported in other sections of Holland, but in several communities soldiers were in readiness for eventualities. The disturbance tonight apparently was a continuance of the disorders of last week in which six persons were killed and upwards of fifty were hurt.

POPE GRANTS USE OF NAME IN WAR ON DIRTY MOVIES

VATICAN CITY, July 8.—(AP)—Pope Pius today granted to Cardinal Dennis Dougherty of Philadelphia the privilege of using his name as a "whole hearted supporter" of the campaign of American bishops against indecent motion pictures.

"His holiness once more discussed our campaign with me and said I could use his name in its support," said the Cardinal, after an hour long farewell interview with the Pope this morning. "He gave his apostolic benediction to the undertaking."

The Cardinal discussed spiritual and other problems of the United States with the Pontiff. Cardinal Dougherty plans to leave Rome Tuesday, stopping at Florence and Turin before sailing for home on the Olympic on Aug. 22.

APARTMENT FIRE FORCES FLIGHT OF 18 FAMILIES

Eighteen families were driven into the street yesterday afternoon when fire attacked a three story brick apartment building at 843-9 Ridge avenue, Evanston. Firemen checked the flames after damage of $1,500 had been done, chiefly to the basement, where the blaze started in a double storeroom. Smoke sifted through every apartment, forcing the occupants to flee.

SODALITY TAKES IN LITERATURE IN DECENCY BATTLE

410 Catholic Churches Enroll Film Crusaders.

While the Legion of Decency was beginning its enrollment of parishioners in Catholic churches yesterday in the campaign against indecent moving pictures, 500 student delegates from Catholic universities and colleges voted to extend the campaign to include salacious literature published within the last few years.

A resolution adopted by the delegates at the convention of the Sodality of Our Lady at the Palmer House provides that the legion shall make efforts to decrease the number and circulation of magazines and books which contain salacious themes. The resolution also declares that the students will seek to acquaint themselves with the works of the Catholic literary revival.

Vote Appreciation of Aid.

In 410 Catholic churches in the archdiocese of Chicago yesterday parishioners were taking the pledge to join the Legion of Decency by staying away from indecent films. It was expected that 1,250,000 parishioners would enroll in the campaign.

The student delegates also passed a resolution thanking THE TRIBUNE and other newspapers for their support of the legion. This resolution, introduced by Martin Svaglic of St. Ignatius college, Chicago, asserted that the convention offered "deep and sincere appreciation to the newspapers for their full cooperation in the campaign for clean entertainment."

The resolution to include salacious literature in the legion's program was offered by Robert J. Birkenhauer of St. John's college, Toledo, O.

Find Writings Immoral.

"In recent years," it said, "there has been a noticeable increase in the number of salacious books and magazines in wide circulation, resulting in the moral tone of much of our modern literature becoming more and more offensive to the sodalists. Therefore, be it resolve dthat the operations of the legion be extended to decreasing the number and circulation of the salacious books and magazines to improve the moral tone of that part of literature which has become offensive to our ideals."

The convention also went on record as approving the NRA. Other principles which the sodalities will work for by social action include living wages for family heads, old age pensions, unemployment insurance, the right of workers to organize freely, and the abolition of child labor.

Get Data on Tastes.

Questionnaires filled in by some of the delegates disclosed the most popular type of entertainment to be dancing. Dancing received 31 votes in 147 questionnaires returned.

The movies received 28 votes, dramatics 26, and music 25. Among other preferences were athletics, 21; reading, 6, and bridge, singing, and radio, 2 each. The favorite sport was swimming, which received 47 votes, with tennis next with 31 votes.

Plan Attack on Stage.

New York, July 8.—[Special.]—An interfaith conference on motion picture decency, called for today by Msgr. Michael J. Lavelle, vicar general of the Roman Catholic archdiocese of New York, is to consider embracing the stage and such places of amusement as dance halls, in the clean entertainment campaign here. The conference will consider also objectionable magazines.

Protestant and Jewish organizations are to send representatives to today's session. A meeting Friday of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America will discuss its attitude toward the evil film boycott.

Cardinal Hayes is expected to issue an official pronouncement of policy this week.

Friend Says Girl Killed Herself with His Pistol

Springfield, Mo., July 8.—[Special.]—Miss Vivian McBride, 22, was found shot to death in an automobile east of Springfield early today. Fred Wheeler, who had been riding with Miss McBride, said she accidentally shot herself with his automatic pistol. He was not held.

LADY ASHLEY AND DOUG SR. TO PARIS ON SAME PLANE

LONDON, July 9.—(AP)—Douglas Fairbanks Sr. and Lady Sylvia Ashley flew to Paris yesterday on the same airplane, it was learned at the airport today. Fairbanks, completing a motion picture here, indicated that he planned to be in Paris over the week-end. The film player is cited as co-respondent in the divorce petition of Lord Ashley. The latest information is that the action will not come up for trial until October.

FAIR SETS NEW WEEK-END MARK FOR ATTENDANCE

Colorful Program Draws Record Sunday Crowd.

BY EARL MULLIN.

One of the most complete and colorful programs of free entertainment yet presented at the Fair yesterday combined with perfect weather to draw a record breaking crowd through the turnstiles in a steady stream.

At midnight last night the official reading was 124,764. This figure is thousands ahead of the previous largest Sunday, July 1, when Fourth of July vacationers rolled up a final figure of 118,102.

The combined Saturday and Sunday week-end record, which was made on June 23 and 24, when 217,526 admissions were recorded, was also shattered. With yesterday's attendance of 124,764 and Saturday's figure of 122,037, the new week-end mark is 246,801.

Increase Every Sunday.

Each Sunday since the Fair has been open has shown a steady increase over all previous Sundays and, with one exception, every Saturday has shown a comparable rise.

At the present time the 1934 exposition is a little more than one-fourth of the way over, and is about half a million behind the comparable attendance mark of last year. If the same rate prevails throughout the balance of the year attendance will lag about two and a half million behind the final mark of 22,565,859 made last year. Of that number 245,403 represented tickets sold but not used. At the present time it is impossible to tell whether or not the present comparison will hold true throughout the remainder of the year.

20,000,000 Total Forecast.

But if it does a final figure in the neighborhood of twenty million paid admissions will be made this year. If a final of fifteen or sixteen million is registered the Fair will be able to pay off all indebtedness, and become the first international exposition to have paid out one hundred cents on the dollar.

Among the special programs yesterday which served to draw thousands into the gates were Norwegian day, Calumet City day, and a civic ceremony in the Illinois Host House at which a portrait of Mayor Kelly was unveiled. Throughout the day parades and pageantry livened the Fair streets.

Norwegians Hold Festival.

A festival held in the amphitheater of the Court of States, featuring colorful Norwegian folk dances and songs, and speeches by prominent men of Norwegian descent, last night climaxed the Norwegian day celebration at A Century of Progress. Over five thousand people attended the ceremonies and listened to the speakers who included Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby of the Municipal court, Alfred O. Erickson, judge of the Municipal court, Norwegian Counsel Olaf Berndts, and Lieut. Col. J. V. Houghtaling, who represented the World's Fair.

A crowd of 500 invited guests attended the program yesterday of the unveiling of an oil portrait of Mayor Kelly in the Illinois Host building at the World's Fair. Mayor Kelley, Gov. Henry Horner, Bishop Bernard Sheil, and Maurita Kelly, niece of the mayor, who unveiled the portrait, were the principals in the ceremony. The picture was painted by Sister Stanisia, noted Chicago nun artist.

Today the spotlight feature of the Fair will be the dedication of the New Mexico state exhibit with Navajo Indian ceremonies as one of the most colorful programs.

World's Fair Notes

A NEWSPAPER cameraman set up his camera yesterday to take the picture of two honey bears in the wild animal show on Northerly Island. While Frank Buck, the animal catcher, was holding one of the little bears the other bear nipped the cameraman's leg. He dropped the camera and yelled. A monkey, drawn by the commotion, seized the camera and ran up the side of monkey mountain. After getting his wound cauterized the cameraman went back to town to cover nice quiet murders and four-eleven fires.

Italo Balbo, commander of the Italian armada of 24 planes that flew from Rome to A Century of Progress last year, will address Fair visitors next Sunday by a short wave broadcast to be picked up by the public address system on the grounds. The speech will be at 3:30 p. m.

All the ushers at Swift bridge are college graduates and must be at least six feet tall.

With the task of sorting the thousands of baby pictures entered in the Sears, Roebuck and company's $40,000 baby contest nearly completed, the judges will soon begin determining the winners of the state prizes. The state winners' pictures will be posted in the Sears building at the Fair where visitors may vote for their choice as the most beautiful baby. The first prize is $5,000 in cash and a $5,000 educational insurance policy.

Homecoming day will be observed on July 25 at Dr. Martin Couney's infant incubators at the Fair. Some 20 babies which have "graduated" from the incubators since they were installed at the beginning of the Fair last year will be brought to the exhibit by their mothers that day. Silver loving cups will be given the babies who show up for the homecoming luncheon.

The Insull dynasty, represented by three generations, visited the Fair yesterday. Included in the party were Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Insull Sr., Samuel Insull Jr., and Samuel III. The party spent about two hours on the grounds and left, avoiding newspaper men and entering most of the exhibits without being recognized.

DENTIST FOUND DEAD.

Moline, Ill., July 8.—[Special.]—Dr. Walter M. Long, 59, prominent Moline dentist, was found dead in his Le Claire hotel apartment today from a heart attack. He formerly practiced dentistry in West Liberty and Clinton, Ia.

FAIR COW STAGES LONE STAMPEDE; INJURES VISITORS

A one cow stampede was staged in the Swiss village at the World's Fair last night, and the result was a sudden scattering of hundreds of visitors, and the knocking down of three who didn't get out of the way quick enough.

Just what frightened the cow is not known, unless it was the antics of several bears in the bear cages near by. She suddenly broke her tether, and dashed away. Mrs. Marie Siemon, 30 years old, of 1211 Love street, Pittsburgh, jumped to one side but not soon enough. She was bowled over. Her 6 year old son, Howard Siemon Jr. also was knocked to the ground. Next Miss Irene Edwards, 20, of Mount Morris, Ill., fell before the rushing bovine. She, Mrs. Siemon, and young Howard were later treated at the Dr. Baylor hospital for bruises and scratches.

The stampeding cow was finally caught by village attendants, and tethered more securely. The cow is one of half a dozen placed in the village for atmosphere.

60,000 PERSONS CROWD NEW ZOO AT BROOKFIELD

More than 60,000 men, women, and children visited the new Chicago Zoological park in Brookfield yesterday. Up to 7 o'clock the official count was 66,542. The visitors began arriving early and most of them spent the greater part of the day inspecting the vast gardens and the many wild animals. To accommodate visitors taking dogs along with them, a special dog kennel was opened yesterday. Dogs are barred at the zoo proper. It was noticed yesterday that two Chicago police squads mingled with the crowds, the result of numerous complaints of pocket picking.

SYMPHONY LED TO ACCLAIM BY KARL KRUEGER

Kansas Cityan Manifests Force, Yet Feeling.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Karl Krueger, who during the winter season is the conductor of the Kansas City Philharmonic orchestra, came to the Swift Bridge of Service theater at the World's Fair last evening as the first of the guest conductors to serve this summer with the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

During the week he will alternate batons with Eric DeLamarter, associate conductor of the orchestra. For example, Mr. DeLamarter conducted yesterday afternoon, Mr. Krueger last night; Mr. Krueger will be present this afternoon, Mr. DeLamarter tonight, and so on through the week.

It is a matter of unusual interest when a new conductor approaches, especially if the guest is a musician of such ability as Mr. Krueger. He exhibits a forceful personality with an excellent sense of the outlines of the composition as well as its lights and shades.

Happy Choice of Numbers.

Tschaikowsky's Fourth Symphony was his principal number, a dramatic performance because of its sheer driving energy, perhaps not quite so flexible as some, but, because of its intensity, never flagging.

In addition Mr. Krueger conducted Smetana's charming "The Moldau," Wagner's "Siegfried Idyl," and two Beethoven overtures, the "Egmont" and the third Leonore. In choice of music and in its presentation he was in all respects a welcome guest.

During the afternoon Mr. DeLamarter won much acclaim with his Second Symphony by Borodin, the Rimsky-Korsakoff "Capriccio Espagnol," Rossini's overture to William Tell, three Strauss waltzes, and several other brief pieces.

Detroit Orchestra Pleases.

Another feature of the afternoon music was the appearance of St. Luke's choir of Kalamazoo, Mich., an expertly trained organization. Under the direction of Henry Overly it sang sacred and secular songs, and with extra interest because one of the latter was Mr. DeLamarter's "The De'il's Awa'."

Farther south in the Ford Symphony gardens Victor Kolar and the Detroit Symphony orchestra made a great hit in the afternoon with a Wagner group, the selection including excerpts from "Das Rheingold," "Die Meistersinger," and "Tristan and Isolde."

Daniel Saidenberg, first cellist of the Chicago symphony, will be its soloist tonight.

DIES AFTER CAR CRASH.

ART INSTITUTE'S NEW $10,000,000 PLAN NEAR START

Special Galleries Proposed for Rare Paintings.

The contemplated expansion of the Chicago Art Institute will remedy many ills now endured by the departments of painting and sculpture, the two most essential departments of any art museum, according to Daniel Cotton Rich, associate curator of painting and sculpture.

Many art treasures of both these departments now are stored in the institute cellar because of lack of space for displaying them properly, Mr. Rich said yesterday.

The $10,000,000 expansion, first contemplated seven years ago, will make its first headway next Monday when the building committee and trustees of the institute will meet to select a desirable plan from the drawings submitted last week by seven nationally known architects.

Half Million Is Available.

Approximately $500,000 is available for the immediate construction of one unit of the expansion, and architects have been asked, in making their preliminary drawings, to build them around such a unit. The money for the additional changes is expected to be derived from individual contributions.

One of the museum's outstanding needs which officials hope will be cared for in the $10,000,000 expansion is for the reorganization of the galleries to make allowances for viewing the pictures through long vistas. Such a reorganization already has been effected in the larger French, Italian, and German museums and in the National Gallery in London and is now under way in the Louvre.

If this were done in the Chicago Art institute it would bring about a proper display of one of the institute's most treasured possessions, El Greco's "Assumption of the Virgin," which, valued conservatively at $1,000,000, is one of the outstandingly important works of art now in the United States.

With Other Paintings Now.

The picture, 158 by 90 inches, even without its large sculptured frame, originally was painted for the reredos of the high altar of Santa Domingo el Antiguie cathedral in Toledo, Spain, and needs, in fact, virtually requires, a vista if its true beauty is to be appreciated. It now hangs, with a clutter of other paintings, in gallery 50.

Other pictures needing this "isolation," according to Mr. Rich, are a set of four architectural compositions by Hubert Robert, famous French artist of the eighteenth century. This group, which formerly hung in the Chateau de Mereville, was purchased by the institute after much angling, as the Louvre also was seeking it. It contains the famous "The Fountain," "Landing Place," "Obelisk," and "Old Temple," but only two are now on display. The reason: No space. They need a court, a separate court, to be shown to advantage.

New Settings Needed.

Another group which needs a new setting contains four superb pictures by Gianbattista Tiepolos, eighteenth century Venetian. These four, the greatest of Tiepolos' work in this country, need a small, formal gallery, where they may be shown without being drenched in eighteenth century decoration, as called for in the now outmoded trend of early twentieth century museums.

"We have one of the greatest modern collections in this country," Mr. Rich said. "And the kind of a building that we are going to build will be particularly successful in showing these things, because it will be modern in spirit and reinforcement."

Special Water Color Space.

Turning from the oils to water colors, two additional galleries are needed for this group, Mr. Rich said. Lack of space not only has necessitated the storage of some of the institute's finest pieces but has resulted in the hanging of all the water colors possible along the corridors. The corridors, the widest of which are eight feet, require the onlooker's nose to be practically against the picture being observed.

Galleries also are needed for the print collection, now being shown by groups, so that a permanent exhibition of old masters and modern prints could be kept on display. The prints also require smaller rooms for proper showing, rather than the large rooms in which they are now displayed.

Air Conditioning Essential.

If these changes can be brought about when the dream of expansion becomes a reality another change must go with them—and that is air conditioning. Washed air is badly needed in the institute, for soot blows in from the Illinois Central tracks and grime drifts over from the loop at an appalling rate

"If we can do that we can probably take the glass off the pictures," Mr. Rich said. "That would be most helpful, for now, since we have to cover the pictures to protect them, you go up to look at one of the finest ones and it turns out to be just a mirror."

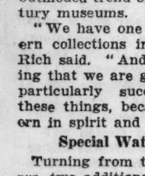

FALLS FROM "L" TRAIN; DIES.

An unidentified Negro was killed early yesterday when he fell to the street from the platform of an elevated train as it approached the Sheridan road station.

ROOSEVELT SEES U. S. PROJECTS IN VIRGIN ISLANDS

Home Making Scheme Pleases Him.

Aboard the U. S. S. Gilmer, accompanying President Roosevelt, July 8.—(AP)—The cruiser Houston was plowing through the Caribbean sea tonight at 18 knots, taking President Roosevelt on another leg of his long vacation voyage.

The Houston is headed for Cartagena, Colombia, which it is scheduled to reach Tuesday.

Mr. Roosevelt boarded the cruiser at noon at St. Croix island, after an inspection of government projects in the Virgin islands. The landing on St. Croix was made this morning. The President, accompanied by Gov. Pearson, motored across the island from Frederiksted to Christiansted, where the Houston was awaiting him.

Pleased by Government Projects.

As he left the Virgin islands the President remarked to newspaper men that the government's program seemed to be going on "in good fashion." He reached this conclusion after studying the government home making project. He seemed to be pleased by progress being made by the people.

The chief executive was received enthusiastically. In St. Croix some factions staged a demonstration against Gov. Pearson. They displayed banners on which was the legend:

"We want a Democratic governor. Please recall Pearson."

Part of American Family.

In a short address at Christiansted the President asked Virgin islanders to think of themselves as an essential part of the United States.

"I want you to remember, today more than ever, that the people of continental United States remember and realize that you are also a part of the American family," he said.

Last night at St. Thomas the President entertained Gov. Pearson, Judge Wilson, and other governmental officials at dinner aboard the Houston. He recalled that Alexander Hamilton was born near the port.

Late in the day the President came to the deck of the Houston, and, as a tropical sun beat down upon him, participated in a religious service conducted by the ship's chaplain.

Cicero Gambling Raids Net 13 Men and 2 Women

Combined squads from Capt. John Stege's "Dillinger" detail and the state's attorney's office raided nineteen stores and other places in Cicero yesterday, searching for gambling apparatus, and confiscated fifteen slot machines. Thirteen men and two women were arrested, and held in $500 bonds. The raids were led by Lieuts. Frank Reynolds and Arthur Katt, of Stege's force, and by Lieut Thomas Kelly of the state's attorney's office.

FALLS DEAD ON STREET.

18 ALLEGED REDS ARE ARRESTED ON SOUTH SIDE

Eighteen alleged communist agitators, four of whom described themselves as students at the University of Chicago, were arrested by south park police last night for passing out handbills which police feared might precipitate trouble between Negroes and white people at the Jackson park beach.

The self-described students seized were Harold Mishkin, Julius Hauser, Miss Jane Bickford, and Miss Virginia Bash. They were taken to the Hyde Park police station. Not long afterward, police said, a man who said he was Frederick L. Schuman, an assistant professor of political science on the Midway, appeared at the station, and sought to effect the release of Hauser, who, he said, was one of his students.

Police refused to release any of the eighteen prisoners. According to Sergt. James Flavin of the park police they will be charged with attempting to incite a riot.

With John J. Egleston of Worcester, Mass., they are charged with using the mails to defraud.

ARSON INQUIRY INVOLVES A BIG RISK ADJUSTER

One Confesses $95,000 Plant Fire Fraud.

Important developments in the arson ring investigations, which may involve a prominent public fire insurance adjuster, were promised yesterday by Assistant State's Attorneys Marshall Kearney and Gordon Nash.

The activities of the adjuster, the prosecutors said, have been under investigation for several weeks, and as soon as another arrest can be made the case will be submitted to the grand jury for action.

The fire involved in the case was one of the largest yet uncovered since the inquiry started. It is said that the insurance company paid $95,000 to the owner of a south side plant, which was destroyed more than a year ago. The adjusters in turn paid $2,000 to Valentine Notari, who has already confessed to arranging a score of incendiary fires.

Owner Agrees to Plan.

Notari, Harry Brown, an adjuster, and Joe Brown, an alleged torch, who have already been indicted in other cases, will also be involved, it was said, in the new case. The owner of the south side plant and the prominent adjuster, whose name is withheld, are also to be named in the evidence when it is submitted to the grand jury, according to the prosecutors.

Business was falling off in the south side plant, the prosecutors related, and the owner when approached by Notari readily agreed to have a fire in order to replenish his finances.

Notari then approached the public adjuster, he asserted in his confession, and he received part of his fee before the fire was even set on the agreement that the adjuster would get the job of handling the loss.

Inquire Into Another Ring.

Final grand jury action will be taken today in the small ring uncovered last Friday by the prosecutors. Morris Tepper, proprietor of the Tepper Press, 1307 West Roosevelt road, who confessed that the fire at his plant was of incendiary origin, signed an immunity waiver and testified before the grand jury on Friday.

Tepper in his story involved William Kamin, owner of the Main Electric company; Nathan Kamin, a brother, and Leo Wasserman, an insurance agent. He declared that he approached William Kamin about having a fire because business was slack, and that Kamin handled all details for 10 per cent of the insurance to be collected. Wasserman, it is charged, handled the insurance policies.

Investigation is being made, the prosecutors revealed, of five or six fires which various members of the Kamin family had during the past few years. It was because of these investigations that final grand jury action was postponed last week.

Living costs in June, 1934, were 10.2 per cent above the low of April, 1933, and 8.2 per cent higher than in June, 1933, but 20.6 per cent lower than in June, 1929.

The purchasing value of the dollar, base, 1933-100 cents, was 129.6 cents in June, as compared with 127.2 cents in May, 1934, and 137.4 cents in June, 1933.

Food prices advanced 0.5 per cent in June to a level 12.5 per cent higher than in June, 1933, but 29.7 per cent lower than in June, 1929.

Rents Slightly Higher.

Rents rose 0.6 per cent from May to June, but were only 1.9 per cent over their June, 1933, level. They were, however, 29.8 per cent lower than in June, 1929.

Clothing prices generally fell off 0.6 per cent from May to June. Women's clothing prices declined 1.2 per cent, while men's clothing prices decreased only 0.1 per cent. Clothing prices are 25.5 per cent higher than in June, 1933, but 21.2 per cent lower than in June, 1929.

Coal prices increased 0.2 per cent from May to June. In June they were 8.4 per cent higher than in June, 1933, but 6.9 per cent lower than in June, 1929.

Increases in the prices of house furnishings and drugs and toilet articles made the cost of sundries average 0.1 per cent higher in June than in May. Sundries were 3.6 per cent above the June, 1933, level, but 5.9 per cent below that of June, 1929.

Employment Increase Shown.

The total number of unemployed workers in May, 1934, was 7,899,000, according to an estimate of the conference board. This is a decline of 50,000, or 0.6 per cent, from the April 1934, total, and a decline of 5,304,000, or 40.2 per cent, from the total in March, 1933, when unemployment was at its highest point.

A slowing down in the rate of decrease of unemployment is evidenced in a comparison of the May decrease of 50,000 with the April decrease of 72,000 and the March decrease of 589,000.

Although all industrial groups combined showed a decrease from April to May of the unemployment in two groups increased as follows: Manufacturing and mechanical, 10,000, and domestic and personal service, 12,000. These increases were overcome by decreases in other groups as follows:

Extraction of miners, 32,000; transportation, 18,000; trade, 48,000, and miscellaneous occupations, 2,000. In addition it is estimated that 27,000 new workers became available for employment during the month.

Some Further Data.

Since March, 1933, the most marked decreases have been shown in the manufacturing and mechanical group. The number of unemployed in this group in May, 1934, was 2,544,000, a decline of 3,879,000, or 60.4 per cent, from the peak of unemployment in this group in March, 1933. From March, 1933, to May, 1934, the number of unemployed workers decreased 57.1 per cent in trade, 27.7 per cent in domestic and personal service, 20.3 per cent in the extraction of minerals, and 11.8 per cent in transportation.

In this estimate the workers employed through the public works administration are counted as employed. Emergency workers employed under government auspices, usually part time, in lieu of direct unemployment relief, are counted as unemployed.

The following table shows the number of unemployed workers in the various industrial groups in March, 1933, and May, 1934.

Industrial group—	March, 1933.	May, 1934.
Extraction of minerals	576,000	450,000
Manufacturing and mechanical	6,423,000	2,544,000
Transportation	1,591,000	1,404,000
Trade	2,126,000	913 000
Domestic and personal service	607,000	439.000
Industry not specified	539,000	416,000
*Other industries	296,000	296,000
All industries	12,158,000	6,471,000
Allowance for new workers since 1930 census	1,045,000	1,428,000
Total unemployed	13,203,00	7,899.000

*This group includes agriculture, forestry and fishing, public service, and professional service. The number given is that of the unemployed in 1930, no figures being available from which later changes in employment can be computed.

SEN. LEWIS LAYS NRA MONOPOLY TO BIG BUSINESS

Says It's a Plot and Will Be Stopped.

Washington, D. C., July 8.—[Special.]—The exploitation of consumers by big business concerns operating under the NRA is the result of a far flung conspiracy recently discovered, according to Senator James Hamilton Lewis [Dem., Ill.].

Replying in his capacity of chairman of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee to Senator Borah's charges that the New Deal fosters monopoly, Senator Lewis said the Roosevelt administration intends to prosecute the monopolists.

"At the demand of large business stimulated by the national chamber of commerce," said Senator Lewis, "congress by the votes of both parties suspended the trust act to allow all business to economize by consolidation to 'save expense' and provide 'larger development.' Result: Instead of keeping faith with the government, certain manufacturing and financial establishments, conscious that the trust law was suspended, promptly violated the codes of the NRA by joining with each other to fix the price of everything—even as against the government itself.

Just Found Out Plotters.

"This administration has just been able to discover the responsible parties to this conspiracy. It has not had time to take steps to punish it. It will proceed at once both to punish and obstruct further injustice. But the responsibility must be charged to those institutions and business interests which stimulated our opponents to cry that this administration is 'interfering with the individual liberty of business;' that we are 'regimenting and regulating business to the individual injustice to business.'

"Then after the able senators of the opposition denounce us for attempting to control the instrumentalities to prevent monopolies and we yield to the demand of business in turning the control back to them—they promptly create the monopoly, violate the law, rob the consumer, and dishonor the republic. Who, we ask, is to blame? The very ones who denounce us for doing the thing they said was necessary to their liberty, granting them the control.

"Now to prevent these monopolies, it is plain the government must step in and assume the very control and regulation necessary to protect the public and justify such action.

"Servant of Interests."

"This on the ground that when we yielded to what we call the liberty of individual action, the big masters of individual action through conspiracy crushed the lesser ones, defeated competition, and have now placed the government itself under their control, making themselves masters of the government and the government the servant of the big and criminal interests.

"We congratulate the country upon the Republican leaders' confessing the crimes of those for whom they have been spokesmen and advocates for twenty years and joining the Roosevelt democracy in the effort to restore the republic as a free government and revive justice and liberty to the free citizen."

From Germany

Two sisters met for the first time yesterday morning since their separation in Germany 39 years ago. They were Mrs. Maria Winters, 66 years old, who came from her home at Frankfort-on-the-Main in Germany last September, and Mrs. Katherine Rackl, 60 years old of Baltimore, Md.

While visiting her daughter, Mrs. Katherine Cutler, 834 North Kolin avenue, Mrs. Winters sought the aid of the German consul in tracing her sister. They had exchanged only two letters since Mrs. Rackl left Germany as a girl of 21.

Recently Mrs. Rackl was located in Baltimore, and yesterday she arrived at the Roosevelt road bus depot. The sisters recognized each other instantly. A family party was arranged last night by Mrs. Cutler. Mrs. Winters plans to return to Germany next month.

INSULLS EXPECT RULING TODAY ON LAST SIDE ISSUE

Samuel Insull Sr., and his sixteen co-defendants indicted on charges of using the mails to defraud expect an answer this morning from Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson to their request that the government furnish them with a bill of particulars setting forth the exact offenses of which each is accused. They expect, also, that today Judge Wilkerson will set a date for their trial.

In their petition the defendants asserted that the language of the indictment was vague and general and that they wished a list of the specific acts on which they must defend. Although the grant of such a request is unusual in this district, Judge Wilkerson considered it and deferred his decision to study the briefs filed by the defense attorneys.

This is the last of the preliminary motions in the case. United State's Attorney Dwight H. Green said that when it is out of the way the government will be ready for the trial, in which the government may require from six to eight weeks to present its evidence.

J. W. HARRIMAN TO START TRIP TO PRISON TODAY

New York, July 8.—(AP)—Today was Joseph W. Harriman's last day of freedom before he starts serving the four year prison term to which he was sentenced after he was convicted of misapplication of funds of his defunct bank. He will be taken into custody tomorrow morning at the Doctors' hospital by United States Marshal Raymond J. Mulligan, and moved to the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa.

Harriman will be eligible for parole at the expiration of one-third of his sentence. Good behavior also will enable him to shorten the sentence by six days a month.

It was understood the former banker, once influential and wealthy, will do clerical work at the prison. A federal court jury three weeks ago found Harriman guilty of charges of falsifying records of the defunct Harriman National bank and of misusing bank funds.

JOHNSON DROPS MUCH OF WORK IN LAP OF AIDS

Will Still Head NRA, but Not All Alone.

[Copyright: 1934: By the Associated Press.]

Washington, D. C., July 8.—Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator, has decided to turn over a large part of running the Blue Eagle machine this summer to a group of five of his principal subordinates.

The arrangement thus far is informal. Johnson himself will step in to make decisions which legally must be made by him and to settle disputes, if any, among his "board of directors."

The administrator already has taken advantage of the chance to rest. He has been in or near New York for the better part of a week, self reportedly playing golf but conferring at times with Bernard Baruch and others.

Leaves Soon on Speaking Tour.

Within the next three days Johnson plans to leave on his swing around the country. In dozens of speeches he will try to resell the Blue Eagle and put in a word for the New Deal as a whole at the same time.

The board of directors to be left in charge of NRA, as now informally characterized, probably will include G. A. Lynch, NRA administrative officer; George L. Berry, division administrator; A. R. Glancy, division administrator; Robert W. Lea, assistant administrator for industry, and George Buckley, acting division administrator and publicity adviser.

Lynch is expected to be what might be called the chairman of the board, but the others will have equal powers where fundamental decisions are required. Each executive similarly will continue his present duties, and join with the others in overseeing NRA as a whole.

See How It Gets Along.

The whole plan was conceived for the simple purpose of allowing the general to take a rather continuous vacation this summer, but officials look upon the step as important from two viewpoints:

1. It will constitute an interesting trial of how NRA can get along without its bustling boss.

2. It will give sort of a tentative test to the idea of commission control as contrasted to one man leadership.

The idea is definitely Johnson's own. One major official interpreted it as a sign that the general has no plans for resigning in the immediate future.

Nevertheless, if the board's work proves effective, Johnson could so relax his grip on NRA as to leave him free time for other work, particularly with regard to studying plans for the permanent formation of the government's business laws and policy.

The plan ties in with the reports that the general is working out plans to represent his ideas of how NRA and the government's business agencies and functions may be made permanent.

Expect Self-Government.

As authoritatively reported from New York, during Johnson's visit there, these ideas look to further development of a plan for business self government with adequate federal supervision.

Business leaders have been thinking about the permanent aspects of NRA from the beginning of its organization, and have discussed a variety of plans based on this theory.

Already NRA has virtually banned general codes for service industries, and has relaxed its supervision of smaller industries. Many officials believe that NRA's attempt to fulfill the desires of some business men for extreme regulatory detail has failed, and that future regulation will be broad. Thi swas said also to represent current business theories.

Shot as Building Vandal, Youth's Condition Serious

Harold Domanski, 17 years old, 1023 North Ashland avenue, who was shot and seriously wounded yesterday in front of 2711 Evergreen avenue, was removed to the Bridewell hospital later in the day. West North avenue police, meanwhile, were holding Abe Addison, 29 years old, who said he fired several shots at four boys who had thrown a brick through the windows of his father's building at that address. Domanski denied being one of the vandals, and said he was walking past the building when he was shot.

WISCONSIN DEAN IN POST TODAY ON LABOR BOARD

Garrison to Try Hand at Quelling Disputes.

Washington, D. C., July 8.—(AP)—A 37 year old dean of a law school school stepped forward today to try his hand at quelling the nation's often sanguinary labor troubles.

Lloyd Garrison of the University of Wisconsin, realizing his task is no sinecure, has been on the ground for three days. Tomorrow the new national labor relations board comes into active existence, and Garrison, great-grandson of the renowned abolitionist, heads it as chairman. Simultaneously the old national labor board expires, leaving a pile of unfinished labor dispute business.

Speedy Action in Prospect.

Bloody strikes, street rioting, unyielding lockouts the country over must be dealt with. President Roosevelt hopes the new board quickly will prove its ability and effectiveness. Speedy action is in prospect.

With Garrison on the board—which will act as a sort of supreme court for labor troubles—are Harry A. Millis, professor of economics at Chicago university and a long time labor expert, and Edwin S. Smith, former labor commissioner of Massachusetts.

They will meet together for the first time tomorrow, and immediately will outline their policies.

One of the first problems will be realignment of approximately 35 existing regional and other labor boards whose life does not expire with the passing of the old national labor board. Indications are many of the regional boards will be reorganized or abolished.

Two boards—the new longshoremen's board created to attempt a settlement of the Pacific coast strife, and the steel board, named to bring peace to that industry—are not likely to be affected.

Has Three Months Leave.

An added spur to quick action on the part of Garrison is the fact that he has only a three months leave of absence from the University of Wisconsin law school. His appointment to the board is for only that length of time, but it is considered likely it might be extended and his leave from Wisconsin lengthened.

Those close to the old labor board, much of the personnel of which will go with the new board, believe Millis will take a leading part in forming policies.

Smith, too, knows labor problems intimately. He has served as chief labor compliance officer for Massachusetts and was selected by President Roosevelt to act as an observer at the international labor organization conference at Geneva.

VIOLET HILTON TO OPEN FIGHT TODAY TO WED

New York, July 8.—(AP)—Violet Hilton, 26 year old Siamese twin, will begin her legal fight tomorrow for a writ of mandamus to force New York city officials to issue her and Maurice L. Lambert, 29, the marriage license they have refused on moral grounds.

Irwin Levy, her attorney, said he is prepared to submit in Supreme court legal evidence that Violet and her sister, Daisy, to whom she is joined at the hips, do the following things as separate persons:

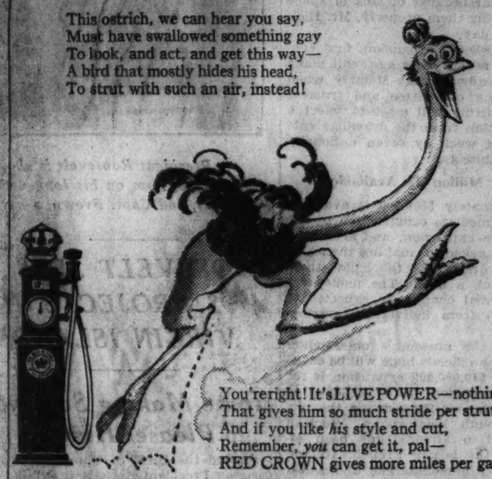

Pay individual income taxes.
Use two passports.
Pay two fares on trains and ships.

2D STREAMLINE TROLLEY GLIDES ABOUT CHICAGO

New Aluminum Car Boasts Quick Pickup and Brakes.

A silver and royal blue street car of aluminum alloy in streamline design noiselessly rounded the Chicago Surface Lines' loop in the shadow of the towers of Navy Pier yesterday on its first trial run. Spectators gazed with surprise as the vehicle glided in the wake of a clanging, roaring street car of the Grand avenue line.

The new car was demonstrated to a party of engineers, car line officials, and newspapermen, beside the streamlined silver and green vehicle recently placed in operation. From these two experiments in modern design officials said they hope to develop the street car of the future.

Although both modern cars have streamlined bodies and newly developed equipment, they differ radically. They are of the same dimensions and they seat fifty-eight passengers in comfortable leather seats.

Has Rapid Pickup.

The silver and gray car, built by the J. G. Brill company, is of steel construction weighing 36,500 pounds. The silver and blue car, built by the Pullman Car and Manufacturing company, weighs 29,600 pounds. The majority of cars now in service weigh about 44,000 pounds.

The car demonstrated yesterday has four 60 horse power 300 volt high speed motors, providing ample power for quick pickup. Automatic acceleration steps the car up from 1½ to 4¾ miles per hour per second.

Its brakes are a triple combination: air brakes, braking by using the motors to generate electric current, and braking by magnetic shoes sliding on the rails. They are equipped to maintain any desired rate of breaking up to a maximum of 4¾ miles per hour per second.

"With this quick acceleration and deceleration, the average rate of operation can be greatly increased," said H. H. Adams, superintendent of shops and equipment of the surface lines. "This car is up to the pace of city trafic. It can attain a speed of 40 miles per hour."

No More Window Arguments.

The interior finish of the car is of sheet aluminum, there is almost no wood in its construction. The windows are large, affording a clear view in all directions. Because the car is ventilated by forced ventilation all windows are fixed.

The ventilating duct along the center line of the ceiling draws off air from the car by means of an exhaust fan. During winter months, engineers said, fresh air is to be drawn in at one end of the car and blown over electric heaters to provide uniform heat.

Lighting is indirect by means of the ceiling trough. The floor is of cork material, top surfaced with aluminum. This, it was said, will provide comfort for standing riders, although the car has no provision for straphangers. Straps, it was said, may be added later.

For State Street Line.

The doors are of the folding type, electro-magnetically controled and operated at the front and center. Another feature is a rear emergency door which opens by a touch by the motorman on a button when a passenger stands on a plate.

"Our objectives," said Guy A. Richardson, president of the Chicago Surface Lines, "are speed, quiet operation, and passenger comfort."

The newest car is to be placed on public exhibition today on the Adams street siding at State street. It will shortly be placed in operation on the State street car line to A Century of Progress Exposition.

STREET CAR STREAMLINED

Manufactured by the Pullman corporation, this car will be placed in service on the State street line to the World's Fair. It is the second streamlined car in Chicago. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

FORMER SUITOR SLAYS MOTHER OF THREE, SELF

Awaits Widow of Vet in Darkened House.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 8.—[Special.]—Mrs. Ella Dressler, 35, 6926 West State street, widow of a war veteran and mother of three children, was shot to death as she entered her home early this morning.

She was killed by Louis Hartwig, 54, 7335 Harwood avenue, Wauwatosa, a former sweetheart, whose attentions she had been avoiding for the last year. Hartwig fired at Mrs. Dressler's brother-in-law, Albert Radke; threatened to kill her 14 year old son, Robert, and then shot and killed himself.

Hides in House.

Hartwig gained secret entrance to Mrs. Dressler's home during the night while she and her children attended a party with the Radke family. Hiding in the darkened house, he fired at Mrs. Dressler with a shotgun as she reached for a light switch.

Husband Died in 1925.

Mrs. Dressler is the widow of Donald Dressler, who died in 1925 of war injuries. With her three children, Robert, 14; Gordon, 12, and Geraldine, 11, she lived on her husband's pension.

Hartwig was a widower. He has three children, his sons, Chris and Hans, and a daughter, Ursula, all living in Milwaukee.

HORNER OFFERS STATE AID IN NEW BOMBING OF MINE

Investigators to Help in Hunt for Dynamiters.

Springfield, Ill., July 8.—(AP)—Gov. Henry Horner today placed the state bureau of criminal investigation facilities at the disposal of the Sangamon county sheriff's office in efforts to apprehend those responsible for the blasting of the fan house at the Capitol mine of the Peabody Coal company.

Four masked men yesterday overpowered Jack Lee, guard at the fan house, and held him captive while they set six charges of dynamite.

Blastas Raze Building.

The blasts razed the one story brick structure, ruining ventilating machinery that pumped foul air from the mine shafts. There were about 360 miners below when the explosions occurred. The mine tipple and entrance, however, was some distance from the fan house and the men were hurriedly brought to the surface. None was injured.

As soon as the masked men set the dynamite and lighted the fuses, they pushed Lee into their automobile and drove away. When the blasts roared, they shoved him from the car and he made his way to a telephone to notify authorities. Lee said there may have been more than four involved in the bombing, but the quartet was all he saw before the men put a blindfold over his eyes.

See Renewal of War.

Company officials and the sheriff's office said they were convinced the blasting was another outbreak in the recurrent union difficulties.

The Peabody company has refused to recognize the Progressive Miners' union and contracts its labor from the ranks of the United Mine Workers, affiliate of the American Federation of Labor.

The bombing of the fan house was the third at Peabody plants in Sangamon county in the last two months. One bombing occurred at the Peerless mine and the other at Andrews.

MEET GUY BUSH...star pitcher for the Chicago Cubs! Guy won 20 games last year...pitched in all 264 innings...and he's pitching at an .800 clip this year. Like many athletes, Guy has found that at the end of a gruelling match, nothing brings back his energy and vitality like a Camel.

YOU TOO can increase Vim and Energy...quickly!

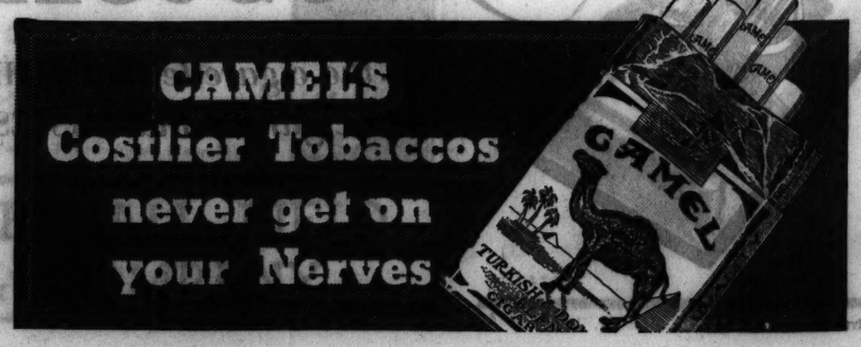

When you feel "used up"—smoke a Camel! Fatigue and irritability fade away. Your flow of natural energy snaps back to a higher level in a few minutes.

This experience is well known to millions of Camel smokers. It has been confirmed by a famous New York research laboratory. Take for example Guy Bush. There's a lesson in what Guy has to say about the "energizing effect" in Camels:

"Bases full, one out, and a strike. I'm watching the bases and the batter, too. Now I've got to pitch. The pitch—and it's two strikes! Will he strike out? You think so...and yet you can't tell. Baseball is full of tough spots that take it out of a pitcher who works his regular turn and stands up to the grind for seven long months.

"Like most of the big-league pitchers, I smoke Camels. And when I come out of a game after nine hard innings there's nothing that lifts up my energy the way a Camel does. I feel freshened up in no time at all. I smoke a lot. Camels never interfere with my nerves!"

Learn to "get a lift with a Camel" whenever your energy runs low. Smoke as constantly as you like. The finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS in Camels never upset the nerves.

● Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand.

WATER FROM 480 MILES AWAY AIDS TEXAS RICE AREA

Columbus, Tex., July 8.—(AP)—Water from Lake Brownwood, 480 miles away, succored the drouth parched rice fields of this vicinity today.

The water, amounting to 14,000 acre feet, was released from the lake June 27 to flow down the Colorado river channel. The river rose more than 2 feet here, and pumps lifted it to the rice fields.

Rice farmers of Wharton and Matagorda counties paid $10,000 to the Brownwood Water Improvement district, which owns Lake Brownwood, to obtain the water. Engineers estimated that 50 per cent of the water loosed from the lake would reach its destination and water engineers calculated that the water had cost the rice farmers one cent for each 4,574 gallons.

POLICE AND HEAT PREVENT RIOTING AT PARIS RALLIES

War Vets Ask Cabinet to Continue "Cleanup."

BY HAROLD ETTLINGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, July 8.—While 60,000 men of opposing political complexions marched through the streets of Paris today under a blistering sun that evaporated whatever revolutionary spirit they started out with, representatives of three and a half million war veterans passed judgment on the national government of Premier Gaston Doumergue.

It was an equivocal judgment and one which has been awaited with apprehension for three months. Last night the veterans had resolved that the government had not nearly satisfied their demands to "purify the administration and maintain order." Today they failed to follow up this warning, which at the same time was a tacit admission of Doumergue's good intentions.

Permit Minister to Stay.

They made no threats, but they threw no flowers. They merely resolved to ask the government to continue the cleanup, and agreed, by the narrow margin of four votes, to allow their representative in the cabinet, Minister of Pensions Andre Revollet, to remain in office.

The congress then closed quietly, ending a day on which it was feared the war veterans would sound a call for a revolution, and when more than half of the country expected there would be immediate violence by thousands of men who took part in the street demonstrations.

The massed forces of thousands of police probably prevented the expected "bloody Sunday." Steel helmeted mobile guards and mounted republican guards encircled the veterans as they marched to the tomb of the unknown soldier.

The French are left as puzzled over the veterans' action as they were three months ago, when the Federation of War Veterans gave the government until today to clean up politics and undertake the reform of the state.

Atmosphere Is Cleared.

But the atmosphere is cleared momentarily at least. While every one realized that the Doumergue national cabinet is only a temporary solution of France's political problems, it seems safe to predict that there will be no upheavals in the near future.

The veterans showed they can be expected to become an increasingly important political factor, and in case of another crisis might well be the deciding force. They are by no means a solid block except on the question of pensions, as was shown by the frequent uproars in the congress, during which the perspiring delegates frequently were close to open battle.

The veterans voted to demand the repeal of pension cuts on the ground that they were no longer necessary. This put on a more indelicate spot than ever their member of the cabinet, who has the unwelcome task of reconciling the interests of the veterans with the government's program of financial rehabilitation.

Things were not so calm at the eastern end of the capital, where clashes attended a demonstration by 15,000 communists and Socialists. The leftists noisily berated what they called the "Fascism" of the Doumergue government after a parade.

ENVOY SHOOTS WIFE, HER SISTER; JUMPS TO DEATH

PARIS, July 8.—(AP)—Manuel Garcia Irigoyen, Peruvian chargé d'affaires at Brussels, leaped down an elevator shaft to his death today after shooting and wounding his wife and sister-in-law at the apartment of their mother.

The wife, formerly Lili Perez Freire, a native of Chile, was taken to a hospital in a serious condition, while her sister, Mercedes Perez Freire, was only slightly wounded.

Police said that divorce proceedings between the Irigoyens were under way.

Irigoyen fired four shots, police said. The wife was wounded twice and the sister once.

PLANES TO TRAIL DINOSAURS IN WESTERN HUNT

Two Found in Lairs Amid Rocks.

Greybull, Wyo., July 8.—(AP)—Perhaps the most up to date dinosaur hunt in these ancient pastures of prehistoric beasts is in the field this summer under the leadership of Dr. Barnum Brown of the American Museum of Natural History.

With plane and pickaxe, instead of horse and gun, Dr. Brown, Peter C. Kaisen, G. E. Lewis, and Darwin Harbict are following the geological rail.

About 200 millions years ago the northern part of the western hemisphere was cut in two by a great sea that ran from the Gulf of Mexico to the Arctic ocean, and in swamps and lush meadowland along the shores lived many dinosaurs.

Some Game in Sight.

The program of Dr. Brown's expedition falls into four major parts:

1. To excavate two sauropods—amphibious dinosaurs—that are imbedded in the rock some 30 miles from here.

2. To conduct several surveys by airplane among the jagged hills of the Big Horn basin to discover probable new fossil beds.

3. To conduct several surveys by airplane among the jagged hills of the Big Horn basin is discover new fossil bearing sites.

4. To locate, if possible, additional bones of the mysterious "jack rabbit" dinosaur that Dr. Brown discovered last summer.

5. To investigate a series of dinosaur footprints found in coal mines south of here in the hope that these prints may lead to the bones of the beasts that made them.

Hunter Refuses to Boast.

"While it is never safe to make predictions of any kind," observed Dr. Brown, "I feel that I can say that we will have the two sauropods out by the end of the month. The work of excavating them has been slow, but we have made satisfactory progress.

"As for the airplane survey, I do not imagine that will be made until the latter part of August or early in September, but it is one phase of our explorations to which I am looking forward with keen anticipation, because I am fully convinced that it will yield a great deal of valuable data.

"According to present plans we expect to fly a total of some 20 to 30 hours over northern Wyoming, central Montana, and the Black Hills of South Dakota."

GILDA GRAY TO SHARE ESTATE OF SPANISH NOBLE

Hollywood, Cal., July 8.—[Special.]—Hector de Saa, husband of Gilda Gray, former stage and screen star, along with his sister, Olga Briceno de Ortega of Morocco, has inherited the estate of the late Baron Fernando de Saa, according to a cablegram received by De Saa here today.

The actress is also named as a legatee in the will of the Spanish nobleman, who died several weeks ago at Casablanca, Morocco. Valued in excess of a million dollars, the estate is said to include three rural properties in Morocco, a gold mine, two furnished villas at Casablanca, bonds valued at $250,000 and other property.

STATE TO ASK DEATH FOR HICKMAN; HIS TRIAL TO START TODAY

San Francisco, Cal., July 8.—(AP)—The death penalty will be asked for Millard Hickman, who goes to trial tomorrow as the slayer of pretty Louise Jeppesen, 21, of Ogden, Utah.

Hickman was arrested May 13, a few hours after Miss Jeppesen's body was found in a pedestrian tunnel in the Golden Gate park. She had been strangled with her own belt following a gay party.

Hickman, whose estranged wife and two children live in Oakland, contends two other members of the party, Thomas Dee, head of a marine engineering firm, and Blanche McKay, attractive blonde, will support his alibi.

COOK COUNTY'S RELIEF FAMILIES SHOW DECREASE

The number of families receiving relief during the month of June decreased by 1.1 per cent in Illinois, as compared with the total for last May. This was announced yesterday by Wilfred S. Reynolds, executive secretary of the Illinois emergency relief commission.

The decrease for the state as a whole represents a sharp decline in families on relief in Cook county. There was an increase in downstate counties. In Cook county the number of families dropped from 127,887 in May to 123,376 in June, a decrease of 3.5 per cent.

In the remaining 101 counties of the state the number of families receiving assistance rose from 142,351 in May to 143,862 in June, an increase of 1.1 per cent. This is the largest figure ever to be reported from downstate counties, Mr. Reynolds said, and exceeds the 1933 high of 120,994 in those counties.

3 DIE IN BRITISH HEAT WAVE; 100 FALL IN STREETS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 8.—Great Britain's heat wave caused three deaths today. One hundred persons collapsed in streets as the temperature registered 88 degrees.

Great heath fires also were attributed to the heat wave, which has lasted nine days. The famous Hurn rhododendron forest on the earl of Malmesbury's estate near Christchurch was destroyed by fire. Eight hundred acres of thickly wooded land were swept by flames.

Five hundred soldiers struggled for hours to check fires at Aldershot. Destruction of hundreds of acres of heaths and forests was reported elsewhere. In London the metropolitan board renewed warnings to conserve water supplies. The board said consumption of water had increased since restrictions were imposed at the end of June.

WILL NOT USE WINE TO NAME SCIENCE BALLOON

S. D. Governor's Wife to Be Sponsor.

Rapid City, S. D., July 8.—(AP)—Officially named "The Explorer," the gondola for the National Geographic society-army air corps stratosphere flight tonight was pronounced ready for its aerial adventure.

After making minor adjustments following Saturday's "sealed-in" test Capt. Albert W. Stevens, scientific observer, and Maj. William E. Kepner, pilot, agreed that the takeoff would be scheduled at the first sign of favorable weather. Capt. Orville Anderson also will make the flight.

"We are ready to go any time," said Kepner.

"If we have time before satisfactory weather appears we will continue checking details, but there is no reason to wait unless weather conditions make it necessary."

The name selected for the gondola, which will be christened at 5:30 p. m. [mountain standard time] tomorrow by Mrs. Tom Berry, wife of the South Dakota governor, was announced by the Geographic society.

Simultaneously it was said that liquid air instead of champagne will be used to christen the airtight metal sphere in which the balloonists will seek a new altitude record. Champagne was brought from Denver for the christening, but presumably flight officials decided to avoid possible difficulty with South Dakota dry laws.

PRIMARIES FOR 16 STATES DURING JULY, AUGUST

Montana, Texas to Vote This Month.

Washington, D. C., July 8.—(AP)—July, an off month for primary elections, is lending some of its heat to preparations by candidates in 14 states. They are lining up votes for primaries in August.

Only two more primary contests, Montana and Texas, are scheduled for this month. Next month, however, brings 14 primaries, the biggest batch of the election year, including some of the warmest intra-party battles of 1934.

Ten states will select candidates for governor, and for the United States senate, 14 will name candidates for the United States house of representatives.

Results of primaries, already held in almost a third of the states, indicate the temper of the voters has changed since 1932 in at least one respect. At that time a ballot box revolt against the "ins" took an almost unprecedented toll among office holders. Now the "ins," both Democratic and Republican, have been faring well.

Seven Senators Renamed.

More than a fourth of the house members already have faced the voters in the primaries with only seven casualties. Seven senators have been renominated and none has fallen by the way.

Three more senators faces primary tests this month, two in Montana and one in Texas.

The next primary is scheduled for July 17, in Montana, with both of that state's Democratic incumbents, Senators Wheeler and Erickson, seeking renomination. Wheeler is opposed by Burt Replogle, Lewistown attorney, while five candidates are after his colleague's nomination.

One of the warmest contests of the year will culminate with the Texas primary July 28. Then Senator Connally, Democratic incumbent, will be opposed by Representative Joseph W. Bailey Jr., son of a former senator.

List of August Struggles.

August will bring primaries in Tennessee, Kentucky, Kansas, Missouri, Virginia, West Virginia, Arkansas, Idaho, Nebraska, Ohio, Wyoming, Mississippi, California, and South Carolina.

The first of these, Aug. 2, in Tennessee, will find both Democratic senators, McKellar and Bachman, up for renomination. John R. Neal, Knoxville lawyer and educator, has filed against McKellar for the long term, while Representative Bordon Browning is running against Bachman.

Costs Him $350 to Turn Off Lights; Robber Gets It

W. J. Buth, 6227 Ingleside avenue, went to the G. R. Kinney & Co. shoe store, 926 East 63d street, of which he is manager, late last night to turn out the display lights. As he opened the door a nattily dressed young man walked in behind him, produced a gun and forced him to open the safe. The robber got $350.

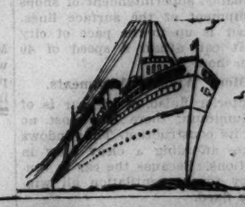

Fires to Scare Other Boys Away and Wounds One

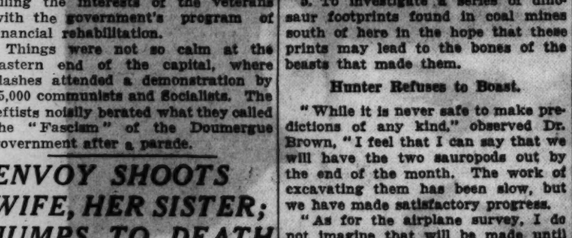

Elwood Burke, 14 years old, 6100 South Kolmar avenue, was shot in the right leg last evening by another 14 year old boy, Peter Tryner of 6145 South Kolmar avenue. To scare several boys away from a freshly laid concrete sidewalk before the Tryner home, according to Chicago Lawn police, young Tryner's mother, Mrs. Grace Tryner, told him to fire the gun, but not at the boys. Young Burke's wound was not serious. Police held Peter Tryner.

ROCKEFELLER, 95, SPENDS BIRTHDAY QUIETLY AT HOME

Not Feeling Well; Fails to Give Interview.

New York, July 8.—[Special.]—John D. Rockefeller Sr. was 95 years old today, but because the aged oil magnate was "not feeling well" there was no celebration, no interview and no birthday program of any kind.

Mr. Rockefeller is spending this summer on his estate near Lakewood, N. J. There was some expectation among the townspeople there that he might attend religious services at All Saints' Episcopal church today, but his secretary, Ward Madison, who attended with Mrs. Fannie Evans, housekeeper and second cousin of the oil man, told the Rev. Dr. John Merritt Hunter, rector, that members of the household considered the outing "inadvisable."

Declines Discussion.

Madison said his famous employer was not feeling well, but offered no further description of his indisposition and would not discuss the magnate's health with reporters.

It has been known for some time that Mr. Rockefeller was in a rather feeble state of health, although able to be up and about, and relatives have manifested some concern over his condition.

Told that Mr. Rockefeller would be missing from his congregation today, the Rev. Dr. Hunter offered to go to the Rockefeller home and conduct a special service, but Madison declined with the expressed thanks of his employer. The service was a union one participated in by two other congregations under a special summer arrangement.

Mentioned in Prayer.

Mr. Rockefeller and one of his humble employés, a gatekeeper, Arthur M. Barnes, who died last week, were made objects of the same prayer at the service.

The Rev. Dr. Hunter mentioned Lakewood's aged and richest resident at the close of a sermon in which he gave thanks that rain at last had broken the 17 day hot spell.

"Near by," he said, "there are two men whom we remember today in one prayer. I say two men, because both should be remembered. One of them is a humble minded person, and if he were present we would agree, despite his eminence, that all men are equal.

"So I want you to join in prayer for these two men, one of whom has spent many months on a bed of pain. He lives on the estate where there is being celebrated today the birthday of the other man, our friend and neighbor, whose life has spanned the industrial age of our country, and who was one of those who helped form the industrial age at the beginning of his life. Now he is helping with his philanthropies in the formation of the new social age.

"Awaiting in Trust."

"He is under the shadow of his trees, awaiting in trust the light which shines after the shadow of death, unafraid because of his faith. The morning and the evening of life should, alike, be peaceful."

Barnes for years was a gardener at Mr. Rockefeller's estate at Pocantico Hills, N. Y. The rector spoke of him as though he were alive, because he did not learn, until after the services, that he had died last week.

Mr. Rockefeller spent most of the day quietly indoors and so far as could be learned his son, John D. Rockefeller Jr., and the latters family were the only visitors.

Madison told inquirers at the church that Mr. Rockefeller was anxious to avoid excitement and had asked to be excused from seeing visitors or "outsiders" during the day.

Since his return May 30 from Florida the oil man has avoided all exertion, it is understood, limiting his daily exercise to an automobile ride. He has not even set foot on his private golf course.

Conserves His Energy.

A friend of the family was quoted a few days ago as saying that while Mr. Rockefeller was in "fair health, considering his advanced age," it was necessary for him to conserve his energy, and hence his policy of keeping in seclusion.

Mr. Rockefeller's growing seclusion increased this last year, beginning with an attack of influenza which confined him to his home in Pocantico Hills for the early part of the winter and greatly delayed his annual trip to Ormond Beach, Fla. It was February before he was able to go south, and when he arrived in Florida he was extremely feeble. A winter in temperate climes, however, restored his health to a great degree.

Since his arrival here, however, Mr. Rockefeller has kept to the grounds of his estate and has seen no one but members of the immediate household. Visitors have been barred more rigidly than ever before. Until the current heat wave started, Mr. Rockefeller took daily walks about the grounds, but the high temperatures of the last fortnight have greatly sapped his strength.

At 95 the aged financier's philosophy remains unchanged:

"I am grateful, he says, "every day for the contentment I enjoy in living a quiet and simple life."

His daily routine includes extremely light meals, a short afternoon sleep, and listening to the reading of a poem and a prayer by his secretary.

Suffers from Heat.

He has suffered severely from the excessive heat recently and reports about town had it that he remained in bed all day last Tuesday and Wednesday when the mercury was soaring in the nineties. He was able to enjoy a short automobile ride again Thursday, however.

In years past Mr. Rockefeller made it a practice to issue little statements on his birthdays, affirming his faith in economic conditions, the country, and God. Recently, however, he has had nothing to say, and fewer and fewer persons have been recipients of the famous Rockefeller dimes.

CHICAGO HAS LAMPLIGHTER

LAMPLIGHTERS STILL SPRINT IN CITY AS IN '90s

1934 Finds 575 Gasoline Glimmers in Streets.

In the outlying districts of the city linger scenes reminiscent of the nineties as lamplighters go about before dusk to light the gasoline street lamps that have resisted a generation of progress.

Only a few miles away from the modern electrical displays at A Century of Progress, and even closer to the brilliantly illuminated loop and the well lighted park drives and boulevards, the city maintains 575 gasoline lamps and 4,897 gas lamps.

They are retained not because of a desire to cling to 19th century methods, according to William A. Jackson, who is in charge of the city's electrical bureau, but because of scanty funds.

Has $5,000 for 5,400 Jobs.

"These old fashioned lamps are not confined to any one district," said Mr. Jackson, "but are in various parts of the city.

"We should like to replace them as quickly as possible, but for this purpose have only a $5,000 appropriation in the 1934 budget. That would give about one new light to each of the fifty wards.

"Until tax collections are normal, thus permitting the city services to keep abreast of the city's growth, it is likely that we'll still have gas and gasoline lamps."

In the budget is an appropriation of $27,000 to pay for the gas for the gas lamps, and another of $136,000 for the operation of both kinds of lights. Out of the latter appropriation the city pays the American Development company, 122 South Michigan avenue, which has a contract with the city to maintain and light the old fashioned lamps.

One Man Lights 39.

Each of the gas lamps has a pilot light, and all of them are controled by an automatic time switch. But for the 575 gasoline lamps the American Development company has a score of men who travel about before dark with a ladder and a blowtorch to light them. Some make their nightly trips on foot, others use automobiles.

John Rigoni, 4747 Kilpatrick avenue, is one of the latter. He has 39 lamps to tend on Bernard street and on Lamon, Cicero, and Sacramento avenues. With his brother acting as chauffeur, John makes his rounds in short order, stopping at each post only long enough to set up and climb his ladder, open the lamp's metal shutter, and insert the flaming blowtorch.

Mexican Gored When He Tries New Trick on Bull

M'KEE, WHALEN HIT IN QUIZ ON POLICE FUNDS

New York, July 8.—(AP)—Harold L. Allen, second deputy police commissioner, investigating the assets of the Police Relief Fund, Inc., recommended today that Joseph V. McKee, Grover Whalen, former Chief Inspector John O'Brien and Captain H. Ayres, former head of the missing persons bureau, be made to account for depletions in the fund during their trusteeship.

Allen, in a report to Police Commissioner John F. O'Ryan, complained that these trustees failed to attend meetings of the fund's executive committee and that often they delegated their authority to others.

Allen also suggested that the trustees be asked to explain why the committee sold a million dollars worth of liberty bonds in 1929 and invested the proceeds in real estate mortgages and bonds.

McKee, the report stated, "never attended any meeting" and "delegated his duties as president of the fund in 1926 as far as the minutes show."

Boy, 11, Makes Gun Out of Pipe; Wounded in Side

Edward Podgorski, 11 years old, 1100 Fry street, was accidentally shot in the left thigh yesterday by a bullet he fired from a makeshift "gun." The boy found some revolver cartridges in the basement of his home. He inserted one in a small steel pipe and pounded one end of it on the floor. The pipe slipped and the bullet was discharged, wounding the boy. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital for treatment.

ARMY NABS 60 AS CUBA BATTLES REVOLUTION PLOT

HAVANA, July 8.—(AP)—The forces of Col. Fulgencio Batista, chief of the army, continued their raids today against former army officers. Batista claims that a nation-wide conspiracy to overthrow the government has been thwarted by more than 60 arrests.

Batista said that the plot had wide ramifications and that more arrests could be expected. Several secret agents met death recently, while investigating the plot, he said.

A 50-pound bomb, found today in the Calixto Garcia hospital, was removed safely. The army announced that 32 political prisoners who have been on a hunger strike in Principe prison will be removed to a military hospital. Several of them are feared to be near death.

SPAIN DECREES $6,800,000 PUBLIC WORKS PROGRAM

MADRID, July 8.—(AP)—Spain joined the nations seeking unemployment relief in public works today as the official Gazette published a decree putting into effect a law authorizing a bond issue for that purpose.

The total amount of bonds which can be issued is 50,000,000 pesetas [about $6,800,000], which would go to repair and construct public buildings.

Minimum wages are to be fixed for the projects by mixed labor tribunals, and only Spanish labor and materials are to be used. The bonds, to be issued at 5 per cent interest, are retirable in 75 years, and amortization begins after five years.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE "CLICKS" FOR CONOCO with definite and spectacular results

AN OFFICIAL CONVINCING TEST THAT SHOULD GUIDE YOUR MOTOR OIL PURCHASES

Here are the Representatives of the Contest Board of the AAA who supervised every detail of the test and attested to the scores made.

CONTEST BOARD AAA CERTIFIED TEST

AAA SANCTION NO. 3001

CONOCO

. . . New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil conclusively points the way to definite motor protection and economical consumption, under AAA certification . . . .

HERE is a statement about oil that for the first time gives you understandable and acceptable facts—and proves them. Claimed values, no matter how well known the product is, do not lubricate your motor. Only the form and structure of the oil itself can do that.

New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil has these features: Two to four times the film strength, much greater lubricating ability under crankcase dilution, increased penetrative oiliness, the "Hidden Quart that stays up in your motor and never drains away." Last, but not least, the minimum of carbon deposit and sludge formation.

Conoco engineers knew what this new oil could do—and dared to put it to test under the unbiased, official supervision of the Contest Board, American Automobile Association—500 miles a day average, 50 miles an hour speed, until the motors were wrecked. It was a trial of the rate of the consumption of oil and of motor protection. On the fourth day, Oil No. 4 dried up and the motor screamed its death cry, having gone 1,713.2 miles. About an hour later, Oil No. 6, at 1,764.4 miles wrecked its motor, and a little over 50 miles farther, the motor of Oil No. 5 cracked up—three well-known oils had marked up their best record.

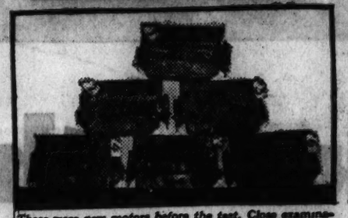

On the fifth day, Oil No. 1, completing 2,266.8 miles, went out, leaving the test a duel between the two remaining contestants. A day and another day passed. On the eighth day, Oil No. 3 ruined the motor it had safeguarded for 3,318.8 miles. The last rival, though worthy, was out.

Then a lone car, representing Oil No. 2, which was New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil, swung around and around at 50 miles an hour, day after day, until, when a connecting rod went out, it had completed nearly 5,000 miles—exactly 5,719 miles! And this on a total of just five quarts of oil—showing two and one-fifth times the average mileage of all other five oils and 42.9% or 1,410.2 miles better than its nearest and best competitor.

Surely, you need no better proof than this. Certainly, whether you drive a 1934 model or one of previous years, you are interested in this proof of remarkably low consumption and greater motor protection. Drive into any Red Triangle Station, fill with New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil. Reduce your repair bills. Get the economy in both miles and dollars from this known winner.

Much scientific data was secured by the AAA officials in each car thru use of a POTENTIOMETER for recording temperatures.

COME TO THE WORLD'S FAIR

CONTINENTAL OIL COMPANY
Chicago, Illinois
June 23, 1934

Mr. George Strecker, Manager
Automotive Advertising,
Chicago Tribune,
Chicago, Illinois.

Dear Mr. Strecker:

Our advertising in the Tribune has clicked a second time with such definite results that I thought you would like to know about it.

Last year, as you know, we introduced our new gasoline - CONOCO BRONZE. We used some 59,000 lines in black-and-white and run-of-paper color exclusively in the Tribune. The increase in gallonage sales which followed was spectacular.

When this year we had another new product - our new and improved CONOCO GERM-PROCESSED motor oil - we again scheduled a heavy campaign of black-and-white copy and run-of-paper color pages exclusively in the Tribune.

During the first five months of 1934 our sales of GERM-PROCESSED motor oil were up 82% in metropolitan Chicago, and 100% in the entire Chicago territory.

Being in a position to check results right on the ground, I know that our Tribune advertising has been of direct help in building these sales increases. We have found the Tribune not only has extensive coverage of owners of cars in the market, both in the city and suburbs and in the outlying territory, but it has effective coverage and influence with jobbers and dealers.

Virtually all of our Chicago advertising expenditures since 1929 have been in the Tribune. Our sales records prove the wisdom of our choice. The net result is that we expect to continue to make strong use of your publication.

Very truly yours,

Geo. J. Woods
Manager

● Conoco came into Chicago with a clear sales objective—and made it in record time!

The Conoco gasoline and oil campaigns—concentrated exclusively in the Chicago Tribune—again prove the power of well planned advertising to register prompt success regardless of competitive conditions. For the Conoco Tribune campaign not only covered the great majority of Chicago car owners, but created and sustained the essential interest of jobbers and dealers throughout the Chicago territory.

This year the Tribune illustrates its singular ability to carry forward a campaign to steadily increasing sales records. Conoco Germ-processed oil sales during the first five months of this year were from 82 to 100 per cent above a year ago. The Tribune has been the only Chicago newspaper to carry Conoco gasoline and oil advertising. Other papers have carried only small copy used to promote Conoco's map and touring information department.

Almost without exception, those who best know Chicago get their best results through the Chicago Tribune. This is repeatedly and conclusively shown by the sales figures and advertising appropriations of national advertisers, the large Loop department stores and a long list of manufacturers and merchants seeking a share of the business which is always available in the great Chicago market.

LAKE MICHIGAN IDEAL CAR ROUTE TO RESORT AREA

Find Ferry More Convenient than Driving.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Benton Harbor, Mich., July 8.—[Special.]—THE TRIBUNE roadster has just been rolled over a gang plank from the S. S. Theodore Roosevelt here to join the thousands of other Illinois cars that are on holiday drives in the wooded sand dunes of this eastern shore of Lake Michigan today.

THE TRIBUNE roadster and driver are fresh from four leisurely hours on blue water under a blue sky. The other Illinois cars and their passengers are not so fresh after three hours in trafic from the loop.

Lake Michigan is the economical as well as the comfortable route from Chicago to this summer resort area, but for some reason it is little used by Chicago motorists. The cost of transporting the car here by water was $3, probably less than the operating cost of covering the 96 miles by highway. Yet there were only two other automobiles aboard the Roosevelt.

Prospect for Business.

"The company has never advertised its service as an automobile ferry," said Capt. G. E. Stufflebeam, master of the ship. "And besides, pleasure travelers don't want to operate on schedule; they don't want to be bound by the ship's sailing schedule.

"But there's business for an automobile ferry from Chicago to the Michigan shore if some one would offer this service and promote it. In addition to the passengers, there's a steady stream of trucks that swing around the foot of Lake Michigan with farm produce for Chicago and with general merchandise from Chicago.

"A ship can carry passenger cars and trucks for the 60 miles across Lake Michigan cheaper than the vehicles can be driven the 96 miles by highway. That's the situation in a nutshell."

Long in Lake Service.

Capt. Stufflebeam, 47 years old, has been sailing the Great Lakes ever since reaching maturity. He was master of the S. S. Alabama fifteen years ago when it rescued the S. S. Sidney O. Neff that was stuck in the ice for ten days off Chicago. His father was a ship captain and his maternal grandfather, Capt. John McDonough, sank with his lumber ship 62 years ago.

"The automobile and the truck took business from Great Lakes ships just as they took business from the railroads," the captain continued as the Roosevelt plowed across Lake Michigan with 1,900 excursionists aboard. "To recover this business, the ships must adjust themselves to this motor era. Folks want to go places with their cars. It's up to us to make it convenient for them to go across the lake with their automobiles."

The Roosevelt sailed from the Chicago river, just east of the Michigan avenue bridge, at 10 a. m. Somewhat like the scene of an ocean liner's departure, late passengers raced to reach the gang plank, there was much waving of hands between the ship and the shore, and the 2,600 tons eased away from the dock with a deep blast from the ship's whistle.

Crowd Enjoys Dancing.

The shore line of Chicago spread into view, the tall office buildings, skyscrapers, hotels and south side smoke stacks gradually diminishing as distances became greater. Aboard ship, the cosmopolitan crowd enjoyed dancing, eating picnic packages and beer drinking. Young couples and couples not so young sat at the rail with chairs close together—a haven for one armed drivers.

The leisure was in decided contrast to the job hundreds of motorists with the same destination were experiencing in wheeling through the congested streets of Chicago's southeast automobile routes and thence through the industrial districts of northern Indiana before reaching open highway for the drive here.

The dunes of Michigan rose from the eastern horizon while the twenty-eight year old steam ship was still an hour from this port. The 6,000 horsepower engines continued to throb until the mouth of the St. Joseph river was reached. Here, at 2 o'clock, the ship docked near the site where La Salle built Fort Miami in 1679 and the crowd milled ashore for two hours before sailing for the return trip to Chicago.

Cars Head East.

THE TRIBUNE roadster, as well as the other two cars crossing on the steamer, is departing for a trip to the east.

The S. S. Roosevelt has a capacity for but ten automobiles. According to Capt. Stufflebeam, there is but one other ship carrying motor cars out of Chicago, the S. S. Illinois, which plies between Chicago and Muskegon, with a capacity of 65 vehicles.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farm

By Bob Becker

July 8, 1934.

SUNDAY truly is a day of rest and recreation here on the farm. It is on this day that some of the most appreciated pleasures, compensations of country life, are emphasized. This afternoon I covered quite a large part of the acreage of the experimental farm, sharing the Sunday leisure with Louis Thurow, Herman, and some of the other boys who help Clarence Thurow keep things moving on the 1,300 acres. I found that what with going to church, big chicken dinners, maybe a little fishing, watching a ball game in the afternoon, having company in for the day, listening to big league ball over the radio, and just plain loafing, a Sunday on the farm is a pretty fine day. There is an atmosphere of quiet, relaxation, and contentment that seems far removed from noisy, discontented cities and rushing lines of automobiles.

Of course there are chores to be done on Sunday. Out here the custom is to "salt" the cattle on Sunday morning, as Louis describes it. This is the task of checking up to see that the stock has salt blocks in the pasture. When this and the other chores around the barnyard were done, Louis went to Plano to get his SUNDAY TRIBUNE and chat with some of the farmers who invariably come to town in the morning for the same purpose. Louis spent about an hour chatting with the boys in town this morning, swapping notes on the condition of crops, the chinch bug situation and other things. Walter Niles of Plano told Louis that the small red ants were attacking and eating chinch bugs on his farm. Niles watched the ants tackle the bugs and wrestle them around until the latter were killed. After returning from Plano with his paper, Louis placed a big chair in the shade of a tree in his yard and read his paper. There I ran into him when I came to the farm today.

Herman Guenther has company from Aurora for the day. [I could sniff that chicken dinner way out in the yard!] But before the company arrived I noticed that Herman couldn't avoid taking a sort of "busman's holiday." Although there was no work scheduled he decided to fix up a few things around his poultry yard, so he fussed around the coops for more than an hour this morning.

Louis and I debated between going down to the river to see if we could catch a fish and driving over to watch a local ball game. We finally voted for the river trip, so we gathered up some tackle and struck out for the Fox river around 3 o'clock. I noticed that when we got into the shady, fragrant woods along the river we weren't the only ones enjoying Sunday leisure. I could see four of the farm horses dozing in the shade of a big elm, apparently delighted that they had a day off.

When Louis and I reached the edge of the river and found that one hard working fisherman had connected with just a couple of small bass after hours of fishing we decided that we would rather sit in the shade and just talk and smoke rather than hunt bass with a casting rod. So we stretched out on the bank for about an hour and then continued our walk to the western boundary of the farm where we could see the picnickers having a great time in the picnic grounds next to the experimental farm.

On our way back to the house we stopped at the spring in the lower woods for a cool drink, which gave us another excuse to sit under a tree and talk and also listen to a song sparrow singing from a thicket near by.

It seems as if even the animals here on the farm sort of get this Sunday spirit of relaxation. I noticed how the pigs were stretched out in the shade of the barn, every one dead to the world, deep in a Sunday afternoon siesta. And even the red fox, which can be seen every weekday, apparently takes Sunday off!

IDEAS 100 YEARS OLD ARE USED IN CHINCH BUG WAR

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

All the worthwhile methods discovered in the last hundred years are being used by farmers in their effort to save this year's corn crop from the chinch bugs that continue to take their toll in eleven infested states. Artificial methods of combatting this pest have been greatly aided by rains during the past few weeks.

W. P. Flint, chief entomologist of the Illinois Agricultural Experiment station and the National History survey, says that recent rains have put vigor into corn and other crops, contributing materially to the fight farmers are making against the chinch bug. The effective use of chemically treated dust barriers has passed because the first brood in most parts of the infested area have developed wings and can get over obstacles into new fields by flying instead of crawling.

Corn growers are especially warned to maintain the barriers where the bugs are still in the wingless stage and are crawling into fresh territory. Barriers are useless after the pests are able to fly.

"At the present time," Mr. Flint explains, "the bugs are maturing and their appearance may fool the inexperienced observer. As the bugs pass from the last crawling and feeding stage to the wing stage they shed their greyish colored covering. These often lie in masses, resembling bunches of dead chinch bugs. Persons not familiar with this change in the bug's life are deceived and may credit it to something drastic having happened to kill the pests in great swarms. The bugs may take on a pinkish color, often leading farmers to believe they have been attacked by some disease. On the contrary these pink bugs are healthy and ready to lay eggs after a flight to a field where crops are green."

Where timothy is attacked by chinch bugs, as is the case on some farms in the infested states, Mr. Flint advises against plowing up the meadow. Plowing would kill only a small number of the bugs which are not likely to seriously injure the plants. Rains will revive timothy invaded by the bugs.

The station's chief entomologist reports that the University of Illinois is running tests on ten plots over the state in an attempt to determine the resistance of corn to chinch bugs. The feeding of the second brood of pests on these special bug resistant strains will indicate later how valuable they are to farmers.

Blow torches have been tried out as a means of killing the bugs this season. Mr. Flint finds the torch effective if used at a rate slow enough to cremate the chinch bugs. It takes a great amount of heat to kill these insects. The torch can be used in destroying the pests on dust barriers but the flame cannot be played on plants covered with the bugs. The weed burner type of torch is used in destroying the chinch bugs.

LEADERS DIVIDED ON QUESTION OF LIMITING GRADS

New York, July 8.—[Special.]—Leaders in business and the professions are divided on the question whether the United States is turning out too many college graduates, it was indicated today by announcement of the responses made on this subject in connection with the recent first choose-a-career conference, held June 26, 27, and 28 at Newark.

George Bijur, director of the conference, made the responses public without drawing conclusions from them.

The questions asked sought information on whether, in the opinion of those who made replies, college training over-educates a large number of students beyond the requirements of the jobs they will find available and whether college entrance standards and tuition fees should be raised to reduce the number of students.

Many of these qualified their general belief that there is a surplus of college graduates, however, and there were similar qualifications among those who favored the opposed view—that there are not too many college graduates.

Others who answered inclined to the view that the problem was one of providing the proper type of education rather than one of imposing limits on the number of college students.

I will give him the full swing of the patronage of office. I will give him the whole host of ministerial influence. —Richard Brinsley Sheridan.

THE TRUE REPUBLICAN CREED.

Dr. Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin, asks, with many others, what will be the decision of the Republican party. What course will it take as President Roosevelt directs the Democratic party in new economic directions toward new ideals of government? Will it present new alternatives or will it drift with the old laissez faire system?

The answer should not be difficult for Republicans to find. They will, if they are guided by their own history, traditions, doctrines, and instincts, assert again that they form the party of the bill of rights, the party Jefferson founded and the party Lincoln picked up as it fell from the hands of the men who should have inherited it and who dropped it and turned from it.

The bill of rights represents the supreme political desire of English speaking people under government. It is the ideal of the free man and it represents a thousand years of struggle. It has persisted against dynasties and dictators. It has overthrown one after another because it contained the only guaranties people ever have found to protect them from dominance under which they could not endurably live.

Principles do not change, although men in authority may. Chemical reactions are no more certain than the operation of political laws. People may think that material changes in their civilization make fundamental changes in their principles of government, but they are mistaken. If they mix certain ingredients of government today they will get the same results that were the results a hundred years ago or hundreds of years ago.

The bill of rights is as necessary to human life today as it was in the time of Milton and he demanded nothing which was not quite as important, to such as could enjoy it, in the time of Plato. Mankind has not been mistaken in its highest political desires until this year of grace. Neither Europe nor the United States has this year discovered a new salvation.

The bill of rights promises men their freedom under government. It permits them to enjoy unthreatened and unhampered the results of industry, thrift, honesty, and sobriety. It may require that they apply these virtues to their lives, but it protects them. It grants them their property and safeguards their use of it. It keeps them from the invasions of government and puts government under their control. It takes account of the fact that many of the worst miseries people have suffered have come from one form or another of government over which they had no control.

The Republican party was founded to serve the average man. That had been Jefferson's concern when he founded the original Republican-Democratic party. When his party turned from its purposes its successor arose under Lincoln. It in turn began to lose its principles and under Mr. Hoover virtually abandoned them. It is now the time for the Republican party to recover itself. It cannot do so by offering imitative alternatives to the principles of Fascism, Naziism, and communism which seem to be taking root in the Democratic party. It can do so only by returning to itself and becoming again the party which reasserts American liberties as the chief political ideals of the American people. With the great Americans of that creed of every year in American history it can fight and win.

The Democratic party is going Hitlerite, Fascist, or communist. The Republican party, if it is itself, is not.

THE NEW DEAL IN JUSTICE.

In Hitler's Germany judgment of late has been rendered by the prosecutor after he has spent three minutes in denouncing the prisoner.

Mr. B. B. Manaster of Chicago, a jewelry manufacturer, makes, among other things, a kind of tie clasp. An eastern manufacturer named Baer offers a similar article. The easterner has acquired patent rights to the clasp and objects to Mr. Manaster's competition.

Mr. Baer, of course, has a familiar remedy. If his patent is a good one the federal court will award him damages and will enjoin Mr. Manaster from further infringements.

That was the old deal remedy. Under the New Deal Mr. Baer lodged his complaint with the code authority for medium priced jewelry. Mr. Baer is himself a member of that code authority. Strange as it may seem, the complaint of Complainant Baer was upheld by Code Authority Baer's associates.

Mr. Manaster was not impressed and went right on selling the tie clasp. There followed a hearing before an NRA administrative board. Mr. Manaster says he sought to have the hearing postponed but was unsuccessful. Mr. Baer was heard and the NRA board thereupon revoked Mr. Manaster's Blue Eagle. The revocation may not ruin Mr. Manaster, but that is exactly what it is intended to do.

The essence of the judicial process in civilized lands is an impartial court which has no interest in the outcome of the litigation. It will be observed that while there are differences between the judicial methods of Hitler and the NRA, they resemble each other far more than they resemble the civilized administration of justic. Could the President have been thinking of Mr. Manaster when he invited citizens the other night to ask themselves what liberties they had lost?

NAVAL PROGRAMS.

It has been reported from Rome that Italy intends to lay down this year two battleships of 35,000 tons burden each. This will not remove the British proposal for reduction in the size of battleships from the diplomacy of naval limitations. It will, if Italy proceeds to complete these ships, for that would force France into building in the same class. France replied to the building of the German packet battleship, restricted by the terms of the Versailles treaty to 10,000 tons, with the 26,500 tons Dunquerque, carrying a main battery of 13 inch guns, with a speed of 29 knots. Last March France announced another ship of the same class.

But since the experiment of naval agreement began naval program making is not a matter for finance ministers and naval architects merely. A strong fusion of diplomacy has appeared. Programs are made for trading purposes at international conferences, and one of these is now preparing. What the fleets of the five great naval powers, Great Britain, the United States, Japan, France, and Italy, are actually to be depends upon that conference or the negotiations which precede it.

So far as the fate of the battleship is concerned, there is no likelihood of its abolition, although that is favored by the British in theory at least and, short of abolition, reduction in size and armament. In fact, the general direction of British diplomacy as disclosed in the conferences is in favor of smaller ships. The reasons are obvious. With the abolition of the battleships and the reduction in fighting strength and armament of cruisers, the relative preponderance of British naval power would be increased. In other words, Great Britain, with the greatest merchant marine, or more practically the greatest number of fast merchant ships capable of being armed, and with a system of naval bases commanding all the chief lanes of trade and communication of the world, would be free from any serious challenge if the heavier naval ships were ruled off the seas.

British naval diplomacy will therefore persistently press toward this form of limitation. American policy, so long as it regards American conditions and interests, will take the opposite course. Our naval representatives have opposed the abolition or limitation in size of battleships because we need the battle fleet as a counterpoise and also because the battleship is much cheaper in terms of efficiency obtained per dollar spent than any other naval type. As to cruisers, the ships most important for the protection of commerce and communications, our naval authorities have preferred the larger type with heavier guns. This type is preferable because of our lack of naval bases and because of the potential naval strength of the British merchant marine.

British and American conditions are different and therefore British and American policy in naval building and organization must be different. This does not or ought not to involve hostile or ruinously competitive programs. The fundamental interests of both nations lie in the direction of peace and fair accommodation. British diplomacy at the various conferences has not given us much reason to rely upon the latter and we may be certain the British hand will always be played with masterly skill for all it is worth. If we could expect a corresponding skill on the part of our representatives, and in the past on occasions we have had that good fortune, the two governments should be able to coöperate with mutual profit.

Editorial of the Day

[Sioux Falls Argus-Leader.]

Here in South Dakota we read about the notable figures in Washington, magnify them, encircle them with halos, and come subconsciously to treat them in our minds as supermen. Then they come out here and we find they are made of human clay, even as you and I.

Such an introduction seems fitting to a description of the impressions we received at Brookings yesterday while observing and listening to Dr. Rexford G. Tugwell, undersecretary of agriculture and brain truster No. 1.

He didn't wear horns. He didn't have wings. And the crowd of 4,500, it seemed, was a little disappointed. The many farmers and townspeople who had gathered in Brookings had expected to be a bit awed by this wise man from the east. Instead they saw a nice gentleman, charming to be sure, but not much different from many other charming gentlemen. Dr. Tugwell suffered, perhaps, as our stage friends say, from too strong a buildup. The people came prepared for something extraordinary; they saw and heard something quite ordinary.

Three expressions we heard after his speech may be typical of the general reaction. One was: "He's a typical, mild mannered, classroom Socialist." Another was: "A man as harmless looking and anemic as that can't start any revolution." The third was: "He is too short on oratorical ability to inflame any one to revolutionary excitement."

A significant section of his talk was his reference to the necessity for coöperation in the program now under way in order to avoid a dictatorship. This seems to be the theme song of the New Dealers. They say we must take what they are preparing for us or give way to Fascism or involuntary regimentation of some sort or other.

Frankly, that attitude is displeasing to us. It embodies a confession that the old order of things under which America progressed and prospered for 150 years is to be discarded without further consideration.

As the leader of this program, are we to regard Dr. Tugwell as public enemy No. 1 or public friend No. 1? He intends to be the latter. He is eager to be helpful and, it seems, just a wee bit puffed up over the prominence in which he has been basking. In fact, Dr. Tugwell is a man of normal caliber who has been placed upon a pedestal of great prestige and renown. He is now beginning to feel that he belongs there, and it will take the public a little time to realize that he does not.

His deflation, however, is a necessary step in the rescue of the nation from the hands of well intentioned men whose theories are leading us into most dangerous pathways.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

JUNE PROVINES, in an interesting story in her colyum about the correspondent of a Chicago newspaper in Mexico City who was not permitted to file a message to his newspaper although he had all kinds of credentials, reminds me of me. Years ago, after spending two years in the Philippines helping put down Emilio Aguinaldo, I found I had left all my money, some five hundred dinero, in a Filipino horse taxicab (a carramato or carramba or something like that) which took me down to the wharf. I landed in Hongkong without a nickel and hurried down to the cable office, where I wrote a touching appeal for funds which I asked to be sent rush to Chicago. I exhibited my credentials that said I could send any number of words I wished to the paper "collect."

"But your credentials speak of your sending news," said the English clerk; "this is a personal message."

"It will be news to the office," said I, "and very, very bad news, too!"

"It is a personal message," repeated the clerk firmly, "and you are only permitted by your credentials to send news. I cannot send this message collect. You will have to pay for it in advance."

I went out and walked around. It was about the only thing I could do. I went without tiffin, which means luncheon out there, and then I had a quite brilliant idea. I went back to the cable office and wrote another message which I handed to the clerk.

"There," I said, "send that news message collect."

My message read: "Hongkong, June 23.—A very pathetic happening is reported from Manila, which involves both Gen. Aguinaldo and the United States army. A young man, the correspondent of a Chicago newspaper who is now en route home, lost all his money in a carramato and is said to have landed penniless, stone broke, busted and in dire need in Hongkong. If he isn't sent about three hundred dollars in gold at once he will have to sleep in the park and panhandle for food."

"Well, yes," admitted the clerk, "that is a news story. Quite! But what has Aguinaldo and the United States army to do with it?"

"They may have found the money," said I.

"Oh, I see," said the clerk, "quite so! Well, I will send your news message forthwith."

Which he did, and before the day was done I was sitting in the swankiest hotel in Hongkong ordering all they had on the bill of fare.

PRETENDING.

Soon I'll be myself again!
Now I'm just pretending
That I have a hundred coins,
Bright and new, for spending.

I'll not want this clogged-up mind
Voicing prim taboos.
I'll not want this warm safe coat
Nor these heavy shoes.

First I'll buy a silver moon,
Stars to dot the sky,
And a sloping grassy place
Where no shadows lie.

Then I'll buy a slice of breeze,
Blowing fresh and fleet,
For my hair a rainbow and
Swift wings for my feet.

One coin left! I'll buy a word
I've been seeking long
That will hold all lovely things
In a breathless song!

FERRY ADAMS.

"I THOUGHT," said an inebriated gentleman brought before the court charged with driving into an ultra-smart low car of the latest model, "that the darned thing was a wogglebug and I wanted to crush it before it jumped up and climbed down my shirt collar." "Very good," said the judge, "so I will fine you five dollars for cruelty to animals."

AND H. H. K. AND MANY OTHERS write long letters asking me what authority I have for sneering at the use of "proven" instead of "proved." "'Proven' is permissible, according to the dictionary," say they in one triumphant chorus. Yes, some dictionaries. And the number of these dictionaries is growing steadily smaller. But there is nothing in the dictionaries, or the laws, either, that forbids a lady walking down the street chewing a toothpick as so many do. Nor is it immoral to pour one's coffee in the saucer and drink it very noisily. Nor is it a felony to eat one's pie with one's knife. As John Wesley once said to a sinner he had just converted and who asked him if a man could chew tobacco and still be a Christian, "Why, yes, a dirty Christian." There are lots of things that are permissible that really nice people don't do.

THE HAND.

It is always sad with flowers
That have not long to live,
And it is so with people's hands
That seek and find and give.

So being born and bred for love
The slender stems of bone
Decry a dreadful autumn breath
That has forever blown.

It is always sad with flowers—
Some hand will pluck the best,
And it is so with that huge Hand
That puts our hands to rest.

CLEAN SWIMMING POOLS.

EVERY one should know how to swim. In recent years there has been a great increase in the popularity of swimming for exercise and recreation. As a result, hundreds of swimming pools have been constructed and bathing beaches on public waters have been planned and equipped.

Of those who frequent the waters of public swimming pools or beaches all are not equally clean. Some may carry disease. Unless the water is purified by some chemical agent or is changed with great frequency such persons constitute a possible source of infection for others. In spite of crowding, if the water is constantly being aerated through the breaking of waves, there is comparatively little danger, for the organic matter from the bodies of bathers is oxidized with fair rapidity. In a quiet pool, however, the danger increases with the concentration of bathers.

Too few persons live in the vicinity of unpolluted lakes or along our ocean coast lines, and municipal, school, and private pools must be relied upon to furnish the larger proportion of our population with bathing facilities. In order to avoid infection all pools must be closely watched for too high a concentration of bacteria. The water must be changed or disinfected and the pool cleaned at frequent intervals.

Some form of chlorine serves as a satisfactory bathing pool disinfectant. The organic material, however, from the bodies of bathers rapidly absorbs chlorine so that a pool that is perfectly safe at two in the afternoon, if generously used, may be dangerous a few hours later. Hence, chlorine should be added during the use of the pool in such amounts as may be required.

An actual test of a supposedly clean bathing pool that had been chlorinated resulted as follows:

10 a. m., 6 bathers, no colon bacilli present.
11 a. m., 16 bathers, no colon bacilli present.
2 p. m., 117 bathers, few colon bacilli present.
3 p. m., 150 bathers, dangerous number of colon bacilli present.

At 10 a. m. the pool in question had an ample supply of chlorine; by 3 p. m. the chlorine had been exhausted by organic substances from bathers' bodies. In spite of the increased number of bathers this pool could have been maintained in a perfectly safe condition had a small amount of chlorine been added about 1 o'clock.

Bathers are unable to keep water out of the mouth, nose, ears, and eyes, and many of the intestinal infections that result may be due to the inadvertent swallowing of pool water. Among the disorders directly traceable to bathing pools are skin diseases, epidemic sore throat, and infections of the intestinal tract, eye, ear, and sinuses. If the water is polluted the wearing of cotton plugs in the ears will not prevent ear infection, as bacteria reach the middle ear by way of the throat.

The sanitation of public swimming pools is a difficult problem. Because of the presence of so many infections, public health authorities are justified in seeking adequate funds in order that the health of those using public bathing facilities may be properly safeguarded.

Many of us who frequented the old swimming hole wonder how we escaped serious infection. We have probably forgotten the running ear that John had one summer and the epidemic of sore throats with which we were all afflicted one particularly hot season when the swimming hole was in great demand.

T. B. OF KIDNEY.

C. M. writes: My husband has tuberculosis in the right kidney, and he has been advised that the only cure is to have this kidney removed. Would it help him to go on a strict diet? Is there any other cure besides operation? He is taking ultraviolet treatments as our doctor thought this would help to build him up. He is 55 years old and has never used liquor or tobacco.

REPLY.

Surgical removal is the wise procedure. As long as the infected kidney remains in the body it constitutes a source from which tuberculosis may spread to other parts of the body. Diet will help build the general resistance of the patient; so will ultraviolet or sunshine.

ADRENALIN.

Mrs. M. C. writes: Can you tell me in what year adrenalin was first used?

REPLY.

In 1894 G. Oliver and E. A. Schaefer first demonstrated the specific effect of an extract of the adrenal glands. In 1896 epinephrin was isolated from the medulla by A. Frankel. J. J. Abel in 1899 confirmed its origin and specific action. In 1901 D. J. Takamine prepared adrenalin for commercial use.

BLUE BABIES.

M. B. B. writes: I want to give you some personal data on blue babies. In 1899 four blue babies were born, two white and two Negro. I was the only one to live, and for weeks I had to be spanked to expand my lungs. I began school at the age of 6, but poor health prevented me from going regularly. When I was nearly 9 years old I was taken out of public school and put in a private school for a year. This happened again when I was older. All this time I was subject to fainting spells.

Then my health began to improve and I married at the age of 21, and at 22 became the mother of a normal baby girl with perfect ease and without chloroform. Five years later I gave birth to another baby girl with less pain than with the first.

My health continues to improve and the fainting spells have become less frequent. I do all my housework and anything else I want to do. You stated that blue babies rarely reach school age, but you see I did better than that.

REPLY.

Congratulations. Many blue babies do not live. Others remain in excellent health and live to a ripe old age. The opening between the auricles of the heart gradually closed in your case with normal growth.

WAGE PAYMENTS.

Chicago, July 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. How often are restaurants and cafeterias required to pay their help? My employer figures wages by the month and pays semi-monthly. However, he has not paid for nearly two months. 2. The employer says he is entitled to hold back one month. According to Illinois law, when a place of business closes [3] is the employer required to pay all of the back wages or [4] only two weeks thereof? A. H.

1. Under Illinois statute, corporations are required to pay twice a month.
2. There is no such rule. If at any time he does not pay you the full amount owing to you under your contract you could start court proceedings against him.
3. Yes, wages earned within three months are a preferred claim to the extent of $600.
4. There is no such limit.

GUARANTY POLICY.

Chicago, July 5.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My husband and I are the owners of some property in Illinois and have a title guaranty policy on this property. 1. Does this mean that the property is always worth what we paid for it? The property is paid for. Three weeks ago some real estate men came to us and [2] said they were going to buy all the property back again. They had a very poor excuse for doing this, and as I did not bring my papers to them they said they thought they could do nothing for me. 3. Any advice you may be able to give me will be appreciated. W. H.

1. It means that the title company has agreed to pay a specified sum of money if the legal title should prove not to be good. It has nothing to do with the market value of the property.
2. If you have a good title now you are not obliged to sell it back unless you desire to do so. You do not give us the facts to determine whether such a transaction would be advantageous.
3. It is not clear what advice you desire, but your letter indicates such a basic lack of understanding of the entire situation that we advise you to go over your facts in a personal interview with an attorney.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FRIEND OF THE INSURED

HAZARDS.

Chicago, June 9.—[Friend of the Insured.]—For the last six years five of our family have carried the much advertised accident policies issued by the newspapers, and in all this time never had but one claim, which was immediately denied by the company for the reason that the car we were riding in was not completely demolished. Our car was stopped at a stop street when violently struck from behind by another car, and although our rear bumper was all that was damaged the shock was so severe that my son's head was thrown through the windshield and required twelve stitches and the loss of seven weeks from work, yet the insurance adjuster said the policy did not cover the accident. Can you tell me just what kind of an accident would be covered under one of these trick policies? I have many acquaintances who would be glad to know the same thing. A. H. P.

The low cost of the usual newspaper accident policy must necessarily limit the coverage to travel, automobile, pedestrial and enumerated special accidents. A typical policy of this kind provides insurance against loss or disability resulting directly, independently and exclusive of all other causes effected through accidental means, or by the wrecking and disablement of the conveyance in which the insured was riding. Wrecking and disablement are usually defined in the policy to mean that the car in which the injured was riding necessitated repairs before it could be removed from the scene of the accident. This clause may be justified in a low cost policy of this kind for the reason that the moral hazard constitutes as high as 90 per cent of the risk assumed. By moral hazard is meant those factors affecting the desirability of the risk that are not of a physical nature, and includes the personal habits of an individual as well as his past record as to integrity, carefulness, past insurance claims. The risks involving a known unfavorable moral hazard are considered uninsurable by insurance companies. Any one with a correct conception of automobile, accident and health coverages will readily appreciate the major importance of this hazard. Companies writing this class of business must necessarily protect themselves against this distrustful loss ratio by means of certain provisions and clauses.

UNCLE SAM AS A COMPETITOR.

Duquoin, Ill., July 5.—Have you perused the graphic arts code recently put into effect by Mr. Johnson?

One item especially intrigues me. The code provides that the printer charge his customers $5.50 for a thousand 6¾ envelopes costing the printer $1.80 per thousand.

Now Postmaster General Farley, the government's super-salesman of printing and other things, will sell you an envelope of practically the same grade for $22.48 with a 2 cent stamp attached, making the thousand envelopes cost the customer $2.48, less than half what the printer must charge or be fined and imprisoned to such an extent as may suit the pleasure of the presiding judge. Now Mr. Farley employs thousands of salesmen to sell his product. Every mail carrier, clerk, and postmaster will take your order. They will be delivered to your office or residence, all transportation charges paid by Mr. Farley, which is a considerable item in view of the fact that they originate in Ohio.

This isn't a new deal. It's just a resurrection of piracy on the high seas, a sort of glorification of Capone racketeering methods. And the administration tells us that we may not like it but that it is good for us in the long run. But I've a weak heart and can't run very well. R. R. KIMBRO.

WE GROW MORE SUBTLE.

Chicago, July 6.—In an article entitled "Big Investment Unit Profits in Changing Days," appearing on the financial page of today's TRIBUNE, your Mr. Howard Wood calls attention to the annual fiscal report of Lehman Brothers of New York. He makes mention of the fact that Dr. Alexander Sachs resigned his post with the NRA to resume his position as economist for Lehman Brothers.

Many other financial houses are able to show a profitable report for the last twelve months. I venture to say that were it not for the fact that Gov. Lehman is close to the President, and that Dr. Sachs was once affiliated with the NRA, your paper would not have been so interested in the affairs of Lehman Brothers.

I fail to see why Gov. Lehman's picture illustrates the article when Mr. Wood himself points out that:

> Gov. Herbert H. Lehman of New York formerly was a partner of Lehman Brothers. He resigned several years ago when he ran for lieutenant governor of New York. . . .

The foregoing merely represents an attempt to further discredit President Roosevelt and his administration. In this instance you have been more subtle than on previous occasions, but your tactics are nevertheless quite clear. Rest assured that your attitude toward Franklin D. Roosevelt and your underhand attempts to thwart the benefits he intends for the American people are disgusting untold thousands. Your propaganda can not harm the President, but it will be more harmful than you imagine to the future of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

S. B. KOMAIKO.

A LICENSE TO RIOT.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 2.—I have been a constant reader of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE for more than forty years past and place a great deal of credence upon its contents, and especially have I read with a great deal of satisfaction your editorials.

Last Friday there appeared an editorial in THE TRIBUNE under the heading "A License to Riot" which I take the liberty of correcting. As a matter of fact, I happened to be in the courtroom at that time on some other matters and listened to the whole proceedings. You state that Judge A. J. Hedding disposed of the arrests made in a manner as follows:

> Men and women who destroyed property, fought with the police, challenged them to arrest, and did their best to provoke the reckless and excited crowds into actual mob violence were dismissed without penalty or fined $1 or $5 or at the most $25.

Now, this statement is absolutely false and untrue. No such action took place in that court on that day. Not one single case such as you have referred to came before Judge Hedding for trial as you have described in your editorial. All of those that were charged as described in your editorial adjourned their cases until July 16 and 17, and were all placed under $500 bail, and no trial was had.

There were some defendants in court that were charged under a city ordinance with disorderly conduct, which ordinance provides for a penalty from $5 to $25, but they do not fall within the criticism made by you of the court's action.

THE FOX RIVER.

Elgin, Ill., June 30.—The Elgin chapter of the Izaak Walton league has requested me to write to you and express its appreciation for a recent article which appeared in your paper.

This article gave to your readers a very comprehensive picture of the unsightly and unhealthy condition of the Fox river in and near Elgin during the dry season. The picture printed on the pictorial page was a very true one of the condition which does exist in this locality.

We have been trying for years to convince the proper public officials and our own citizens of the necessity for beautification, sanitation and conservation in the Fox river valley. We feel that you have already done much for us in our campaign, for which we are very grateful, and will appreciate any further assistance you may render us through your fine paper. W. E. BOSWELL,

OUR SECRET AMBITION

Give, and You Will Enjoy Your Vacation More.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

Here is a suggestion to TRIBUNE readers who expect to spend part of today with heads bent enthusiastically over alluring vacation folders of snow capped mountains, packhorse trips along canyon trails, and rushing streams where wait the speckled trout. As you compute the anticipated vacation costs, simply add $9.

When the eventful day draws nigh and the checks are written or the savings withdrawn, simply slip that extra $9 check or money order into an envelope and address it to the Camp Algonquin fund, cashier of THE TRIBUNE, Tribune Tower. The $9 will give a needy mother or child a full two weeks at the Fox river vacationland which TRIBUNE readers for many years have helped support.

Mrs. Astrid Save, superintendent of Camp Algonquin, revealed yesterday that $9 is sufficient to finance a two week vacation for each person.

What $9 Brings a Mother.

What reader will not find his annual trip the more exhilarating because he has made possible at so small an expense, two whole weeks of real living for a less fortunate fellow Chicagoan?

For $9 Camp Algonquin gives mothers their own comfortable white beds in the airy dormitories. For the first time since their children were born they won't have to think whether the baby is covered, or whether Johnnie has come in off the street. In other cottages the children dwell, safe under the care of counselors.

During the day the mothers have parties and sewing bees, or hikes; or if they like they take pole and line and try their luck for an early morning string of fish from the river.

Free Ice Fund Needs Cash.

They enter into plays and entertainments with more enthusiasm, almost, than their children. And presently dull eyes become bright, sagging shoulders straighten.

For children, too, the strain of poverty is lifted. They forget about jobs or illness, or the father who gave up and disappeared.

For two weeks they play hard, eat balanced, wholesome meals, and become brown as berries.

Gifts to make these two week vacations possible, or to help small children and invalids whose health depends on fresh milk, or ice packs, should be mailed to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE, Tribune Tower, marked "for Camp Algonquin fund" or "for The Tribune free ice fund."

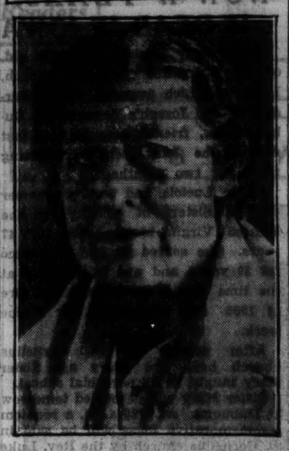

ST. PAUL'S POLICE SQUAD FORMED TO ATTACK VICE

St. Paul, Minn., July 8.—(AP)—H. E. Warren, new commissioner of public safety who has charge of the police department, today created a new vice squad with orders to "clean up" St. Paul."

The squad will report directly to M. J. Culligan, Warren's deputy commissioner, and Thomas Dahill, acting chief of police, will have nothing to do with its activities.

Is was said to be the first time in the city's history that a unit over which the chief has no control has been set up in the police department. The new squad of five men will have general orders to ferret out violators of the law. Its members, Culligan said, were chosen because of their knowledge of vice conditions "and of police characters and crooks."

DELINQUENT TAX COLLECTIONS UP 400 PCT. IN 1934

County Drive Brings In $1,726,552.

Collections of delinquent personal property taxes through filing of court actions have amounted to $1,726,552 for the first six months of the year, State's Attorney Courtney reported yesterday. This amount represents an increase of more than 400 per cent over the collections for the same period in 1933 when $327,739 was turned over to the county.

The increase was explained by Assistant State's Attorney William J. Touhy as due to the drive made by the state's attorney's office, cooperating with the court, in bringing to trial the suits against delinquents. Before April, 1933, the county board had hired attorneys to file suits to collect delinquent taxes.

36,270 Cases Closed.

For the year ending July 1 36,270 cases were disposed of in the courts with the collection of $3,033,204 in delinquent taxes, Mr. Touhy stated. The collections by months for this year follow:

January	$286,098
February	265,932
March	209,733
April	228,980
May	229,164
June	446,666

Judge John Prystalski, who has been hearing the tax cases in Circuit court, reported that during the last five months 8,122 cases had been heard and disposed of. This virtually assures a clean docket in tax cases for the fall term of court.

City Gets Five Million Today.

County Treasurer Thomas D. Nash yesterday announced he would turn over $8,000,000 in tax collections today to tax spending bodies. The city will receive $5,000,000, and the remainder will go to the 144 tax spending bodies of the county. In the last four days the treasurer has distributed $15,000,000 to local governments. Collections of 1932 taxes at the close of the treasurer's office Saturday noon totaled $35,787,000. Of this $32,247,000 will have been paid out when today's distributions are made, he said.

BIG BRIDGE YEAR UNDER WAY AT SAN FRANCISCO

Six Months Ahead on 75 Million Project.

San Francisco, Cal., July 8.—(AP)—One of San Francisco's two great bridge projects, the 75 million dollar span across the bay to Oakland will be a year under way tomorrow with construction six months ahead of schedule.

Work on the project, originally set for completion in January, 1937, was started July 9, 1933. President Roosevelt pressed a button in Washington to set off the first dynamite charges and former President Herbert Hoover turned the first spade of earth on Yerba Buena island, midway in the bay.

Since then immense foundation piers have been sealed to bedrock far beneath the bay's surface and the first of the mighty towers has risen above the water front.

A few miles away a rivaling tower marks the progress on the 35 million dollar Golden Gate bridge, also started in 1933 and scheduled for completion by 1937.

The first year of work on the San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge, which will stretch 8¼ miles between the two cities through a central anchorage and tunnel on Yerba Buena islands, ends with 7,238 men employed directly on the various units.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., July 8.—(AP)—Mendel Beilis, 63, known as the martyr of Russia's Jewry, is dead.

Stricken with a heart attack late yesterday in a hotel, where he arrived Thursday for the summer to take baths in Saratoga's mineral waters as he had for the previous five years, Beilis died en route to a hospital. The body was sent to Zion Memorial chapel in New York City.

He came into public notice in 1913 when, during a movement for parliamentary government in Russia, he was charged with the murder of a Christian boy.

After an investigation, however, the police chief in Kiev, Russia, decided the boy had been killed by members of a criminal gang to make him admit he had told authorities about the gang's activities.

The Russian government, following an anti-Semitic policy, was eager to pin the crime on a Jew as "a ritual murder." Beilis was arrested and the police chief resigned, declaring he had found no evidence against the man.

Beilis, after months of confinement in jail, was acquitted by a jury. Members of his race sent him to Palestine and installed him on a farm.

He left there in 1918 to come to the United States, where he has resided since. His arrival in New York created considerable attention and he later published a book of his experiences.

BELIEVE BODY FOUND IN WEST IS CHICAGOAN

A body believed to be that of Howard E. Webber, 38, who for the past year and a half had lived at the Allen apartments, 766 Oakwood boulevard, was found late Saturday on the Navajo Indian reservation, near Winslow, Ariz.

Webber, who was a writer on economics, left Chicago in February for Japan. He arrived in Winslow June 14, by passenger plane, registered at a hotel, went out for a walk and did not return.

Notes found in Webber's baggage indicated he had "intended to disappear," and asked that Mrs. Harriet Herniman, manager of the Allen apartments, and the Commercial bank of Chicago be notified. A will, also found in his luggage, left his estate to Ida May Poore and Josephine Lovejoy Denicke, whom authorities believe to be relatives. Mrs. Herniman said she did not know the nature of the relationship.

Mrs. Herniman said she had received several postcards from Webber since he left in February.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Laid low by influenza a few days ago Josef Koestner had recovered sufficiently yesterday to give assurance that he would be able to conduct the orchestra which will furnish the musical portion of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's first broadcast tonight on her new commercial series. The program, which is sponsored by a bed maker will go on the air at 9 o'clock tonight over WENR-NBC from the Globe theater at Merrie England at the Fair. The sponsor will have as guests at the broadcast several hundred leading merchants from many parts of the nation.

JOSEF KOESTNER. [Seymour Photo.]

Mrs. Roosevelt will comment on the news of the day, somewhat after the fashion of Edwin C. Hill and Lowell Thomas. The first lady will also discuss some of the uses of leisure.

Koestner was formerly accompanist for Claire Dux, the opera and concert singer. He currently directs the orchestra on NBC's "Musical Memories" hour and the Sunday Sentinels' concert.

Herman Felber Jr., first violinist with the Koestner unit, musical director at WLS and newly chosen conductor of the Kalamazoo Symphony orchestra, will be renewing a wartime acquaintance with Mrs. Roosevelt tonight. When President Roosevelt was assistant secretary of the navy Mr. Felber was in charge of the band and orchestra on the U. S. S. George Washington. The future President used this vessel in trips to Europe and Mrs. Roosevelt became interested in a string quartet Felber had organized and came to watch rehersals several times, Felber recalled.

The announcer for the program is Gene Rouse.

Frank Buck, who brought 'em [a new cargo of reptiles, small animals and birds] back alive to Chicago yesterday will join Amos 'n' Andy at 6:45 tonight on their broadcast as guest. Buck will be heard a few minutes each evening this week with the comedians giving previews of his own radio show which supplants Amos 'n' Andy a week from tonight.

Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club, will discuss the war on auto accidents as it is being waged by the Safety league, over W-G-N at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Bridle Paths Luring Society to Outdoors

Barrington Riding Club Is Feted by Kenyons.

BY JUDITH CASS.

NOW that the rains have fallen and turned the countryside green and laid the dust on country roads, gentlemen farmers and their wives and families are once more enjoying riding on horseback. In and about the suburbs of Chicago there are many attractive places where it is pleasant to ride, and among the pleasantest of these havens is Barrington where the Riding club has laid out miles of bridle paths that wind over the rolling hills, through cool, shady woods and sometimes right across a prominent neighbor's back lawn.

The Riding club itself is a most informal organization, with a membership of horse-loving Barrington residents for whose use the bridle paths are reserved. The club meets about every second or third Sunday. The riders assemble at a member's house, ride for a couple of hours and meet again at another member's home for a buffet supper or luncheon, depending on the hour, and possibly a swim in the pool if the host's home boasts one. As soon as the pool at the Barrington Hills Country club is completed on July 20, the club will end its weekly rides there.

Richmond Kenyons Hosts at Supper.

There are about 40 members in the club, but the average turnout for any one meet is about 18 or 20. Last night Mr. and Mrs. Richmond Kenyon entertained the club at a buffet supper after the evening's ride.

The John R. Cardwells and their daughter, Miss Virginia Cardwell, the Frank Johnstons, Harlan Canby, Donald Bateman, the John B. Barnses, the Jevne Haugans, and the Paul Corbetts [Barbara Bateman] are among the regular riders. Mrs. Haugan, Miss Cardwell, Miss Elizabeth Van Hagen, Mrs. Bertram J. Grigsby and Mrs. Mark Smith are the "entertainment committee" for the club. Miss Pauline Seipp, who is on a North Cape cruise at the moment, the Robert Buckleys and their son and daughter, Bobby Buckley and Miss Mary Grubbs, and Col. John Roberts are other regulars.

The Riding club usually has a gymkhana each year. Last year it was held on the polo field at the Haugan's Revonah farms, and it will be held there again this year around the end of August.

Open Todd Theater Festival Thursday.

Many Chicago and north shore socialites will be journeying northwestward next Thursday evening for the opening of the Todd Theater festival in the quaint old town of Woodstock. The opera house, with its shades of civil war days and horsehair seats, will be the scene of the opening performance of "Trilby." Orson Welles, Miss Louise Prussing, Hilton Edwards, and Michael MacLiammoir will have the leading parts in this classic thriller, one of three plays which will provide dramatic entertainment for Chicagoland this summer.

Paris Fashionable World Gathers at 'White Night' Fete

PARIS, July 8.—(AP)—In a garden once part of an estate belonging to the last king of France, the fashionable world gathered here for "the White Night"—the most brilliant fête Paris has staged in years—recalling the splendors of French kings.

The fête unrolled in the Italian garden of the Venetian villa owned by M. and Mme. Adrien Fauchier-Magnan, modeled after the villas which the Italian architect Palladio built for the doges of Venice. It was given under the auspices of the Committee of the Seasons of Paris as a highlight of the festivities of the gay summer season.

Ambassadors, princes, and the aristocracy of France were grouped on the steps of the villa.

Mme. Ganna Walska, whose gown was white satin, wore a diadem of emeralds and five strand necklace of the same shimmering green stones.

Protestant Women.

The Protestant Women's Service club is sponsoring a tour of the Century of Progress grounds tomorrow for members and their guests. The party will assemble at 11 o'clock at the Illinois Host house for a lecture by Paul H. Douglas of the University of Chicago, and luncheon will follow in the Hall of Religion tearoom.

Mode Decrees Halter 'Round Stylish Necks

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Midsummer madness ahead! Exaggerated Latin Quarter tams of satin or velvet slouched way down over the eyebrow; big discs of black velvet corded and stitched for decoration that make the biggest headlines in town; or the big, dashing, flat, sailorish things of inky black velvet on top, dramatically faced with snowy white faille or dull crêpe.

Hang a halter around your neckline if you want to be properly fashion harnessed this summer. You'll find them in piques in every bright color you need—clever things to make you chuckle, just for your lighter moods in gay sports clothes. These halters are really a much cut down blouse, totally sleeveless, with just a strap around the neck, which gives them the name.

White models have a diagonal row of scarlet airplanes streaking across the chest in navy blue with white. Another has navy blue tennis rackets appliqued in the lower center. Still another that will make you dizzy has an archery target securely sewed in the middle of the chest, all in fun and nothing to take too seriously.

For the travelers with limited budgets there are some delightfully low priced synthetic silk pajamas in very small pin checks. You'll find them in navy and white, brown and white, green and white, and dull red with white. They are well tailored with high collarlines, pockets, trim silhouettes and longish sleeves, perfect finds for the gad-about.

Good Morning!

A surprise—to discover that Vicki Baum, who authored "Grand Hotel," is responsible for the scenario of "I Give My Love!"

WYNNE GIBSON.

It is the tritest sort of tear wringer, in which able players struggle valiantly with banal dialog and situations.

The heroine is an artists' model who poses for a life class in order that her worthless young artist husband may get ahead. The teacher, Paul Vadja, appreciates Judy—and the situation—and has small use for her spouse.

The blot on civilization known as Alex Blair finally deserts Judy and the class—after having unwillingly posed for Vadja's bronze of "Ambition," in which he is the main figure, while Judy, kneeling, is seen as the woman who pushes him on. [I mention the bronze because it has bearing on subsequent events.]

He finally enlists to go to Mexico and returns to Vadja's studio for a bit of braggadocio. Here he discovers Judy with her baby—and his—though he prefers to believe that Vadja, who has befriended Judy, is the father.

She's tried, and convicted of murder and sentenced to life.

But Vadja, who has learned to love her, and Bogey, his best friend—and, apparently, an important man about town—leave no stones unturned to procure her freedom. At her earnest request her son, Paul, is told that the artist is his father and that his mother is dead. . . .

Ten years pass and the pardon is obtained. Judy comes to Vadja's home. The idea is that she and he will marry. But the boy rebels at this stranger's taking his dear, dead mother's place. . . . Judy goes away to drink gin and suffer, and, finally, in Paris, by a strange string of circumstances, again be connected with the life she had so nobly left.

"When I give my love—I give all," had said Judy—truly.

Wynne Gibson plays Judy emotionally. Paul Lukas is fine and sincere as Vadja. John Darrow gives a worthy portrayal of a cad. Eric Linden as the lad, Paul, grown, is appealing. Otherwise I thought the picture without distinction.

Minna Gombell Makes Good as Filmland Wife

Husband Gives Her New Marital Contract.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

Hollywood, Cal., July 8.—[Special.]—Minna Gombell, motion picture comedienne, made such a good marital showing during her first or probationary year as Mrs. Joseph W. Sefton Jr. that her husband, San Diego, Cal., banker, presented her with a duly notarized paper stating that she was released from the requirements of their contract governing her first year as Mrs. Sefton.

The couple entered matrimony with full agreement that Minna should continue her career in Hollywood while Sefton, of course, has to spend most of his time with his bank, the San Diego Trust, and his ranching interests in the southernmost tip of California.

So when they got married in May, 1933, Sefton drew up a legal document which he notarized specifying that Miss Gombell should be privileged to go out between the hours of 3 p. m. and 1 a. m. with any unattached male of her choice [to Hollywood parties and gathering places] as long as business kept the husband, Joe, and wife, Minna, apart. Minna's residence in her own individual apartment in Hollywood was regularized.

Last week, just before Miss Gombell left for a solo vacation trip to Honolulu, friend husband presented her with a new legal document supplanting the first one.

Hugh Walpole is out of the hospital, recovered from sinus trouble. Jim Mitchell, most popular reporter who ever covered the "Hollywood beat" [doings of studios and movie people], and who contracted a wasting illness, is being attended with no strain on resources already sapped by his family's fight against his illness in a hospital room endowed by Joan Crawford. "My Grandfather's Clock," a two reel novelty film detective story, is being produced at M-G-M in rime and rhythm.

Viola Curwood, daughter of the late novelist, Oliver Curwood, has had police, neighbors, friends, and all kinds of volunteers keeping things stirred up in search for her four year old wire terrier Flipper. Miss Curwood is a professional painter of animal pictures and Flipper posed as her model for many works.

Charlotte Henry [Alice in Wonderland] is cast as star in another screen fantasy as Little Bo-Peep in "Babes in Toyland," which Hal Roach studio is making with the Victor Herbert music. Laurel and Hardy are in it, and so are Henry Hleinbach, 22 year old heavy in the Hollywood 370 day [and still unfinished] stage run of "The Drunkard"; Felix Knight, young tenor who was finalist in a national radio audition contest, and Virginia Karns, girl soprano from a Los Angeles night club.

Edward G. Robinson has been signed by Columbia to play a dual rôle, that of a notorious criminal and of the clerk who closely resembles the public enemy in "Jail Breaker."

Le Clair, U. S. N., of Newport, guest of the hosts' daughter, Miss Helen Defrees, who will be a debutante the coming season.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

Christopher Marlowe, the Elizabethan dramatist who stands next to Shakespeare in critical esteem, now has a place in the répertoire of the Globe theater at the Fair. A version of his most famous work, "Doctor Faustus," condensed but fairly copious of text, was staged last night as the seventh production of this popular experiment in reviving the plays of the Tudor period according to the stage technique for which they were written. It fits into the Globe's program in stirring style.

Every one who has fulfilled the requirements in English literature of a high school course has heard of "Doctor Faustus." The chances of any one's seeing a performance of the play, however, in this generation are about one in a million. This production, therefore, has value as a curiosity.

In addition, "Doctor Faustus" contains some of the most gorgeous speeches in English dramatic literature. Marlowe was no match for Shakespeare as a practical man of the theater with a genius for "situation," but the soaring eloquence of his "mighty line," especially in grandiose passages, places him close to his great successor.

The work reveals itself, in this fast moving production, as a fascinating treatment of the most popular devil legend of medieval times. Its frank supernaturalism, its evocations of fiends, evil spirits and apparitions, will appeal to simple playgoing tastes, while the whole background of the work excites the imagination of the scholar.

The showboat Dixiana, whose hard luck with the city officials has become a legend of the Chicago river, is being groomed for operation within the next few weeks. Its company of melodrama actors has been reassembled and is rehersing old time thrillers.

WHEN the Gads Hill benefit dance was held recently at the Skokie Country club, the head resident made arrangements with some Mexican musicians to play special music for the occasion.

"Do I bring the sax?" inquired Señor Castellano, one of the musicians.

"No," Miss Austin, head resident, told him. "Remember last year you had a marimba and guitars, for they wanted all Mexican music."

"O yes," agreed the Mexican. "Now I remember. All best peoples there, no need to take sax for hot music. Best peoples always hot."

Miss Austin included this bit about the Mexican's summary of the best people in the report she turned in that the sum of $907.87 had been netted by the dance.

NOTE to fishermen. Ernest Hemingway, who is an expert fisherman, writes from Key West to a friend in Chicago, Arnold Gingrich, also a fishing enthusiast, about sailfishing as follows:

"Have found out something about sailfish. They are in definite places. It's not only a question of current but of bottom. You can troll fifty miles, and opposite three spots—say—you will hem a strike. All right if you work around any of those three spots you may get five or six strikes. That is the way we fish them now instead of making long runs. Have caught more already in June than Pirates' Cove Fishing camp and all the Key West guide boats caught all winter. You shouldn't just fish blindly in the ocean any more than in a stream. You can know the damned gulf stream like a trout stream. . . . The holes, the eddies, the shallows are all there. Only you can't see them. . . ."

ANACHRONISTIC note [as glimpsed by Gail Chase]. Two sub-debs sitting on the bench outside the Old North Church in the Colonial Village at the Fair, their legs crossed, impiously smoking cigarets. They would have been put in the pillory in colonial days.

OUR piece the other day about Buddy Rogers' spectacular costume—gray tweed coat with brass buttons, checked trousers and black tie and handkerchief—brought in a letter about an outfit that makes the handsome Mr. Rogers' costume look conservative. George Howard writes that he saw Crane Gilbert wearing a suit of baby blue whipcord, with a pale white corded stripe, a baby blue shirt, tie, and handkerchief to match, and socks and shoes of baby blue. He had with him a baby blue camel's hair coat with pearl buttons.

An evening or so later Mr. Gilbert was at a table in the Spanish café at A Century of Progress, sitting with the Duncan sisters and Paul Ash and Bill Hubert, and he wore a similar outfit except that it was pale gray. Everything pale gray—including the camel's hair coat and cane.

"If Mr. Crane is a shining example of what the Hollywood and New York tragedian wears, my God, how do the heroes dress?" wails Mr. Howard.

Museum Curator Writes Piece on Poisonous Woods

Poisoning which may be caused by various tropical and domestic woods is discussed in an article by Llewelyn Williams, assistant curator of economic botany at the Field museum, in the July issue of the Field Museum News.

Proximity to a poisonous tree in some cases may be sufficient to poison a person, Mr. Williams said. In other cases smoke from the burning branches of the mango, poison sumach, poison ivy, or Japanese lacker tree may be enough to cause poisoning, the article points out.

Among the domestic trees whose rosinous acids in a free state may cause inflammation of the skin are listed the poplar, yew, black alder, paper birch, pencil cedar, white pine, Norway pine, redwood, Norway spruce, Sitka spruce, Port Orford cedar, and arbor vitæ. Specimens of these as well as several more virulent tropical woods are on exhibition in the museum.

SOMEBODY MUST

New Novel by ALICE GRANT ROSMAN

12. MINTON, BALCH

THE WRONG MAN

BY MAY EDGINTON

SYNOPSIS.

Cara Follette, only daughter of a Canadian business man, anticipates becoming her father's partner. While traveling in Europe she meets Jerry Flint, a poor young singer. She stakes him to Toronto, where she can get him auditions impossible for him to gain abroad. Benjamin Follette and his wife, Anny, had grown apart in the years he was busy becoming successful. Now Follette is about to lose his business to his rival, Redman Harmer. Harmer recently returned from Europe, where he saw and fell in love with Cara. He tells Follette. When Cara returns home her father tells her of his failure and urges her to meet Harmer. It would mean much to him and he likes Harmer. Cara thinks she loves Jerry. She decides to go up northwest to Mulligan's camp for a month to think it over. Meanwhile no one is to get an inkling of their business troubles. Jerry follows and joins her on the way. Harmer hears of Cara's plans from her father. He flies to Mulligan's ahead of her and hires the place from Dan Mulligan for a month and the use of his name. He meets Cara and Jerry as Mulligan. After three days Jerry is fed up with camp life. He tricks Cara into leaving with him. They become lost in the wilds. Jerry's true character is revealed to Cara when she confesses her father's failure. Harmer comes to their rescue. He sends Jerry on his way back to Toronto. Harmer, as Mulligan, wins Cara's love. Cara is anxious to overtake Jerry for fear of harm to Follettes by what she has told him. Harmer starts on the return trip with her. Cara tells him she is going to marry for money.

INSTALMENT XLIII.

LOVE RIDING BESIDE HER.

Cara felt wrapped with enchantment like a mantle the fairies had hung close about her shoulder, and she extracted all sensation from its touch. Because she was young, she was able to put away sadness while the mantle enfolded her. Because she was young she was defiant with life, extracting every minute's happiness, and now refusing to pay until she must. "Not yet! Not yet!" said her heart. It was not quite yet that she would look her last upon Mulligan the hunter. Wouldn't it be irony if perhaps that unknown Redman Harmer might say to her one married day: "My dear, there's a wonderful camp out beyond the Peace river country run by a guide named Mulligan. Famous fellow in his way. Like a bit of hunting out there, with me?"

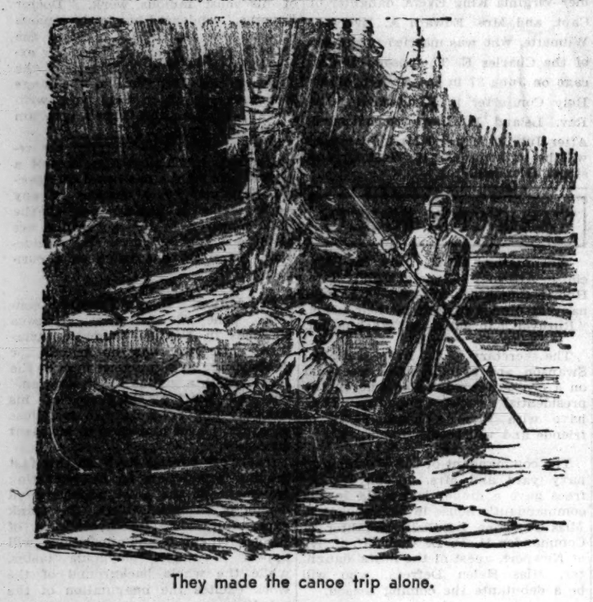

Even Anny the insatiable, at 45, knew the end of things when she saw it, shrugged and admitted a defeat without a contest, because she knew enough. But her daughter, riding through this forest with love beside her, now treasured every moment like a jewel, regardless that the end, when it came, must be all the more poignant.

She was not ignorant of this. Had she not cried in protest: "It's cruel!" But now she would catch even at the skirts of such cruelty that it might stay a little longer with her. Such cruelty became the greatest treasure on earth, and because of her youth she hugged it fiercely, whereas Anny would let it go, and without requiem.

"Happy?" he asked again and again.

"So happy!"

There were five days at least before they reached Edmonton. Five days!

They made the canoe trip alone.

"I won't look further," she even said to herself. She, Cara Follette of the lightning brain! She refused because she was young, to think beyond the day, but whereas before, when she had refused to think further than the imaginary halcyon month with Jerry Flint, the new and real and compelling desire for happiness with this man overwhelmed her body and mind.

She talked to him a little perplexedly, about Jerry, thinking: perhaps he thinks he has a right to explanation.

Not that there was much satisfactory explanation to make in the light of this new day.

"I never meant to marry Jerry, until he was successful. I should have been afraid of hurting his pride. That was a silly idea, wasn't it?"

"Sweetheart, it was."

"He'd only got vanity. But lashings of that!"

He would look at her riding beside him, explaining her follies.

"When he got off the train at Edmonton at first I was horrified. Then . . . You know, I thought of all the girls I'd known at school, and abroad and here and there. They all had young men trailing after them, got engaged and married. I had been so different. I was Follettes! When Jerry appeared on the scene it was the first time I had ever let myself go. And it was enchanting, new."

"You were playing at love," he said.

"I saw it, but it was a dangerous game. I was off my feet."

"You think you're on them again firmly now?"

"I am," she said. "And I'm going home to marry Redman Harmer."

"You really will marry Harmer?" he kept asking her that.

"Don't you think I will?"

"I know you will," he said gravely.

She turned in her saddle to look at him unflinchingly. Her voice was sad and tremulous and yet resolute.

"People consider love such a great thing in their lives. I shall say good-by to love forever when I say good-by to you at Edmonton."

"You're sure of that, too?"

"This will never come twice," she said quietly.

"How much," he asked, "does money mean to you? Money and luxury, lovely clothes, and all of it?"

"Not a thing."

"Then you're marrying this Harmer for——"

"Reasons of state," she said. She tried a little laugh unsuccessfully.

"He won't even be able to give you anything you really want at all."

"I suppose not."

"Poor fellow."

"He hasn't troubled about all that."

"Aren't you hard on him?" he suggested. "He has only asked to meet you—hoping."

"He holds all the aces," she said. "Not fair, that, is it?"

"Seems not."

He did not make love to her any more. They rode about thirty miles a day, and camped by a stream at night. He built her a screen of sticks interwoven with green branches, for they carried no tent, and he looked after her with courtly carefulness. She merely watched. She knew by now that he was a woodsman of the first class, but did not know that it was as much by nature as by practice. She lay quiet at night imagining him by and by, back at the camp, looking after his hunting parties—would there be again some woman there?

There was seldom a woman, he had told her. She had been allowed to come by reason of being her father's daughter.

Odd, that, if it hadn't been for Benja's prestige they would never have met, never loved.

She would say that, as they rode, and he would answer evasively. "I don't know," he would say, "don't you think fate takes a hand in these things?"

But he didn't talk of love to her any more.

"You're wonderfully careful of me," she would say.

He would answer: "Benjamin Follette knows he can trust Danny Mulligan."

"But he never thought of this," she said. "Are all great business men fools about love, Danny?"

"Not all," he smiled. "You'd be surprised!"

They were at Swan lake.

The ride had taken them some hours longer than the outward one, so leisurely had they taken it. Now that she was assured that she must reach home far ahead of Jerry anyway—"Coppertown's a one-horse place. Not a train a day stops there. You may wait half a week for one if you strike unlucky." the hunter said—her chief anxiety faded. They started on their canoe trip to Great Slave lake. This time it was she who could take it easily, and her companion who skilfully negotiated the bends, and the cross currents, who knew exactly where it was best to portage and where not. She had no decisions to make.

They made the canoe trip alone, this time, with no need of a guide.

When they reached Great Slave lake, they had to wait for the little steamer. There would be a day to wait, and once more she begged him very definitly to leave her, and he would not.

"I'm coming right to Edmonton."

"Is it a pleasure to you to drag this out?" she demanded passionately.

"Yes," he said, "it is a pleasure. And to you?"

"It makes it harder," she whispered, "we've got to be firm some time."

"Good-by at Edmonton will be firm enough, won't it?"

Tweeze Under Hairs.

K. G.: Yes, tweeze out the hairs that grow beneath the eyebrow. You'll find it smartens the appearance surprisingly. Use a bit of olive oil to overcome the dryness.

Foundation Cream Is Aid.

T. N.: Foundation cream is used if the skin is inclined to be dry. For a skin that is oily I suggest the application of an astringent lotion before applying your makeup.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

REBIDDING WITH A VOID SUIT OVER A NO TRUMP.

Making a slam try with the 5-5-3-0 distribution requires both delicacy and forethought because your final bid, that of the void suit, may at times make it necessary for your partner to bid a slam even if he wishes to sign off. That is the case when your void is in spades, and would also occur if your void were in hearts, with the three card holding in spades. I think you should bear this point in mind on the rare occasions when so promising a hand of this pattern is dealt to you, and refrain from the jump take out, unless you can positively decide the hand must reach a slam despite your partner's efforts to stop at game. Three absolute primary tricks justify this aspiration opposite a Sims no trump opening bid. Naturally, these are aggressive type holdings which you should not pass, so that no allowance need be made for possible shading of the opening bid for third or fourth position.

When You Can Immediately Decide to Slam.

To invite a slam with a void holding in spades, I would require such a hand as

Sp. ——	Di. K Q x x x
Hts. K Q x	Cl. A x x x x

Assuming that the opener does not hold three aces, the bidding would probably be: One no trump, three diamonds, three no trumps, four clubs, four no trumps [or five in diamonds or clubs] five spades. Now the opening bidder cannot evade the slam except by bidding five no trumps—an undesirable contract with this type of holding. You would wisely take it to six clubs, requiring him to pass or bid six diamonds. If the hand plays badly and your partner is as weak as he has been telling you by his repeated sign-offs, it will probably be no harder to make six in the preferred suit than five no trumps. The suit contract will not fall by more than a trick; in 5 no trump you might be down more if every play failed.

My point is that you would be well advised to bid only two diamonds with a hand slightly weaker than the above. With the hand as actually given, do not hesitate to make the jump takeout. You have three primary tricks, an ace, and a five card suit headed by two top honors.

Strike out boldly for the slam because you are almost certain to make it. Do not worry because you cannot stop short of it except by timidly and quite unsoundly refraining from bidding the full extent of your strength. If your partner has no more than you need only guess or deduce the position of the club queen to make the slam in spite of the duplication in spades.

Sp. A Q x	Di. A J x
Hts. J 10 9 x	Cl. K J 10

With Shaded Values, Delay the Jump Bid.

Let us make your hand slightly weaker in primary values:

Sp. ——	Di. K Q x x x
Hts. A x x	Cl. K J x x x

and assume that your partner had even as good a no-trumper as

Sp. K Q x	Di. A J x
Hts. Q 10 x x	Cl. A 10 9

Now, to make a slam, you would not only have to win the club finesse, but also to trap the ace of spades so as to get rid of one of your losing hearts. For the slam to be dependent only on a finesse, the opening bidder must supply the ace of spades.

You can be sure that a fine player will never lead away from K J x of hearts and give the game to you in that manner. An extra half primary trick in the responding hand would make the situation reasonably safe for an ultimate slam contract; so make a takeout of only two diamonds with the last example above, but later bid beyond three no trumps. Thus you will be able to sign off at five in the preferred minor suit should your partner respond with minimums on every round, not holding four primary tricks or three and a half primary plus substantial fillers.

I am devoting so much space to the bidding of big hands because every contract player who misbids the big hands that come his way will be a loser, in the long run, against players who bid them better.

for Boys, located in the lovely old town. He and Mrs. Hill are entertaining at a supper party following the performance, in the cool patio of the swimming pool on the Todd school campus.

Mrs. Howard Linn and her brother, Seymour Blair, are among those planning large dinner parties preceding the opening of "Trilby." The Alfred MacArthurs and their dinner guests will likewise be going on to Woodstock to see Mr. Welles as Svengali and Miss Prussing as the winsome Trilby, Thursday night. Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Crafts Watson, the John T. McCutcheons, Mr. and Mrs. John Esmond, Mr. and Mrs. H. Stillson Hart, and Col. and Mrs. John Roberts are also planning to send out invitations for dinner on the opening night.

Beginning July 26, "Hamlet," starring Mr. MacLiammoir, will be given in the historic theater until August 5. The third play, which is yet to be chosen, will run from August 9 to 19, when the first American Festival theater of distinction in the middle west will close its first season.

Chauncey McCormicks to Summer in East.

Mrs. Chauncey McCormick and the three sons of the family, Deering, Brooks, and Roger, are leaving Wednesday to spend the rest of the summer at Manchester-by-the-Sea. They will occupy the house of Mrs. McCormick's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ely Danielson, who are abroad for the season. Mr. McCormick will join his family for occasional week-ends.

Today Mr. McCormick, as vice president of the Art institute, will receive Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt when she visits the institute and unveils the picture chosen by popular vote as being the best in this year's A Century of Progress Exhibition. Mrs. McCormick will come in from Wheaton to receive the first lady of the land with her husband, but at Mrs. Roosevelt's request the trustees and their wives will not form a receiving line.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who is motoring here with friends, really wants to see the Fair as informally as possible, and she is not making any plans for her visit until her arrival here. It is likely, however, that she will lunch with Mrs. Rufus C. Dawes, wife of the president of A Century of Progress, in the Fair grounds today. The Women's Trade Union League of Chicago will give a reception for Mrs. Roosevelt this afternoon at 630 South Ashland boulevard, from 5:30 until 6:30 o'clock.

The Trade Union league will have one of the smart benefits of the next season. It has taken over the opening night of the Monte Carlo Ballet Russe, Christmas night.

Fashionable Families Begin Summer Exodus.

As the season advances, more and more people who had not planned to do anything in particular this summer are completing plans for going away. The Stanley Keiths are the latest to have made arrangements for a holiday. They and their two daughters, Miss Patsy Keith, and Betty, who is still a sub-debutante, are leaving a week from Wednesday for the T.-A.-T. ranch near Sheridan, Wyo., where they will spend a month.

The Arthur A. Burrowses and their active sons are others who prefer ranch life in the summer. They are hoping to get away the first of August for the A Bar A ranch in Wyoming, where they have spent the last two summers. Meanwhile Arthur Burrows Jr., who will return to the Hill school in the fall for his final year, has two Hill school friends visiting him. They are James Pardee of Hazleton, Pa., and Edwin Tatman of Connorsville, Ind. The three boys spent the week-end fishing at the Coleman Lake club. The younger Burrows boy, George, will enter Hill in the fall.

The Nicholas Starosselskys and her daughter and nephew, Walter G. Rodiger Jr., of Greenwich, are at the A Bar A ranch now, and undoubtedly will visit in Chicago for a few days when they return.

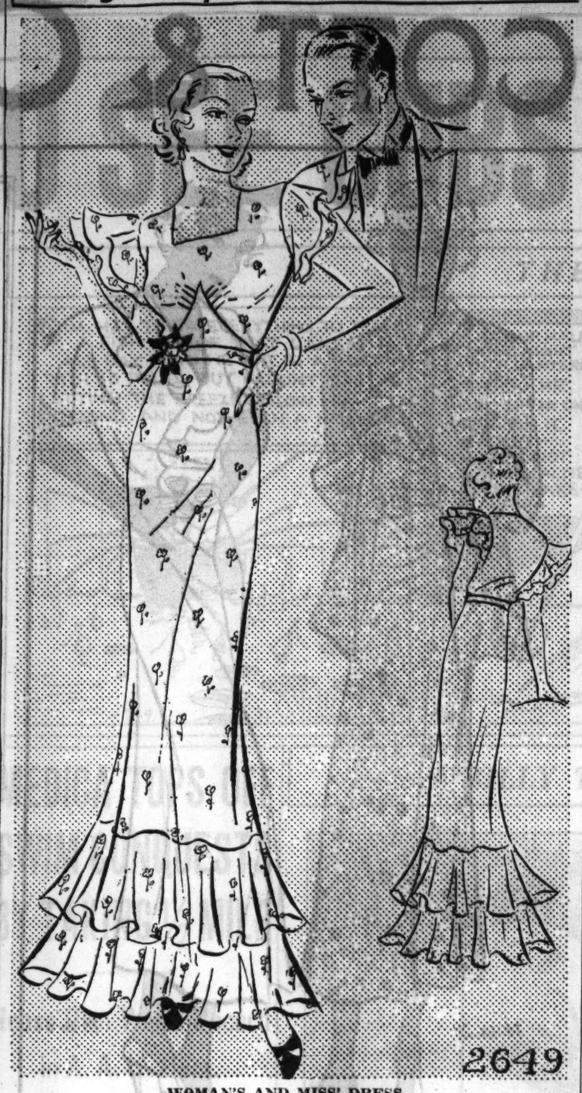

Headed in the opposite direction were Miss Martha Lee and her sister, Mrs. William E. Graham, who motored east last week. They went to Boston and then to Cape Cod, where they are staying at the Wianno Yacht club, stopping en route to lunch with Mrs. Philip L. Reed at Marion. Mrs. Graham and her sister will spend about two weeks or longer at Wianno, for they have many friends in that part of the country, and then will motor home, arriving here in about a month. Miss Lee's mother, Mrs. T. George Lee, may join them later.

Mary Louise Cotton Weds C. W. Laing Jr.

The chapel in Christ church, Winnetka, was the scene of a pretty little wedding Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when Miss Mary Louise Cotton, daughter of Mrs. Homer Elbert Cotton of Winnetka, became the bride of Chester W. Laing Jr. The bride wore a gown of white organza, made with ruffles at the bottom of the skirt and a train that fastened to the little puffed sleeved jacket, and she carried white roses and gardenias. For something old she wore a veil made of lace from her grandmother's, the late Mrs. John K. Vos Burgh's, wedding gown. Her only attendant, Miss Ruth Shepard of Evanston, was gowned in white organdy with a royal blue sash, a white picture hat, and carried talisman roses and deep blue delphinium. Stoddard Small of Winnetka served Mr. Laing as best man.

There was no reception after the ceremony, but the bride's mother served a dinner to the immediate families at her home. Mr. Laing's mother, who is living in Evanston, was present, but his father, who is an engineer for the Russian government in Kharkov, Russia, was not here for the occasion. Mr. Laing and his bride are having a brief wedding trip now and will be at home for the summer in Mrs. Cotton's home. Mrs. Cotton will be away for the rest of the warm season. In September the bride and groom will motor east on a longer wedding trip, going to Montreal to visit the Laing family relations. On their return they will take an apartment in Evanston.

Instructions for the Use of Products Must Be Followed

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Read your instructions, girls! That's what they are printed on containers for, to be read and followed according to the best judgment of the manufacturer who has tried out his product many, many times before it goes on the market.

I urge this because of complaints from time to time on products that I know could not possibly do the things said if instructions were properly followed.

Here's one example. In the use of a liquid deodorant the container plainly described the program to be followed. Several times a week for the first couple of weeks, and then once a week thereafter, the orders read. A complainant reports using the remedy twice a day for a week. Having sensitive skin to begin with, this overuse did cause her a lot of discomfort. But the product was not at fault, as this type of person invariably charges. When you have the doctor's prescription filled you read the orders and if it says to take the pills twice a day you don't take them a half dozen times.

Another instance involves the use of a wax depilatory. You must follow instructions to the letter in this connection. And, if you don't feel that you can follow instructions properly, don't experiment. You can always go to the place where you bought the stuff and be instructed as to its use.

Another thing. If you have pimples on the face, say, or any condition of skin that is not normal, don't go experimenting with every kind of lotion some one tells you about. Remember that that's a sick skin you are dealing with and, until you get it back to normal, you must treat it as an individual case.

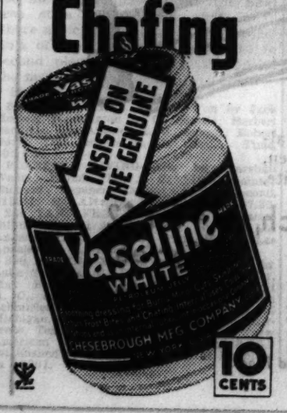

There is a complaint from one who foolishly used one of those friction mitts on a face badly affected with acne. There is nothing wrong with the article used on normal surfaces. But, if you have a sick surface to deal with, you simply do not go submitting it to foreign substances of whose affect you can have no idea.

We women have gotten beyond the follies with which certain beauty phases were attacked earlier in the game. We could refer to freak dieting as only one of the phases we've outgrown. We are pretty sure now that a cold cream that touches our faces is the product of a reliable manufacturer. We want to know what goes into that dye or color rinse that goes on the hair, because we know there are ingredients in some dyes that are harmful. Just use sense about this beauty business.

Here's Chance, Boys and Girls, to See New Zoo

Sally Joy Brown Waits for Your Letters!

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

All you boys and girls are so sharp-eyed that I'll bet you noticed the error in my story yesterday, didn't you? The list of names printed in Sunday's TRIBUNE should have been headed: "World's Fair," instead of "Brookfield." Naturally they couldn't be the names of my guests for our zoo party, because they haven't yet been invited.

I'm going to take a group of 50 boys and 50 girls out to the fine new Brookfield zoo on July 19. It has almost any kind of animal you can think of, and birds—and it's even got snakes, imported, as are many of the exhibits, from all parts of the world. And they're not in cages as is customary, either—but they can't get out, so you don't need to be afraid!

I promised you it will be one of the most thrilling and interesting trips you've ever had, so you'd better send your request for an invitation in to me as soon as possible.

I s'pose you're wondering how we're going to get way out to Brookfield, aren't you? Well—that's all been nicely taken care of. The Chicago Motor Coach company has very generously offered to provide transportation for us.

I'll tell you more about our trip tomorrow, but now I want to explain how you have a chance to win an invitation to this exciting party.

As usual, we want the boys and girls to whom this trip will mean the most to have invitations. I can't judge that, so you must write me a letter and let me know if you want to come along. Tell me all about it and maybe next Sunday's TRIBUNE will have your name and address in it as one of the 50 boys or 50 girls who've won invitations.

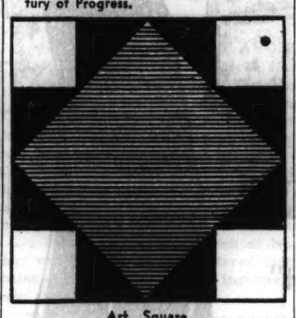

Our only rules are as follows: each boy and girl must write his or her own letter—your name, address, and age must be included in that letter, and your note must be on my desk by next Thursday morning at the latest.

Our guests for the World's Fair party should have received their invitations for the gay party on Wednesday this morning. If your name was printed in yesterday's TRIBUNE, you should receive a letter from me sometime today. If it doesn't come, or if your address was printed incorrectly you'd better phone me and let me know.

More news of our next big party will be in tomorrow's TRIBUNE—but hurry up with those letters to Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Maggy Rouff is making vamps fashionable again. She has a group of "vamp" dresses that are the big hit of her midseason style show. They are ladylike vamps, these clothes, and some of the most particular women here are wearing them. They are bringing black satin and filmy black silk into the midsummer style picture, too.

The model shown here is one of the smartest of these Maggy Rouff dresses. It combines two types of frock—the wraparound and the princess. The wraparound dress is usually a coat dress, but this one does it's wrapping across the back, as you can see in the small sketch, and fastens on small black satin buttons at the left side back. This closing is held at the neck by a green, rose, and white plaid taffeta scarf which ties in a big knot at the left side of the round neck in front.

The waistline region of the frock is fitted by six horizontal tucks at the sides, which give the dress its princess line. The loose sleeves are set into the top raglan fashion and are lined near the wrists with the plaid taffeta.

The skirt is slightly flared from the hipline in an easy and inconspicuous way.

Sane View of Thumb Sucking Replaces Fears

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

"And this thumb sucking! Whoever started this scare ought to be manacled for life—both thumbs! Little strapped arms, metal mouse traps on tiny hands, boxes on elbows—all kinds of horrible restraints suited to tear at the nerves of the most placid baby! No grownup would stand any of these devices for half an hour. He couldn't do anything. It would drive him mad."

So begins the chapter on thumb sucking in a splendid new book that I am going to tell you about another day.

We had a long Sunday article on thumb sucking a short time ago. And the only reason I am reopening the subject today is because of two letters by readers who stated that I condoned thumb sucking and who could not believe that I had authority for the—to them — revolutionary statements I made on this subject. If they had read the article carefully they would have seen that I had definite authority and that I don't "recommend" thumb sucking.

Regardless of the scares mothers have been given by some psychologists and dentists, a new attitude has grown up toward this thumb sucking habit. The book from which I quoted today—"New Patterns in Sex Teaching," by Frances Bruce Strain [Appleton-Century], just published—goes over this ground in as reassuring a way as I did in my Sunday article of a few weeks ago. Salient points were:

A healthy normal baby discontinues the habit gradually.

"Best of all, one of the studies which have been made in mouth malformation shows that even when thumb sucking has been continued persistently up to the fifth or sixth year, if the habit is corrected at that time no permanent disfigurement takes place. If thumb sucking persists into the sixth year corrective treatment may be necessary, and treatment if sought at this period usualy yields successful results."

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. de Berard of Hinsdale are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy, to Lieut. William Everton Pheris Jr., son of Mrs. William E. Pheris of Monmouth, Ill.

Miss de Berard received her bachelor of science degree from the University of Illinois several years ago, and Lieut. Pheris was graduated from West Point in the class of 1925. The wedding will take place some time in August at the home of the bride's parents. After their honeymoon the couple will be at home after Oct. 1 at Fort Benning, Ga.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

It often happens that the only thing that denies an inexpensive and otherwise quite acceptable cream our august approval is the presence of a patently cheap and offensive scent. The makers always moan in distress and try to give us a lot of nonsense about fine oils and elegant perfumes and what not, but we're not pacified. We don't like it; we know no fastidious women will, and we're not taking the risk of recommending it to our readers.

No one knows better than we do the need for low priced good creams. Our own household has the mixed blessing of a flock of women who use slathers of cleansing cream; the jars disappear like mad. Being of the genteel poor, we ourselves are always on the lookout for the best for the least money.

Right now the complexions of the horde of women in our family are safe for another couple of weeks. For the small investment of a quartet of quarters we've got a POUND of excellent cleansing cream. It's pure and rich, an efficient cleanser, and hasn't the faintest trace of that gosh-awful pint-for-a-penny perfume.

It's a fairly light cream that will be ideal for summer, and doesn't leave a greasy feeling after you wipe it off with tissues, either. It has a very faint scent that we couldn't quite make out, but we put our o. k. on it and we're fairly hard to satisfy in this respect.

This good and inexpensive cream in its pound jar that should last you all summer—unless you eat the stuff surreptitiously—is made for one of our department stores, an establishment, by the way, that never knowingly lends it name to an inferior product. In this cosmetic they've a good thing; heavy cleansing cream users who are saving up for the August fur sales, or, like us, for this week's hosiery, will beat a path right to their counters for it.

Soups Are Easy Solution to Hot Dish Problem

Canned Varieties Save Cook Labor in Summer.

BY MARY MEADE.

The "let's have something cold" proposal takes on the proportions almost of hysteria in America during hot summer months.

As a matter of fact this devotion of Americans to ice water, iced drinks, and the host of frozen dishes, not to mention sandwiches, salads, and chilly bouillons, is looked on with amazement and amusement by Europeans. For it's an apparent fact that American tourists suffer much more from the heat than do the natives who have likely lunched on soup, spaghetti, or some other hot dish.

In fact, dietitians of note are now taking up cudgels for the European plan and are declaring that at least one hot dish or drink with each summer meal is by far the best policy. For the extreme heat, common in most parts of the United States during these months, is probably more enervating and places a greater load on the digestive and nervous system than does the cold of the days when the thermometer shivers down around zero. This condition demands one dish a meal which will be warm enough to be relaxing, nourishing, and able to provide that much needed digestive balance for the chilling drinks and desserts which we are sure to use as accompaniments.

But nobody has a hankering to boil herself in the kitchen an hour or so to cook up this one hot dish. So the tendency is sliding toward the use of filling, warm soups, with the can opener as the main utensil of attack. Fish, vegetable, and meat soups, both creamed and clear, ready to serve and condensed, are all over the grocer's shelves.

Soup and salad suppers, or lunches, if that's the light meal of the day, are one speedy way of ringing in this hot dish a meal. With a little planning and perhaps a few minutes' preparation in the morning they can be ready and on the table twenty or even fifteen minutes after you don the apron and set to work.

But don't try to marry off just any soup and salad combination. The simpler the meal the more thought must go to the proper balancing of food values, texture, flavor, and color. So if we have rich meat broth for the soup course the salad prefers to be a crisp fruit or vegetable creation. Or if it's to be a cream of vegetable soup the salad should turn up as a substantial meat or fish combination.

These hearty salads may call in chicken, salmon, tuna fish, shrimp, crab meat, minced ham, or finely diced left-over beef. Any one of them is luscious if gracefully presented.

Or if there's a ten minute lull in the morning before you hike for the Fair grounds or the office, stir up a generous molded Ham Mousse to be chilled during the day and served up at night with spanking hot corn chowder or cream of mushroom soup, crisp hot rolls, or sweet sandwiches and a topping of iced coffee or chilly tea. The mousse is assembled in this manner:

Ham Mousse.

1 tablespoon granulated gelatin
¼ cup cold water
½ cup hot water
2 cups ground boiled or baked ham
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
Dash of cayenne pepper
½ cup whipping cream or evaporated milk

Soak the gelatin in the cold water for five minutes, then dissolve in the hot water. Cool this mixture and add to it the ham, mustard, and cayenne. If evaporated milk is used chill it very thoroughly. Beat the milk or cream until stiff, then fold it into the ham mixture. Chill in a wet mold or molds and serve with a garnish of parsley.

COACHES LAUD ALL-STAR GAME AS REAL TEST

Pros to Get Surprise, They Say.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

"Football's greatest game."

DICK HANLEY.

"Chicago will see the greatest college players of last season and the championship professional team. What a game! Can any one ask for more?"

These and kindred expressions constitute the verdict of prominent college and professional coaches in regard to the all-star university and professional football game which THE TRIBUNE will sponsor at Soldiers' field on the night of Aug. 31.

Fans Are Excited.

These men, who played football, who teach football, and who admit they never have seen any game which approaches this impending battle of all-stars, are enthusiastic. And so is Mr. John Fan, to whom THE TRIBUNE has intrusted the task of naming the college eleven which will oppose the Chicago Bears. The response has been surprising. Mail order requests for tickets (all seats are reserved, 4,000 of them between the 25 yard lines at $1.65 and the others at $1.10) have been received by the hundred by the All-Star Football Ticket Manager, Room 530, Tribune Tower.

These same fans, and others, also have submitted their selections of college players from the 1933 season. Not only is Chicago enthusiastic, but the newspapers in California, Utah, and in an unbroken line eastward report tremendous interest in their sections of the country. Prospect of seeing this football classic and opportunity to survey the wonders of A Century of Progress undoubtedly will attract many visitors.

Extra Lights Ready.

Before we tell you more what coaches think of the college-professional game, let's answer the only criticism ever directed at the 1933 East versus West college game at Soldiers' field. The lighting facilities on the night of Aug. 31 will be more than adequate. THE TRIBUNE will not depend on the Soldiers' field pylons. Lights will be installed on the sides of the gridiron, the same type that has made night football feasible and popular, and the number of lights will be twice the usual quota. In short, the gridiron will be brilliant and the crowd will be seated in semi-darkness so that nothing will interfere with the spectacle on the field.

Now, what do the coaches think about this game? Dick Hanley of Northwestern probably has had more experience with all-star elevens than any other coach in the central states. Hanley and Andy Kerr of Colgate have taken the eastern players each year to San Francisco to meet the best men of the west. Last summer Hanley directed the eastern college players at Soldiers' field against the westerners, who were coached by Howard Jones of Southern California.

Hanley Will Be There.

"San Francisco looks forward to seeing the all-star collegians," Hanley said last night, "and in particular because there are six or seven men who have received All-American honors. In the college-pro game in August it will be very likely that 25 or more of the players on both teams have been accorded this honor. But this is only one reason why this game will stand out in the annals of the sport.

"Much will depend on how the group of collegians work together, but I believe, judging from our experiences in the East-West games, that they will fit into team play with two weeks' practice.

"There's no doubt in my mind that the fans of the country will be anxious to see these new stars meet the professional champions. I know that I wouldn't miss the game for any consideration."

Kizer Predicts Battle.

Coach Clark Shaughnessy of the University of Chicago labeled the game as "most interesting" and "football's best contribution." He added that "the college players may be handicapped by two weeks' practice while the Bears will have an advantage, having played together last year." However, Shaughnessy was of the opinion that this objection might be made to any college game in the fall after only two weeks' preliminary drills and that "I certainly expect to be at Soldiers' field."

In interviewing the college coaches none was asked to express an opinion concerning the outcome. Noble Kizer, football coach and athletic director at Purdue, offered the opinion, however, that "the college boys won't be a setup for the Bears." Kizer, a member of the 1924 Notre Dame Four Horsemen eleven, who has seen many professional games, knows whereof he speaks.

"The college men of 1933 can put a line on the field which will equal if not surpass the pros in weight," Kizer

Nears Own World Record in A. A. U. Meet.

Jack Medica of the University of Washington yesterday completed his three days of competition in the national A. A. U. swimming meet by bagging his third championship at the lagoon, A Century of Progress, and definitly proving, if such proof was necessary, that he is America's greatest swimmer. Medica won his third title in the half mile free style event, and while he failed to set a new record by seven-tenths of a second there was no occasion for worry since he already holds American and world marks for the distance.

Seven thousand, the largest crowd of the meet, saw the Seattle boy complete his conquest of the nation's best swimmers. They might have seen him win a fourth championship except that amateur rules prohibit entry in more than three events.

Record for 550 Yards.

Last Friday Medica established a world mark of 20:57.6 for one mile. On Saturday he set an American long course record of 4:50.9 for 440 yards, and while he missed lowering his own half mile record yesterday he had the satisfaction of swimming 550 yards faster than any man in history. His time for this distance was 6:20.4, as compared to Buster Crabbe's former record of 6:38.4.

By his thre victories Medica placed his club, the Washington A. C. of Seattle, in fourth position in the final team standings. The Detroit Athletic club won the team championship with 29 points, while the Lake Shore A. C. of Chicago and the Los Angeles A. C. tied for second position with 19 points each.

Wayne Wins in Diving.

Marshall Wayne, a lithe, blond chap from Miami, Fla., who performs acrobatics from the diving tower with the same ease that Medica races through the water, won the platform dive after a close struggle with Richard Degener of Detroit A. C., winner of the springboard diving title last Friday.

Wayne scored 118.61 points to win the platform diving. Degener's total was 113.44. Corporal Ed Alvarez of Honolulu finished third by a fraction of a point over William Knowles of the Los Angeles A. C.

Gilhula Wins by Stroke.

James Gilhula of the Detroit A. C., who lost his 100 meter championship Friday, retained his national honors in the 220 yard free style event yesterday. Gilhula finished a stroke ahead of Herbert Barthels, who in turn had a margin of only a few inches over his Los Angeles teammate, Paul Wolfe.

The Lake Shore 300 meter medley relay team set a new American record in the final event. The mark hung up by Lake Shore is 3:32.7. The former record was 3:36.2. There is no world mark for this event.

Adolph Kiefer, swimming backstroke, had a six foot lead over Taylor Drysdale of the University of Michigan. Max Bradenthal of Lake Shore increased this to 12 feet in the breast stroke, with Bob Lawrence of Michigan second. Art Highland, national 100 meter champion, swam the final free style stretch and gave Lake Shore a victory by 30 feet. James Gilhula of the Detroit A. C. sprinted to second place in the final section of the medley.

BILLY TAKES THE QUICKEST ROUTE TO THIRD

Billy Herman of the Cubs slides into third base in the third inning of the first game with the Pirates yesterday and, although the ball is nearly in Pie Traynor's hands, Herman evades a tag and is safe. The ball is coming to third base from the outfield, where Catcher Padden threw it in trying to catch Billy stealing second. Herman later scored. The Cubs lost, 11 to 4, before an overflow crowd. GRANT DEFEATS BUDGE FOR CLAY COURT NET TITLE

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Bryan Grant, Atlanta, Ga., became the national clay court tennis champion by defeating Donald Budge, Oakland, Cal., in straight sets yesterday in the final round of the tournament at the Chicago Town and Tennis club. The scores were 6-2, 8-6, 6-3.

This was the fourth successive tournament through which Grant had come without a defeat. In recent weeks he has won the Dixie invitational tournament at Memphis, the Southern at Atlanta, and the Western at River Forest. He went through the Western without the loss of a set and dropped only one in the clay court.

Grant Seeded No. 1.

The national clay court title went where the tournament committee expected it would, Grant having been seeded No. 1. The only major upset of the week occurred when Budge defeated Frank Parker, Milwaukee, defending champion, in the semi-final round, after Frank had suffered a nosebleed midway in the match.

Budge, the tall, red headed youngster who holds the national junior championship, threatened seriously at only one stage of yesterday's match with Grant. That was when he led, 6-5, in the second set. At this point Grant apparently decided that now or never was the time to demonstrate his superiority. So the little fellow from Atlanta swiftly ran through three straight games to take the set.

Hits Stride Too Late.

That was the turning point of the match, for Budge seemed a bit discouraged for the following ten minutes or so. By that time Grant had stepped away to a lead of 3-0 in the final set, and when the Californian again hit his stride it was too late to catch up.

Budge's most effective shot was a backhand drive off a high bounding ball. When he got a chance to hit a little below shoulder level he usually put away the point. Realizing this, Grant fed his opponent low bounding chops during the first set, and the tall boy from the west coast was unable to play his favorite style of game.

After Grant took the first set so handily, he decided it was safe to resort to the type of game he prefers. So he abandoned the chopping tactics and resorted to top spin drives, mixed with lobs, attempting to outsteady Budge through protracted rallies. Budge liked this better, also, and gave considerable opposition for a while, working Grant out of position to slam fast, clean cut placements to the corners. But he lacked the finesse and experience of the Atlanta player, and was unable to keep up the pace.

Service Not Decisive.

Neither service was particularly decisive, most points being decided after moderately long rallies. Grant's volleys were a bit more accurate and his overhead shots more consistent than those of his opponent. Neither showed much inclination to take the net until drawn to that position.

Budge and Gene Mako, Los Angeles, won the doubles championship, beating John McDiarmid, Fort Worth, Tex., and Robert Bryan, Chattanooga, Tenn., 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

SOX KICK AWAY DOUBLE HEADER, 5 TO 1 AND 10 TO 5

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., July 8.—The White Sox met up with more difficulties this afternoon, but it all can be written off under the heading of fun. The tail-enders indulged in some of their own original fielding habits to toss off the first half of a double header to the Indians, 5 to 1, before 14,000 pleasure seekers. Then the Chicagoans did a bit better in the nightcap, but were thumped just the same, this time by a score of 10 to 5.

As is usually the case, Jumping Joe Chamberlin, the young man who is trying to play third base for the Sox, was right in the midst of most of the mirth provoking activities. The Indians slapped two grounders into his hands in the first game. One of them he threw away to give Cleveland a run. The other he booted to give Cleveland valuable assistance in the scoring of four runs.

Jones Deserves Better.

Except for these misdemeanors, old man Sam Jones would have given his pitching opponent, Willis Hudlin, a real argument. The Indians weren't entitled to more than two runs and even these could be charged against loose work at short by Bob Boken.

Chamberlin's two errors on two chances in this encounter didn't exhaust his supply of surprises. In the second game the Indians were considerate enough to let him alone except in one instance. He fumbled this one chance, also in the opening inning. It caused the home athletes to jump away to a two run lead against Whitlow Wyatt. Happily this error didn't mean much in the long run. Wyatt blew up without any outside assistance and was yanked in the fifth with a total of nine runs marring his day's effort. The remaining Indian tally grew through a wild exhibition by Phil Gallivan in the eighth.

Conlan Is Star.

It probably won't make the Sox feel very pert about themselves to mention that a healthy portion of their day's attack came from Johnny Conlan, an unemployed minor leaguer until the Sox gave him a job a few days ago. The flashy little ex-International leaguer came up with a pair of hits in each game and in addition conducted himself pleasingly in the pursuit of fly balls.

FIRST GAME

NATIONAL LEAGUE GAINS FAVOR IN ALL-STAR GAME

Terry's "Luck" Swings Many Against American.

New York, July 8.—[Special.]—A day of complete rest will be enjoyed by the stars of the American and the National league tomorrow on the eve of the interleague game Tuesday at the Polo grounds for the benefit of the Association of Professional Baseball Players.

Joe Cronin, manager of the Washington Senators, who is to lead the American league's outstanding players against the National league team, of which Bill Terry is manager, has called a meeting of his club tomorrow morning at the Hotel Commodore when the plans for the game will be discussed. A similar meeting is scheduled for the National league squad.

Many of the players will spend part of the day at the Crescent Athletic-Hamilton club's grounds, Huntington, N. Y., the guests of the Baseball Writers' association of America, New York chapter, where the writers will hold their annual field day.

Invite McCarthy, Mack.

President William Harridge of the American league and Walter Johnston, Cleveland manager, and Al Schacht, who are to assist Cronin, will attend the American league meeting. Joe McCarthy, Yankee pilot, and Connie Mack, leader of the Athletics, have been invited to the meeting.

McCarthy is expected to attend, but whether Mack, leader of last year's conquering American leaguers over a squad led by the late John J. McGraw, will be able to attend is problematical. Mack was reported at Manchester, N. H.

Meantime, as the game approached, interest grew accordingly and strengthened grounds for a sellout. At the offices of the Giants it was predicted that by 1:30 p. m. Tuesday, when Lefty Vernon Gomez of the American leaguers and Carl Hubbell, National league starter, face each other every seat in the Polo grounds will be occupied. A sellout will mean about $60,000 in gate receipts, a figure that will top the receipts of $51,203.50 realized on last year's game at Comiskey Park, which was suggested and sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Both Managers Confident.

Managers Cronin and Terry were outspoken today in their expressions of confidence. Cronin is certain his all-star cast will batter the pitching of the National leaguers. Terry declared a fast ball hurler such as Gomez is just the type the National leaguers prefer.

Betting on the series favors the American leaguers, but National league support was stronger today than at any previous time. But uppermost with the fans was the anticipation of the pitching struggle between Gomez and Hubbell, star lefthanders.

Manager Cronin announced every player chosen in the poll for the American league team will get into the game some time or other. It is expected that Manager Terry will follow a similar course with the National leaguers, giving every successful candidate in the nation-wide newspaper voting contest which attracted ballots from more than 200,000 fans a chance to participate.

PIRATES ROUT LEE, BUT CAN'T SOLVE WEAVER

Hartnett Hits 14th Home Run.

BY EDWARDS BURNS.

The Pittsburgh Pirates made the Cubs look like raw bushers before 47,138 folks at Wrigley field yesterday in the first game of a double header, which the Pittsburghers won, 11 to 4, in a most distressing way. And the high spirited Chicagoans came right back in the second game and taught the fresh Pirates a lesson by making eight runs in the first two innings and then carrying on to an ultimate 12 to 3 victory.

JIM WEAVER.

In the first game Bill Lee staged his second successive sixth inning foldup. The young man who blew a 2 to 0 lead in the sixth inning last Wednesday when the Cards blasted him for five runs, went for a six run ride yesterday, to toss off a 4 to 0 lead. It should be said in his behalf that he had assistance in yesterday's collapse from Kiki Cuyler, who made two grievous errors in rapid succession.

And Bill, perhaps, could find some consolation in the fact that he wasn't to blame for five runs the Pirates made in the eighth and ninth innings. Bud Tinning was trying to pitch during this span and he was pushed along in his misery by some fumbling on the part of Chuck Klein and Billy Herman.

Weaver Wins No. 5.

The second also found a parallel to the July 4 doings in St. Louis, for Big Jim Weaver stepped in to restore Cub prestige in the second game, just as he did against the Cardinals Wednesday.

Weaver, in registering his fifth win for the Cubs, as compared with no defeats, held the enemy to one hit, a single, in the first five innings. Then, possessed of a 10 to 0 lead, Big Jim eased up the rest of the way, but even so, held the Pittsburghers to a total of seven hits.

The Cubs, in the first inning of the second game, scored four runs, enough to win, on a double by Billy Herman, a walk to Babe Herman, a single by Cuyler, and Gabby Hartnett's 14th homer of the season.

Four More in Second.

In the second inning a walk to Billy Herman, a single by English, a double by Klein, a single by Cuyler, a walk to Hartnett, and a single by Grimm gave the Cubs four more tallies. One run was picked up in the fourth, one in the fifth and two more in the sixth.

The Cubs made 16 hits in the second game, including seven ground rule doubles into the crowd inside the field.

The day's business caused the Cubs to drop back a half game in their struggle to overtake the leading Giants. The Cubs now are in second place by two games and will not be doing any National league baseballing until Wednesday, when they play a double header in Boston.

Cubs Start First Game Right.

During the first four innings of the first game business went along joyously, with the Cubs showing most of the talent and getting all the breaks, the breaks being so pronounced in several instances that hardly any one thought the Pirates could shake off the discouragement thus caused.

In the first inning the Cubs scored on English's double into the overflow crowd, a wild pitch, and Klein's infield out. In the second inning Cuyler led off with a double and scored on Hartnett's grounder which took a crazy bounce over Vaughan's head. In the third inning Billy Herman singled to right, stole second, went on to third when Padden threw the ball to center field, and scored when Klein, with two out, sent a shot to Thevenow which took a wild bounce just as Tommy was about to seize the ball, giving Chuck a double.

Get One More in Fourth.

The Cubs at the time were satisfied with the one run they got out of their swell opportunities in the fourth inning. Cuyler led off with a single to left and stopped at second when Hartnett also singled to left. The bases were full with none out when Grimm beat out a bunt toward third. Hack tapped to Suhr and Cuyler was forced at the plate. Lee grounded out to Suhr, Hartnett scoring. Billy Herman flied to L. Waner.

And here is the record of Cub collapse No. 1. Paul Waner opened the sixth with a single, but went down with Traynor in a double play. Vaughan singled to center and stopped at second on Suhr's single to right. Thevenow walked, filling the bases. Jensen singled to center, scoring Vaughan and Suhr, and when Cuyler let the ball pop between his heels Thevenow also scored and Jensen went to third. Padden walked. Lucas batted for French and singled to center, scoring Jensen. Cuyler kicked the ball again and Padden reached third and Lucas second.

At this point it was decided that Lee had lost his effectiveness. He was replaced by Joiner. L. Waner caromed a single off Grimm's glove, scoring

DISCOVERY ALL SET FOR 6TH DUEL WITH CAVALCADE

Vanderbilt Colt Arrives at Arlington.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Discovery, which has tried five times this year to beat the budding champion, Cavalcade, from Isabel Dodge Sloane's Brookmeade stable, arrived at Arlington Park at noontime yesterday to try it once again.

He will square away against Cavalcade in the renewal of the $35,000 Classic stakes next Saturday, the race which for the last several seasons has decided the 3 year old championship.

And Discovery had no sooner landed at Arlington than his handlers found out that he was no longer considered Cavalcade's most dangerous rival. He still remained one of the "Big Four" in a prospective Classic field of a dozen, yet it was Peace Chance, from the Joseph E. Widener stable of New York, which was rated as having the greatest chance to overthrow Cavalcade and toss the 3 year old title race into a turmoil.

His Favorite Track.

Discovery was in fine shape when he arrived. The groom who ushered him from his private express car to his stable pointed out that his charge likes to run over the Arlington track better than he does over any other.

"It was just a year ago last week that Discovery won his first race, a maiden dash at Arlington, by five lengths," the groom said. "He likes this track and is improving all the time, and he will give Cavalcade the greatest kind of an argument in the Classic. He convinced us of this fact when he won the Brooklyn Handicap so easily in New York last week. Despite his hard campaign he hasn't a blemish and is training more kindly now than at any time this season."

Most of Discovery's hard work for the Classic is behind him. He will be out this morning for some limbering up drills, and about Wednesday will be sent the Classic route of a mile and a quarter but it isn't the intention of Trainer Bud Stotler to ask him to break any track records while he does the work.

How Field Shapes Up.

Cavalcade	High Quest
Discovery	Peace Chance
Gallant Mac	Thomasville
Howard	New Deal
Plight	Rose Cross
Riskulus	Patchpocket

The Big Four of the race naturally are Cavalcade, Peace Chance, Discovery, and High Quest. Their right to be included in this group is found in their 3 year old accomplishments, which are as follows:

Cavalcade—Won the Kentucky Derby, American Derby, Detroit Derby, and Chesapeake stakes. Second in the Preakness stakes, beaten a nose by his stablemate, High Quest.

Peace Chance—Won the Belmont stakes in the fastest time in the history of the mile and a half race. Finished unplaced in Kentucky Derby, in which he was kicked while at the post, and was away slowly.

Discovery—Won the Brooklyn handicap over the good older horse, Dark Secret. Was second in the Kentucky Derby, American Derby, and third in Chesapeake stakes and Preakness.

High Quest—Won Preakness stakes and Wood Memorial stakes and was second in Belmont stakes.

The other prospective field of a dozen have not accomplished much in the way of winning rich prizes this year, yet most of them have steadily improved since the early part of the season, and their owners believe they are finally ready to demonstrate their real ability.

Heavy Advance Sale.

Classic week at Arlington promises to be one of the biggest weeks of the season. Already several hundred racegoers from the east, the far west, and the south are here awaiting the next appearance of Cavalcade. Many hundreds of others will come in between now and Saturday.

The advance clamor for reserved seats is more noticeable than in any previous year, and some predictions are that the Classic day crowd will be the largest of the year at any race course in America.

Some of the lesser lights among the eligibles will go into action in actual racing tests this week, but it is hardly likely that the Big Four will be asked for much activity except their final long tests on Wednesday and Thursday mornings.

CARNERA TURNS OUT TO BE MAN OF DEEP MYSTERY

Atlanta, Ga., July 8.—(AP)—Primo Carnera, the former heavyweight champion, popped up here today insisting he was on his way from New York to Maine. It was believed he was en route to Palm Beach, despite his insistence that he was going the other way.

Carnera thumbed a ride here last night after his 16 cylinder car broke down at Toccoa, Ga., and he was hoisted to his hotel room in a freight elevator, denying himself to visitors until shortly before his departure.

Carnera explained the detour to Maine by way of Atlanta by saying he was "just taking a little drive with friends."

The former title holder was using crutches, and the ankle which he said was fractured in the fight with Max Baer was still encased in a plaster cast.

Some one suggested he might already have been to Florida. This he denied, declaring it was too hot. He also denied that he was en route to Italy, thundering this would not be "until I'm champion again."

Reports from New York said Carnera left his hotel Friday, but the dethroned champion said he had been to Louisville as well as a number of other southern cities, the names of which he did not know. He was reported seen yesterday in North Carolina.

Golf School's Prize Pupils to Be Chosen

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The huge enrollment in THE TRIBUNE's second annual golf school—23,000 men, women, and children students of the game—will become a select 114 tomorrow night, when each of the nineteen member courses of the Chicago Daily Fee Golf association will choose its six prize pupils.

Every one who has attended the classes during the five weeks of the school is urged to attend this final demonstration. All have an equal chance to gain the two graduating exercises—the medal play tournament at Mission Hills Saturday, and the form contest at Mid-City July 19.

Arrive Early, Students.

Because of the large attendance anticipated tomorrow, all students are asked to arrive at their respective courses a trifle earlier. The six inner courses—Mid-City, Big Oaks, Evergreen, Harlem, Chicago Meadows, and Golfmoor—will begin naming the finalists at 7:30 p. m. The outlying courses—Big Run, Techny Fields, Westgate Valley, Indian Head, Cog-Hill, Vernon, Mission Hills, Oak Hills, Elmgate, Northbrook, Hickory Hills, Walnut Hills, and Twin Orchard—will start at 8 o'clock.

One finalist will be named in each of the four individual divisions—men, women, boys, and girls—and two in the couples' division. Relatives of professionals and employés of THE TRIBUNE, who have taken the lessons, will not be eligible for prizes.

Winners Get Prizes.

Each of tomorrow's winners will receive from the local professional a playing membership good for the remainder of the season at the course from which they are chosen. Season memberships at all courses, clubs, bags, balls, and trophies will be awarded by the Daily Fee association and THE TRIBUNE to winners at Mission Hills and Mid-City.

The fifteenth annual junior tournament of the Women's Western Golf association will open with an eighteen hole qualifying round this morning at the Park Ridge Country club. The field will qualify in flights of eight, and will continue at match play through Thursday. Alice Ann Anderson, Kenosha, Wis., is the defending champion. Pairings follow:

Dorothy Bell, Westmoreland, and Eleanor Dudley, Ridge.
Ella Mae Williams, Elgin, and Virginia Lindblad, Joliet.
Eloise Briese, Kenosha, Wis., and Sonia Nash, Vernon.
Josephine Souchek, Indian Boundary, and Barbara Wilder, Skokie.
Lois Marion Miller, Peoria, Ill., and Paula Jane Parker, Westmoor, Milwaukee, Wis.
Janet Basche, Westmoor, and Elizabeth Schiele, Galena, Ill.
Billie Kerr, Galena, Ill., and Frances Sayre, Beverly.
Marie Beier, Pickwick, and Helen Gambrill, Exmoor.
Ann Whyte, Kenosha, and Virginia Nillis, Park Ridge.
Patricia Kelly, Indian Hill, and Edna Hannahs, Kenosha.
Betty Phillips, Techny Fields, and Frances Roseman, Wilmette.
Mary Ann Meyer, Exmoor, and Jean Tobin, South Shore.

Lawrence B. Icely, Chicago sportsman, has donated a trophy which will be awarded to the winner each year. Late entries will be paired at the tee this morning. The tournament is open to every girl golfer who has not previously competed in a W. W. G. A. major event.

The Chicago District Junior Golfers' association will inaugurate its first annual tournament with a 36 hole qualifying round today at the Green View Golf club, Higgins and River roads. Thirty-two will qualify for the match play, which will continue through Thursday. The event is open to all boy golfers between the ages of 14 and 21.

The Chicago District Golf association will hold its sixth one day handicap at Beverly Wednesday, instead of tomorrow, as originally announced.

Sixteen more golfers will qualify today at White Pines for the right to play for a place on the team which will represent Chicago in the national public links tournament at Pittsburgh July 30 to Aug. 4. Sixteen gained places at Chicago Meadows a week ago, and 16 more will complete the field at Elmgate next Monday. The 48 qualifiers then will play 36 holes at a course and date to be announced later for the five places on the Chicago team.

Valkyrie Wins Faurot Trophy in Yacht Race

John T. Snite's 47 foot cutter, Valkyrie, won both legs of the Chicago Yacht club's race to Waukegan and back over the week-end to capture the William Faurot trophy. Largest entrant in the cruising class, Valkyrie sailed without handicap or time allowance.

The seven windjammers in the Faurot trophy race left Belmont harbor Saturday afternoon in a moderate northeast wind that shifted to the east later. Valkyrie's time for the 27 nautical mile run to Waukegan was 6 hours 40 minutes and 5 seconds. The contestants left the Yacht club at Waukegan on the return trip at 11 a. m. yesterday.

Valkyrie cut its previous time by nearly 440 per cent on the return trip to nose out the second boat in the cruising class, Dr. William Redlich's Comet. Valkyrie's returning time was 4:08:54, compared with Comet's elapsed time of 4:12:12. On corrected time, however, Comet was less than one minute behind the victor.

The Robinson brothers' Q sloop Hope won both Saturday and Sunday races in the universal class. Hope established the best time when it finished at Belmont harbor late yesterday with an elapsed time of 3 hours 54 minutes and 12 seconds.

Gemini, the Pirie brothers' fast Star sloop, captured the second race of the Sheridan Shore Yacht club's program yesterday, defeating 17 yachts for the second day in succession.

The course off Wilmette harbor was windward and leeward for a distance of 10 nautical miles. Gemini finished in 2 hours 10 minutes and 25 seconds in the light northerly breeze that prevailed.

The runner-up was Neo, skippered by Tom Waage. Neo crossed the finish line 4 minutes and 20 seconds behind Gemini. John W. Dennison's Hummer II. placed third, only three seconds astern of Neo.

Two contestants were disqualified, Pegasus, when it fouled the first buoy, and Carol, when it struck Walter Q. Stockton's Walrus.

Lady Luck, skippered by H. E. Jennings of the South Shore Power Boat club, won the annual bang-and-go-back race held between the S. S. P. B. C. and the Chicago Motor Yacht club yesterday. Lady Luck was the first of three S. S. P. B C. entrants to finish. Lady Luck is a 38 foot Matthews motor yacht. Commodore Lyman Thurston's Gem II. finished second, and John Swanson's Cecilie III., third.

A fleet of 19 cruisers took part in the race, the largest event for cruisers this season. Eleven of the yachts represented the South Shore club.

SAN FRANCISCO PLANS WELCOME TO LITTLE TODAY

San Francisco, Cal., July 8.—(AP)—San Francisco will turn out tomorrow to welcome Lawson Little, winner of the recent British amateur golf championship.

The husky young man who scored the most one-sided victory in the history of the British event will be met at the Ferry building by a delegation of golf and civic leaders. He will be escorted to the city hall, where Mayor Angelo Rossi will tender an official greeting.

At a huge banquet in the evening, Mayor Rossi will present Little with a gold medal, making him an honorary member of all San Francisco public links.

LINCOLNSHIRE IS 7-5 VICTOR OVER SHAMROCK FOUR

The Lincolnshire Polo club came from behind yesterday to defeat the Chicago Shamrocks, 7 to 5, at Lincolnshire. The Shamrocks had a three goal lead until the fifth chukker. Lieut. Chris Schuh drove in a 60 yard shot while riding at full speed to break a 5 to 5 tie in this period.

In the next chukker Lieut. Lou Levine scored the final point of the game for Lincolnshire. Lieut. Leo Callahan, riding for the Shamrocks, charged into the goal posts and both he and his mount were stunned for several moments. Both recovered, however, and continued in the game. A crowd of 2,000 was present.

Alice Bridges Breaks 440 Back Stroke Record

Lake Maranacook, Me., July 8.—(AP)—Alice Bridges, Whitinsville, Mass., clipped 11 and 1-5th seconds from the 440 yard backstroke record as she won her ninth national championship today. Her time was 6 minutes 10 4-5 seconds. The previous record was established by Sybil Bauer, Chicago, 10 years ago.

CANAL ZONE BOY TO COMPETE IN TRIBUNE SWIM

Youngster Sets Record for Distance of Entry.

In other years THE TRIBUNE 100 yard swiming races have attracted entries from such distant points as Florida and Texas, but the all time mark will be established this year when Alan Ford, of the Panama Canal Zone, will compete in class A, for boys 11 and 12 years of age. Of course, young Alan is not making a special trip to Chicago for the meet, but he is anxious, now that he is spending the summer near the city, to try his speed against the best youngsters in Chicagoland.

"I would like to enter my son Alan in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE swimming races, but am somewhat doubtful as to whether he would be considered eligible on account of our residence. We are from the Panama Canal Zone and are spending the summer in Rockford and at the World's Fair.

"The youngster is nearly 11 years of age, and I would like very much to see how his ability compares with boys of his age here.

Residence Is No Bar.

The answer to Mr. Ford's query concerning eligibility is that no one is barred because of residence. THE TRIBUNE has sponsored these races for five years primarily as an incentive to boys and girls to learn to swim properly. Only those who know how can expect to win gold championship medals. But, in order to encourage all swimmers who believe they can swim 100 yards with any kind of a stroke, all contestants will receive souvenir buttons, and this year the qualifiers in the four sectional trials also will be awarded medals.

The first set of trials will be held Saturday at Sherman park and Sunday at California park. Entries for these will be accepted if postmarked by midnight tomorrow. The pool at Sherman park is 50 yards long, which means that swimmers there must negotiate a turn. However, at California park and at the forest preserve pools, the course will be 100 yards straightaway.

Entries for Cermak pool [July 21] and Whealan pool [July 22] will be accepted until midnight July 16.

Dvorak Park Enters Team.

Among the early team entries is that of Dvorak park on the west side. Eighteen girls are listed in Classes A, B, and C in the trials Sunday at the California park pool.

If coaches wish, they may divide their teams so that all do not compete at the same place. This will give them better opportunity to win qualifying medals.

COLUMBUS AND CHICAGO FIREMEN NINES TO MEET

The Columbus, O., Firemen's baseball team will meet the Chicago Firemen tomorrow afternoon at Comiskey park in the first of a two game series. The second game will be played Wednesday at Wrigley field. Each game will start at 3 o'clock.

Columbus' squad includes three players who had tryouts with the Cleveland Indians, while four others were members of the Columbus American association team. The Chicago Firemen yesterday tuned up for the battles by defeating Roger Kirby's Evanstons, 5 to 3, at Evanston. Slim DeLion held the losers to two hits in five innings, Johnny Brice finishing the game.

Coaches Laud All-Star, Bear Football Game

The Greatest Game.

Jack Chevigny, coach of the University of Texas, who spent one year (1932) as coach of the Chicago Cardinals pro team, is inclined to believe that experience will be a big factor. He admitted that the question of weight would not be important, but he said his experience had shown that the best of college players had much to learn after they joined a professional team.

"The college boys will have a fine squad," Chevigny continued, "the kind that a coach dreams about and no matter who wins, the all-stars or the pros, it's bound to be one of the greatest football games of all time."

Schissler Likes Collegians.

Another Cardinal coach, Paul Schissler, who completed his first season in the pro ranks last year after nine years at Oregon State and who might nominally be expected to favor the Bears against the 1933 collegians, had this to say:

"This isn't an out and out test between a college team and a professional team. Actually it's a better game, for no college team can approach the strength that the university men will muster for the game against the professional league champions. I'd like only to say that with equal strength in the line the college boys may have superior kicking and superior passing. These factors may determine the result. After all, when a boy has played three years in college he knows how to block and tackle. In this respect the university players may be on a par with the Bears. So what? You'll see one of the greatest games in football history, one that may be won by mistakes rather than phenomenal playing.

"If this is true, the Bears, a veteran team, tested last year in a series of critical battles, will have an important advantage. But what a battle it will be. I wouldn't miss it."

Mail in Your Pick.

Just how strong the college team will be depends entirely on the nation's fans. Twenty-seven players will be asked to participate. Pick your list of the 11 you would like to see and mail them to the Football Game Editor, Tribune Tower, Chicago. The first results of the Chicago poll will be announced tomorrow.

CARDS, REDS SPLIT.

St. Louis, Mo., July 8.—(AP)—The Dean brothers' act started brilliantly and ended dismally today as the St. Louis Cardinals split a double header with Cincinnati, winning the first game, 6 to 1, then dropping the second, 8 to 4.

Dizzy Dean, the elder of the pitching duo, got his fourteenth victory of the season as he fanned ten Reds, while the Cardinals were bringing in the necessary runs. It was his sixth straight victory.

In the second game Paul Dean, the kid brother, started for the Cardinals, but after hurling six strikeouts in three innings, was met by a homer by Pool with the bases loaded. In the same inning Piet doubled to score two more runs. Collins got a home run for the Cardinals. Scores:

Yanks Defeat Senators, 6-3; Ruth Hits 13th

New York, July 8.—(AP)—Babe Ruth today celebrated his twenty-first year of baseball with a home run and a double, knocking Monte Weaver, star Washington pitcher, from the mound in the fifth inning and giving the New York Yankees victory, 6 to 3, and the series three games to one. The homer—it was the Babe's thirteenth of the season and his six hundred and ninety-ninth in his career—came in the fifth inning and accounted for two runs.

Jimmy Deshong, rookie Yankee pitcher, turned in his second well pitched game in a row after a mediocre start this season. He held the Senators to nine hits and was in trouble in only two innings, the seventh and eighth, when the Senators scored two of their three runs. They bunched three hits in each of these innings, but could score only one run. Heinie Manush collected a pair of homers off Deshong, one in the first and the second in the seventh. Score:

RED SOX WIN PAIR.

Boston, Mass., July 8.—(AP)—The Boston Red Sox today took a double header from the Philadelphia Athletics before a crowd of 24,018, winning the first game, 7 to 4, despite three Athletic home runs, and the second 7 to 2.

Henry Johnson pitched the opener for the Sox, striking out seven. The Athletics outhit the Red Sox, 12 to 7, but Dietrich's wildness cost him the game. He walked nine Boston batters and hit one.

Fred Ostermueller hurled effectively in the second game, and was never in danger after the Red Sox gave him a four run lead in the first inning.

Jimmie Foxx, Athletics' first baseman, hit his 25th home run of the season in the seventh inning and his 26th in the ninth inning of the first game. His teammate, Bob Johnson, smashed out his 25th in the final inning of the first game. All three were hit with none on base.

ALL-STAR BASEBALL GAME.

The second annual baseball game between American and National league stars chosen by vote of the nation's fans will be held at the Polo grounds in New York tomorrow.

This contest resulted from the success of the inaugural game played last July at Comiskey park under the auspices of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, when net profits of $46,501.99, regular prices of admission prevailing, were realized for charity. The idea germinated with Arch Ward, our sports editor, and was carried to fruition despite the many obstacles arising from lack of precedent. Incidentally, Mr. Ward is an official guest of honor of the national commission tomorrow in recognition of this service to baseball.

Because it was the first game of the series, years-old dream of fans who had despaired of realization, perhaps tomorrow's issue may lack some of the glamor which attended the "Game of the Century," popularly and correctly so characterized. Yet the event, barring unforeseen occurrences, now promises to take its place as a midsummer fixture, brief breathing space in pennant races of the two major leagues.

So sound was the planning, so successful the administration of that first game, that all salient features have been perpetuated. Net profits, we understand, as a year ago, will go to the fund for aged and disabled baseball players. Regular Polo grounds prices of admission will prevail. Players, with a few unimportant changes, were chosen by vote of fans. It is no disparagement, but rather pride, to recall that the fan vote of 1933, collected by THE TRIBUNE and associated newspapers, far exceeded this year's total from all other sources. Management of the game is by the national commission instead of by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

In the "Game of the Century," if your memory is poor, the American league all-stars won by a score of 4 to 2, largely due to Babe Ruth's homer in the third inning with Gehringer on first as the result of a base on balls.

"The Stirrup Cake."

Of all the cakes my mother bakes
The one that I like best
Is one she makes for us home folks
And never serves to guests.

I know her choclet cake is good,
But still, when no one's here,
My mother says, "Guess I'll stir up
A little cake, my dear."

She lets me stand right by and watch
And even help a bit,
And soon as ever it is baked

For she don't mind to cut this cake
While it is very hot,
And that's the reason that I like
Her "stirrup" cake a lot.

Indians Take Two from Sox, 5-1 and 10-5

help of Conlan, the unemployed minor leaguer. He doubled off the right field wall and scored on a single by Dykes. The lead lasted until the Chicagoans decided to start their fielding atrocities. The Indians helped to bring this on by hitting a ball to Chamberlin for the first time. Pytlak did it to open the third, and Chamberlin heaved the ball high over Bonura's head, Pytlak taking second. Rice then scratched a hit to Boken and Burnett uncorked a clean single on which Pytlak scored the tying run.

The carnival of blundering in Cleveland's fourth didn't get under way until Trosky had opened with a legitimate single. Hale bounced a double play to Boken, but the young man looked elsewhere and the ball skipped over his shoulder for a single. Kamm lined to right, and this went for a single when Swanson, who had just appeared in the battle, dodged the ball. It filled the bases. Pytlak grounded to Chamberlin for what should have been a double play, but Joe fumbled, Trosky scoring. Hudlin lined out, but Rice singled to send home Hale and Kamm. Pytlak scored the fourth run of the inning while Dykes was throwing out Burnett after losing a double play by a momentary fumble.

SECOND GAME

The atrocities started early in the second game. The Indians hit a ball to Chamberlin in the first inning and the panic was on. As a warmup for the youngster's blunder, Burnett singled and Averill walked with one out. Vosmik then grounded to Chamberlin, who booted with a double play in sight, filling the bases. Trosky doubled off the right field wall to score Burnett and Averill. The bases were filled again on a pass to Hale. Then Kamm bounced to Boken, who fumbled but recovered in time to start a double killing.

The Sox cut the Indians' lead in half by scoring one in the second. Simmons opened with a scratch single to Monte Pearson, who pitched the entire game. The next two men did nothing, but Shea stepped in with a two bagger to right center, Simmons scoring. Then the Chicagoans tied it at 2 apiece in the third. Conlan opened with a double, was sacrificed to third by Swanson and scored on Dykes' single. A pass to Bonura followed, but Simmons died swinging and Boken popped to Hale.

Wyatt Stubs His Toe.

Wyatt alone was to blame for what happened in the third. Burnett opened with a double which took an unexpected hop over Bonura's head. Averill walked and was forced by Vosmik. A pass to Trosky loaded the bases, and Hale promptly cleaned house with a two bagger to left center. Kamm singled to right to send Hale home, and Kamm moved to second on the throw in. That completed the suffering for the time being.

The Sox recovered some ground in the fourth by scoring a pair. After two were out Wyatt singled to deep short, Conlan walked and both scored when Swanson's fly ball hit the nearby right field wall for two bases. This made it 6 to 4. In the fifth the Sox crept up with one more run which grew from Kamm's wide throw on Bonura, a single by Boken and an infield out.

Gallivan Walks Four.

But the Indians bounced back with three in their half on Trosky's single, a pass to Kamm, a triple by Myatt and Pearson's long fly. This assault finished Wyatt's labors.

The run off Gallivan in the eighth resulted from four bases on balls. Seven Indians batted in this inning, but none of them hit safely, which was a good thing for those afraid to go home in the dark.

Chicago Roamers Win Two Games from Forest Park

The Chicago Roamers yesterday defeated the Forest Park [Ill.], Baseball team in a double header, 14 to 9 and 6 to 5. The Roamers had little trouble winning the first game, but had to stage a last inning offensive to capture the second. Meister and Hess were the winning pitchers, Mueller catching both games.

Cubs, Pirates Break Even in Two Games

Padden, Lucas stopping at third. Paul Waner delivered his second single of the inning, scoring Lucas. Joiner was yanked and Root went in to pitch. The bases were full when Traynor beat out a bounder to Billy Herman. Grimm made a nice stop of Vaughan's grounder and stepped on first to end the tragic session.

Pirates on New Rampage.

Tinning was permitted to pitch the ninth. Birkofer opened with a single to center. L. Waner forced Birkofer, but P. Waner made it four hits in a row with a homer over the right field screen, his brother scoring ahead of him.

Aside from a double by Babe Herman the Cubs were helpless from the fourth to the ninth inning. Grimm led off the ninth with a single and Warneke ran for him. Galan batted for Hack and singled to left, Warneke stopping at second. Stephenson batted for Tinning and tapped into a double play, Warneke reaching third. W. Herman walked and took second without a play. Kirkofer tossed out English to end the game.

Afraid Eight Aren't Enough.

The Cubs, after having their faces made so red in the first game, did not feel safe with those aforesaid eight runs they scored in the first two innings of the second game. In the fourth inning Grimm knocked his third successive single, with one out. Hack was safe on Vaughan's fumble. Then Weaver forced Hack, Grimm taking third, whence he scored on the second of Billy Herman's three hits, a single to left.

In the fifth inning Babe Herman doubled into the crowd and scored when Cuyler also got a double, his third hit. In the sixth the Cubs rounded out their scoring program. Hack walked, Weaver executed one of his four strikeouts and Billy Herman doubled, Hack stopping at third. English flied to Jensen, Hack scoring. Then Klein doubled, scoring Billy Herman.

LOAYZA ARRIVES FOR TEN ROUND BOUT WITH DAY

Boxers in Good Shape After Workouts.

Stanislaus Loayza, Chilean junior welterweight, arrived from New York yesterday morning for his 10 round bout with Davey Day of the west side at Sparta stadium Wednesday. He appeared to be in superb physical condition. Shortly after detraining he appeared at Trafton's gymnasium for a workout. He went eight rounds, shadow boxing two and then going two each on the light and heavy bags and on the skipping rope. After the drill Stanley weighed 137, his handler said.

Day also trained yesterday. The promising youngster, whom his stablemate, Champion Barney Ross, predicts will win a title some day, sparred four fast rounds with Gene Caggiano. Trainer Benny Ray stated that Day scaled 136 when he finished.

Three of four supporting bouts have been arranged by Promoter Harry Weiss. Frank Genovese, Toronto, Ont., 143 pound boxer, will meet Eddie [Red] Chinski of Kankakee, Ill., at six rounds. Another encounter at this distance will bring together Al Soukup and Bud Kernes, featherweights. Sammy Scoglio, Chicago 126 pounder, is paired with Young Jackie Dallas, Davenport, Ia., for four rounds.

Shows will be offered tonight at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street, and White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. Everett [Young] Rightmeier, Sioux City, Ia., featherweight, and a newcomer, Freddy Penn of Omaha, Neb., will meet in an eight round bout at White City. Lenny Cohen, rangy local bantamweight, and squatty Johnny Gaudes of Milwaukee, Wis., are to clash for eight rounds at Marigold.

TIN MARKET FAVORABLE.

Trade interests view the tin market's action as favorable in view of the substantial recession in tin plate mill operations, which are now estimated at 50 per cent of capacity. Tin is close to its top price for the last several weeks.

SUMMER HARDWARE DEMAND.

SURPLUS WHEAT DISTRIBUTION BENEFITS PRICE

Cash Premiums Best in Recent Years.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The peculiar distribution of surplus wheat carried over from last season is regarded as a factor in the active bidding for cash grain which millers are now making. Premiums paid last week for cash wheat over future deliveries were the largest paid in recent years.

This year's wheat crop east of the Rockies, including Montana, Idaho, and Wyoming will aggregate 442 million bushels as near as can be determined from the statistics now available. This is an increase of 15,000,000 bushels from 1933. The Pacific coast crop will run around 74,000,000 bushels, it is indicated, compared with 90,000,000 last season. However, the estimated reduction of 100,000,000 bushels in the carryover during the last season has taken place largely east of the Rockies.

Surplus Down Sharply.

There was an indicated total of about 200,000,000 bushels of old grain in all positions east of the Rockies July 1. Adding this to the new crop brings the total supplies to about 640,000,000 bushels to take care of theoretical resuirements of 580,000,000 bushels. This would indicate that only 60,000,000 bushels would be left on June 30, 1935, including farm reserves, mill and elevator stocks, and visible supply. This is regarded as an extremely narrow margin.

The Pacific coast has indicated supplies of 125,000,000 bushels and normally requires only about 55,000,000 bushels for bread and seed and other requirements. Apprehension is expressed by millers that the comparatively high prices prevailing east of the Rockies will enable the Pacific coast to ship wheat and flour to the Atlantic seaboard and gulf ports by way of the Panama canal.

Coast Has Advantage.

It is claimed that Pacific coast wheat and flour can be laid down at the Atlantic coast now at a price below the figure at which they can be shipped from the central west and southwest. At the same time the mills in the northwest are being forced to draw heavily on the hard winter wheat in the southwest for their cash wheat during the current season because of the known shortage in the spring wheat crop in the northwest.

The futures market last week was called upon again to absorb a large volume of hedging pressure. While there were indications that the crop movement is beginning to recede receipts continued fairly heavy. September wheat closed at 89⅝ cents a bushel, compared with 90⅝ cents a week ago. July wheat closed at 88¼ cents, a loss of ⅛ cent for the week. The range of prices on wheat futures follows:

	July.	September.	December.

Other Grains Lower.

Prices of other grain futures also sagged during the week. Rains brought relief to the corn crop suffering from heat and lack of reserve moisture and the price of September corn sold down 3 cents a bushel to close the week at 58⅛ cents a bushel. September oats closed a cent lower at 43⅛ cents a bushel although reports of an exceedingly poor crop showed no change in tone. The September rye contract was selling at 65½ cents when the week closed against 67⅛ cents a week previous.

Barley was quoted 1 cent lower at 52 cents a bushel for the September delivery.

N. Y. CURB PRICES EDGE FORWARD; VOLUME IS LIGHT

New York, July 8.—(AP)—With the Fourth of July holiday interrupting last week's curb dealings, transfers again dwindled to around the low for the year. The mid-week respite in trading, marked a reversal of the recent downward trend and the list as a whole finished with moderate improvement.

Specialties led the mild advance. Utilities gathered strength as the week progressed while oils and metals were generally narrow. Alcohols were neglected. Glen Alden Coal recorded a new high for the year in an active turnover. New York and Honduras Rosario also made a new 1934 top, although buying was restricted. Other firm spots included Greyhound corporation, American Cyanamid B, American Gas and Electric, Electric Bond and Share, and Sherwin Williams.

Aluminum Company of America recovered after a bad start, while Newmount Mining likewise erased an initial setback. Some of the oils and metals, including Lake Shore and Standard Oil of Indiana, finished virtually without change.

Boston Wool Market Unsettled in Last Week

Boston, Mass., July 8. — (AP) — The Boston wool market was unsettled last week. Besides continued reluctance of mills to begin anticipating requirements in raw wools, a sharp decline in prices at the London opening added a further degree of uncertainty. The English decline had been expected but many local traders had not expected quite as sharp a drop. Nominal quotations on spot domestic wools in Boston showed little change.

Electricity Takes Rap for Unruly Pupils

Since the time of dunce caps and conciliatory apples for teacher the standard punishment for the bad boy in the class has been to make him stay after school and clean blackboard erasers. A new form of punishment must be devised, however, for an electric device has been perfected which cleans the erasers in a few seconds. It operates on the principle of the vacuum cleaner and is said to do a much better job than little Johnny or Willie could do by hand.

A unique experiment in transporting water for irrigation purposes is in progress in Texas. Shortage of water brought a critical condition to rice farms along the banks of the Colorado river. To save the crops of 95 growers which it supplies with water the Gulf Coast Water company of Bay City purchased 4 billion 553 million gallons of water 480 miles away for a price of $10,000. This was turned into the Colorado river and is on its way to supply the thirsty rice crops. At the ordinary rate of flow it will take twelve days for the first of the purchased water to reach its destination. It is expected about 50 per cent will be lost in transit by evaporation and leakage.

The horse and mule business in the last twelve months has been the best since the close of the war, according to the Horse and Mule association. Farmers are using more animals, realizing this will increase consumption of farm crops. The saddle industry is said to be studying a campaign to bring about greater interest in horseback riding. There are still 15,000,000 horses and mules in the United States despite the growth in mechanical power.

A New York brokerage house recently sold 16/983393 of a share of Standard Oil of Kansas stock for which it received $10. On this basis a full share would be worth $614,614. A rush to examine safety boxes which might contain fractional shares is on, but it is unlikely a heavy business will develop.

Nearly 300 stockholders of Armour & Co. who hadn't seen a dividend for a varying number of years took one out in trade Friday. They had a free lunch on the company after the stockholders' meeting at which a recapitalization plan was ratified. Owners of class B common shares never had a dividend, class A holders received their last payment in 1926, and the most recent preferred distribution was on Jan. 2, 1931. The "dividend" was doubly welcome after the group had suffered through a session of more than two hours in the humid gymnasium where the meeting took place.

Anent the revival of bicycle riding as a universal American sport, Sewell L. Avery, president of Montgomery Ward & Co., was seen the other day trying out one of the mail order house models. Observers pronounced him an expert after watching him wheel down alles and about obstructions in the store basement.

Haugan, Thompson & Co. to Succeed Midwest

Formation of Haugan, Thompson & Co. by Jevne Haugan, former vice president of the Foreman-State National bank, H. Hoyt Thompson, former secretary treasurer of the Mid-West company, and Richard O. Haugan, was announced yesterday. The concern will succeed to the business of the Mid-West company, real estate and mortgage loan firm, and will occupy offices of the old company at 33 North La Salle street.

STEEL OUTPUT AT 22 PER CENT; RISE EXPECTED

Drastic Reductions in Prices Made.

The steel industry made drastic price reductions last week, following reductions previously made on sheets, strip, bars, and other products used principally by automobile manufacturers, according to the magazine Steel. Operations for the week receded to an artificial low of 22 per cent of productive capacity, but a rebound to at least 33 per cent is expected this week.

Steel's finished price composite is down $1.40 to $54.10, but is still $3 higher than the level at which most second quarter orders were booked. The iron and steel composite has dropped 83 cents to $34.23, and is still $1.83 above the price of second quarter bookings. The iron and steel scrap composite remains at $10.37.

Nearly All Prices Cut.

There have been reductions in nearly all classifications of steel. Slashes of $2 a ton were made in sheet bars, billets, and slabs, enameling sheets, tin mill black sheets, iron bars, alloy steel billets, blooms, and bars. Reductions of $4 a ton were made in long term plates, hot rolled pickled in breakdown sheets known as the Ford "special," and cold rolled strip. Galvanized sheets are down $3 a ton and shapes and plates $1 a ton.

Wire and wire products and reinforcing bars have escaped reductions so far, also rails and track accessories, which had not advanced in April.

Those consumers who had stocked up during June in anticipation of higher prices will not be immediately benefited by the readjustments. They have on hand materials which in many instances could be replaced at lower figures.

Reduction Not Effective.

The industry does not interpret as applying to steel the government's order permitting bidders on federal work to cut code prices 15 per cent, with the stipulation that such prices become general to the public.

Buyers are remaining out of the market as long as possible until assured of its stability. It is generally believed that substantial improvement in buying will not be felt until August. Automobile manufacturers have placed orders for $20,000,000 to $30,000,000 worth of dies in preparation for new models.

Freight car awards for June numbered 1,835. The total for the first six months was 23,259, the highest since the 1930 period.

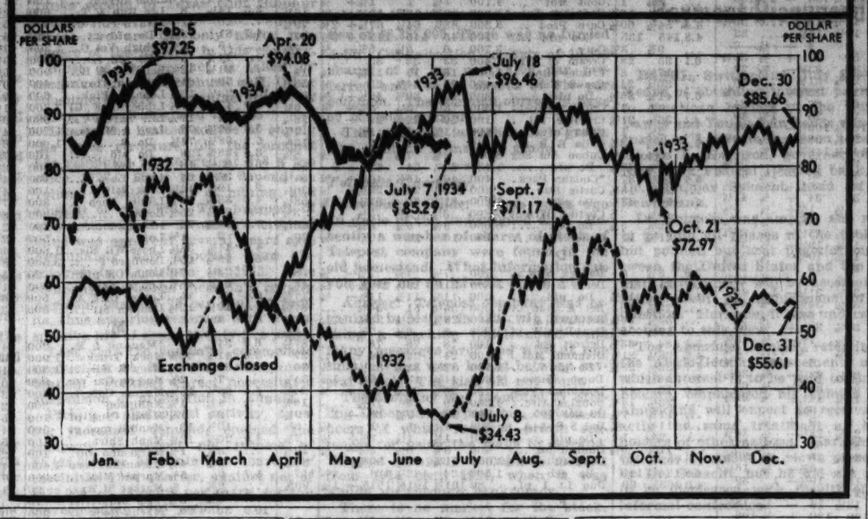

Shape Awards Decline.

There was a reduction of 10,095 in structural shape awards during the week. Bids for 16,150 tons of steel piling for the dam at Fort Peck, Mont., will be opened July 9. This is the largest permanent installation of steel piling in this country. Awards for 9,300 tons of cast pipe were made by San Francisco.

Daily average pig iron production for June was 2.7 per cent below May at 64,563 gross tons. Output for the month at 1,936,897 tons was down 5.8 per cent. During the first six months the industry made 9,852,608 tons, or 121 per cent more than in the 1933 period. As of June 30, there were 92 stacks in blast, a net loss of 25.

Daily average steel ingot output for June at 103,724 gross tons was 16.5 per cent below May.

DOUBLE RAILROAD RATE OF RETURN IN 1ST 5 MONTHS

Class 1 railroads of the United States had net railway operating income of $183,977,640, or an annual rate of return of 2.11 per cent on property investment, for the first five months of this year, according to the bureau of railway economics. This compares with $94,918,398, a return of 1.08 per cent, for the same 1933 period.

The compilation is based upon the reports of 148 class I railroads, representing a total of 239,303 miles. Gross operating revenues for the period amounted to $1,347,033,883, an increase of 18.5 per cent over the $1,136,911,878 for the 1933 period. Operating expenses amounted to $1,003,889,536 during the first five months, against $883,616,031, or an increase of 13.6 per cent over the corresponding period of 1933.

There was a reduction of 2.4 per cent in the amount of taxes paid. During the first five months of this year taxes amounted to $106,444,793, against $109,042,306 for the first five months of last year. The tax bill for May alone amounted to $21,872,345, a reduction of $154,503, or 0.7 per cent, from the amount for May, 1933.

LIVE STOCK VALUE SHOWS GAIN OF $1,640,000,000

The market value of cattle, hogs and sheep on American farms was increased by $1,640,000,000 during the first six months of this year, according to the Institute of American Meat Packers.

The upturn in values was attributed to improved consumer purchasing power and heavier demand for meat and meat products, along with a reduction in live stock marketings.

Of the total cattle accounted for $1,394,000,000, sheep $72,000,000 and hogs $174,000,000. There was a gain of $2.20 per hundredweight in the average market price of cattle and calves for the week ended June 30 over the week ended Dec. 30, 1933. The institute explained that the figures do not include hog processing taxes of approximately $107,000,000 incurred during the period.

WHOLESALE BUSINESS BETTER HERE; RETAIL ACTIVITY DECREASES

Wholesalers here reported another good week for the latest period, compared with recent years, while retail activity was slow as a result of unsettled weather and the holiday lull, according to the Chicago Association of Commerce. Bright spots in the wholesale field were in furniture, general dry goods, ready-to-wear, and gift lines.

Except for the steel industry, where a decided setback was suffered, pay rolls and wages held to levels of the preceding week. Power demands in the utility field continued ahead of 1933, and telephone requirements also moved upward.

Per capita expenditures of visitors to the World's Fair are said to have increased materially, compensating somewhat for a smaller attendance than anticipated because of unfavorable weather.

Dismiss Plea for Lower Refrigerator Rail Rates

Washington, D. C., July 8. — (AP) — The interstate commerce commission has dismissed a complaint of Janney-Semple-Hill & Co. against the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis and other roads asking a reduction in carload rates on refrigerators and cooling apparatus from Dayton, O., to Minneapolis.

CHICAGO HOME BANK VOLUME RISES SHARPLY

The volume of business of the Federal Home Loan Bank of Chicago increased nearly 100 per cent in the twelve months ended July 1, according to Henry G. Zander Jr., chairman of the board. Serving building and loan associations and federal savings and loan associations in Illinois and Wisconsin with reserve credit facilities, the bank had loans outstanding on July 1 of $11,360,160, compared with $6,364,760 a year ago.

During the last year 27 additional local institutions have come into the bank's membership, Mr. Zander stated, bringing the total to 299 members, with total assets of $255,673,075. More than half of the year's increase has come in the last six months. This gives the bank 26 per cent of all eligible local institutions in the district, and present prospects are for steady expansion of the membership.

Mr. Zander reported that $6,637,095 has been advanced to these institutions during the year period. Repayments to the bank of one-year advances to member institutions for seasonal demands total $1,641,711.97 as of July 1.

Thermoid Textile Company to Make Velvet Carpets

The Thermoid Textile company of Trenton, N. J., subsidiary of the Thermoid company, announced its entry into the velvet carpet manufacturing field with a plant prepared to manufacture special widths up to 50 inches.

Industry Hits Midyear Lull; Trade Better

New York, July 8.—(AP)—Industry went into a pronounced midyear lull last week, while retail trade responded to the impetus of holiday requirements, sharpened by torrid weather. The early July lull in industry, while in marked contrast to the feverish activity at this time last year, was at least a return to normal conditions, and with inventories in most lines now at relatively modest levels, a substantial seasonal upturn by autumn is widely anticipated.

The flurry of manufacturing in midsummer last year was highly artificial, reflecting inflation psychology and efforts to beat rising costs under NRA codes. It piled up large inventories, resulting in a slump in manufacturing in autumn, normally an active period.

Many Lines Curtail Output.

Steel output, automobile production, rubber tires, textiles, and several other manufacturing lines have substantially curtailed output. Steel output fell close to 20 per cent of capacity, the lowest in over a year, from about 60 per cent only three weeks ago, but the publication Steel estimates that it will get back above 30 per cent next week.

Despite curtailment for the holiday week, automobile makers are finding summer demand better than looked for some weeks ago, and July manufacturing schedules have been advanced. The rubber tire industry has found inventories mounting, and has gone on a four-day week. Textiles are still sharply curtailed, with some mills closing for a week or two for vacation period. The summer curtailment in the textile mills, it is pointed out, has prevented the building up of burdensome inventories, and should result in a good pickup in activity by autumn.

Statistics Encouraging.

The statistics which appeared for the last week of June were distinctly encouraging. Freight car loadings showed a larger than seasonal gain and reached a new high for the year, topping the previous peak reached in the week of March 17. The gain over the previous week was 3.7 per cent, but owing to sharply mounting freight movements a year ago, the total of 644,572 cars was only 2,842 over the like week of 1933, or 0.4 per cent. Electric Power Production last week of June also rose to a new high for the year, with a gain of about seasonal proportions.

Standard Statistics company tentatively estimates its index of industrial production for July, seasonally adjusted, at 75.2, compared with 79.0 in June, and the artificially high level of 89.9 reached in the flurry of this month last year.

STOCK MARKET TRADE DULLEST IN TEN YEARS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 7.—Apart from a further slackening of trading activity, the first week of government control brought no perceptible change to the stock market picture. Prices crawled slightly forward, the improvement on the four and one-half business sessions — Wednesday was a holiday — amounting to nearly 2 points, but the bulk of orders originated, as usual, with traders and small investment "flyers."

Many figures of the speculative old guard were absent from their posts on vacations, the length of which will depend not so much on the prolongation of the record heat wave through which the city has been passing as on the extent and duration of the "midsummer trade reaction" which made its deferred debut around the first of the month.

Low Volume of Trade.

Measured by the day to day turnover, the week on the exchange was the dullest in about ten years, or since the country started working out of the post-war depression. The total for the period was 1,893,843 shares, falling short of an average day's total of two or three years ago. By days, the totals ran: Monday, 410,000 shares; Tuesday, 400,000; Thursday, 440,000; Friday, 460,000, and Saturday, 182,000 shares.

What improvement the week brought forth in prices was registered in the face of some rather disappointing trade statistics, including the weekly steel output figures showing production down to 21 per cent of theoretical plant capacity as compared with 61 per cent three weeks ago and 48 per cent at the end of June, and the weekly carloadings figures. Car loading, which had lately been running far above those of 1933, are now showing little change from those for the corresponding period of last year.

Bearish News from Abroad.

The disquieting news from abroad, featured by the fresh outbreak of disorders in Germany and some rather bearish slants on the monetary status of Italy and France, had no appreciable effect on speculative sentiment. Boardroom discussions revealed a general hope that the United States would take a firm stand, like Great Britain, in demanding fair treatment for American holders of government bonds, but on the exchange the situation was apparently dismissed as "just another of those things," relatively unimportant with so much at home to cogitate upon.

Majority opinion in the street seems to be that the market's future is going to depend on the result of harvests and the rapidity of recovery in the steel industry more largely than on anything liable to happen abroad. If business fails to pick up appreciably by fall, it is believed that inflation will be resorted to by the New Deal government, determined as it is to make a showing on its recovery program regardless of fundamental conditions.

Look for Inflation.

Indeed, with treasury expenditures continuing unchecked, many do not see how the country can escape a dose of currency "expansion" in any case. The potentiality is influencing many more than anything else to lay in stocks on occasional recessions regardless of the downswing in current trade statistics.

Among market groups there has been little choice over the week. Railroad shares have been sold a little more freely than some others, perhaps, particularly earlier in the week following the President's signing of the railroad pension bill. Silver shares have also come in for some pronounced liquidation at times, on an "understanding" that the administration may go a little slow on its silver buying program, until it is seen what business may do without the artificial stimulus provided for in the silver bill. The utilities have done a shade better than usual, comparatively speaking, however, and so have the oils. Tobacco shares were in a bullish mood most of the week and rose to near their highs since May 14.

Liability for Bank Failures.

Financial Editor: In these days, when debtors seem to be getting relief from their obligations, warantable or unwarantable, be it foreign countries, farmers [through federal legislation], or corporations, not one thing seems to be done, nor a voice raised in behalf of the most innocent debtor of all—I refer to the stockholders of many of our closed banks in the Chicago area.

They seem to be the victims of an archaic law, a law which when it went into effect never intended to guarantee a depositor his money [and at a time when the stocks of banks were in the hands of six, eight, ten, or a dozen people who controlled the management and government of the banks], but the spirit of this law was to prevent fraudulent practices on the part of the management. Today this stock in most cases has been spread over many, many holders, and the banks did not close because of fraudulent practices, but because of an unprecedented economic debacle. Yet, with most assets having shrunken to as low as 10 cents or less on the dollar, a stockholder's liability still is assessed 100 per cent.

When the argument is raised that most of the outlying banks were "not banks," it is interesting to observe that most of the outlying banks before closing, liquidated their deposit accounts from 70 to 90 per cent over a period of two years, in a depressed market. I wonder how many of the large downtown banks, which receive governmental support, could have withstood a drain in proportion like that.

The stockholders do not get credit for the amount of bank earnings which were contributed to its surplus account and which was for the benefit of the depositor. Under conditions such as are prevalent today, the stockholders should be given credit in proportion that the surplus is to the capital.

PAUL A. WENDLAND, Chicago.

Financial Editor: The month of June is a time when the big speculators do not care to buy wheat, but after July 10, when the crop is made, and there is plenty of wheat offered for sale, they are then most apt to begin buying the futures of wheat to hold for the better prices quite certain to come a few months later on.

For the last four years wheat has been almost continuously selling below $1 per bushel excepting in July, 1933; for the 20 years before that it sold well above $1 every year for several months and the average high for wheat during that 20 years was almost $2 per bushel in Chicago. In 12 of those 20 years the high for wheat was well above $1.50, in 8 of the 20 years the high was above $2, and in 3 of those years it sold above $3 per bushel.

Wheat is now ready to come back to reasonable prices; poor crops all over the world this year with two sensationally bad crops in succession in America are proving too much for even Liverpool to hold the prices down longer.

Without most folks realizing it, we are entering into an inflationary period for all commodities; we have nearly doubled our supply of dollars, we are going to use plenty of silver, and as individuals we have largely liquidated our personal debts.

Youth is coming to the front and eager to make a profit and getting ready to buy something which looks cheap.

Argentina is a semi-arid country with often poor crops from lack of moisture; she has had four big crops in succession and a bad crop is past due with already serious complaints of drouth. If she comes on next November with a poor crop there is no telling how high the price of wheat may go.

With grasshoppers threatening in Canada, drouth in Russia, hot weather in Europe, and a good big short interest now out in wheat, there is plenty to put the price up when the public decides to buy some.

PRIVATE BANKING FIRM REVEALS LIQUID POSITION

Brown Brothers Makes First Report.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 8.—Brown Brothers, Harriman & Co., private bankers, who last month decided to continue their deposit banking business, submitted themselves to examination by the state superintendent of banks and segregating their securities business, publish today for the first time a statement of their condition.

The statement, made up as of June 30, shows total assets of $48,057,114 and deposits of $22,177,678. Of these, $19,696,190 consists of demand deposits and $2,481,488 of time deposits. Against them the firm holds cash of $9,434,218, United States government securities [carried at the lower of cost or market] of $3,708,400, and call loans or acceptances of other banks of $6,250,000, a total of $19,392,618, indicating liquidity of almost 100 per cent against demand deposits.

Lists Other Assets.

Other assets include time deposits due from banks of $100,000, loans and advances of $3,641,986, marketable bonds and stocks of $9,048,901, other investments of $53,410,029, customers' liability on acceptances of $12,376,369, and other miscellaneous assets of $87,198.

Capital of the firm, as previously disclosed, amounts to $2,000,000 and surplus of $8,376,098. Liability for acceptances, less own acceptances held in portfolio, comes to $12,444,539, and reserves for contingencies to $1,938,124.

Condition Improves.

In a letter to stockholders, accompanying the bank's statement of conditions as of June 30, Orie R. Kelly, president of the Lawyers' County Trust company, reveals that the special "appreciation" reserve set up by the bank in April, 1933, to hold the unrealized recovery in the market price of securities held was utilized in part in the last three months.

As of June 30, the letter says, the appreciation in this account was $1,057,693, equal to $13.22 a share. In view of the greater stability in the securities markets the directors decided to transfer from this special reserve $550,000. Of this amount $200,000 was added to undivided profits, bringing this account to $515,322, a further $155,000 was used to make adjustments in the loan and real estate accounts, and the balance of $195,000 was added to reserves. This left a balance in the special reserves against which any subsequent depreciation in the market value of securities held by the company may be charged.

Earns $2.09 a Share.

Mr. Kelly said that the net income of the bank for the first six months of this year was $167,241, equal to $2.09 a share, or more than one and one-half times the regular dividend requirements of 60 cents quarterly. The bank reports resources of $36,803,399 and deposits of $32,026,445.

The statement of the First and Merchants National bank of Richmond, Va., as of June 30, showed resources of $60,197,330 and deposits of $53,938,028. Surplus and undivided profits come to $2,249,902 and capital to $3,000,000. The bank reports holdings of $13,663,354 of United States government securities, cash in vault, checks for clearings and amounts due from open banks of $11,741,139, and amounts due from the Federal Reserve bank of $6,384,882.

Milford, Ill., Bank Pays Out More Than 80 Pct.

MAKES SURVEY OF PETROLEUM FUTURE IN TEXAS

E. H. Johnson Discusses Oil Problems.

Austin, Tex., July 8.—[Special.]—An economic and physical survey of the petroleum industry in Texas has been made by Elmer H. Johnson, industrial geographer in the bureau of business research of the University of Texas. By studying the industry during the depression Mr. Johnson has considered the future problems and prospective status of the industry.

"Dominant though the petroleum industry is in Texas, its future outlook is of the greatest concern to the people of the state," Mr. Johnson said. "This outlook will be determined in many cases and greatly modified in other cases by reserves of oil in Texas and other states of the southwest; reserves in other parts of the world, particularly in Russia and in the lands bordering the Caribbean sea; the degree of application of science and technological processes to the production of crude oil, to refining, and to the utilization of oil products, and to the trends in market demands for products of crude petroleum.

Strength of Industry.

"The strength of the economic position of the oil industry during the years of the depression is highly indicative of the strategic position oil products have attained in modern economic life. Crude oil production in this country reached its high point in 1929, but in 1930 it was 103.5 per cent greater than the average of crude oil production for the five year period 1918-'22; in 1931 it was 92.8 per cent higher, and in 1932, 77.1 per cent greater.

"In 1933 there was a considerable gain over production in 1932. By way of contrast it may be noted that production of pig iron in the United States in 1931 was only half what it was in 1920, and in 1932 it was less than one-fourth of the 1920 production.

"Due to the introduction of technical processes in refining, however, the real strength of the oil industry is shown in the trends of its refined products. In 1929 the production of gasoline in the United States was 284.5 per cent greater than it was for the average of the five year period of 1918-'22; in 1930, 281.9 per cent; in 1931, 281.3 per cent, and in 1932, 246.9 per cent. These percentage increases in the production of gasoline would be higher still were the amounts of natural gasoline included.

Several Problems Loom.

"Moreover, in 1929 and 1930 United States exports of gasoline were considerably higher than they have been during the last two years. The strength of the American oil industry during the depression has been the proportion of the nation's purchasing power which has been expended for oil products.

"Several problems, however, loom up as of possible importance to the oil industry in the near future. One of these is that of disparity between oil reserves and oil production in the North American countries. Another factor of probable importance is the increased use of the Diesel engine in the United States in recent years. Still another is the growing tendency in this country to regard crude oil as a chemical raw material. Modern refining enterprises are not only widening the range of products derived from crude oil, but also at the same time materially raising the quality of these products.

Crude Exports Rise.

"Still another item of great importance is the growing decentralization of the oil refining industry. In recent years oil refining operations have been materially increased not only in Russia, but in many of the countries of western Europe; a similar growth is noticeable in Canada and in other countries. In 1933 for the first time in several years the exports of crude oil from the United States exceeded our imports. More than half our crude oil exports of last year went to Canada; France took 21 per cent, and Japan 15 per cent. Moreover, most of the American imports of 1933 were heavy crudes required for the manufacture of asphalt; most of these went to the Atlantic seaboard.

"Finally, it is to be emphasized that no industry can maintain itself in a static condition. For the oil industry as a whole it is necessary to consider the probable supply of products it can furnish to the markets in the near future. Potential markets have to be given first consideration from the long time point of view of industry adjustments. Thus Texas' stake in the oil industry is not by any means confined to compartments within the boundaries of the state, and it is no less concerned with competition elsewhere than it is with the changes and expansion of markets for oil products the world over."

CUBAN SUGAR EXPORTS DOWN.

Cuban sugar exports during the first six months of 1934 totaled 814,459 tons raw sugar value, against 1,028,718 tons in the same period last year, according to Lamborn & Co., sugar brokers.

BAKERS' CODE GOES INTO EFFECT TODAY; WATCH BREAD PRICES

Washington, D. C., July 8.—(AP)—The billion dollar baking industry begins operating under its NRA code tomorrow. Housewife buyers of millions of loaves of bread daily were known here to be watching closely the possible effect of the new wages, working hour and trade practice rules extending to the industry's 25,000 bakeries. What will happen to prices remains to be seen.

Hugh S. Johnson held the opinion that "competition is so keen and the number of establishments so great that little likelihood exists of the development of a price structure detrimental to the consumer or of inordinate profits of the industry."

The code empowers the code authority—the national bakers council—to set up with Johnson's approval market areas "to the end that a certain amount of protection against invasion of high cost areas by low cost areas may be afforded, in order to protect existing wage scales and employment standards in these high cost areas." Each member must sell bread upon the basis of prices filed with the code authorities for marketing areas he serves. He is prohibited from selling below his quoted prices or below cost "except to meet a competitor's price not in violation of the code."

The code prescribes a 40 hour week for mechanical and large handicraft bakeries and 48 hours for small handicraft retail bakeries. The wage minimum is 40 cents an hour with a 5 cent differential in the south.

SPAIN PLANS TO ARM BALEARICS WITH U. S. GUNS

MADRID, July 8.—(AP)—The Associated Press learned today from a high official source that Spain is planning fortifications for the Balearic Islands in the Mediterranean sea to cost a billion pesetas [about $136,000,000].

The Spanish government has asked munitions makers in the United States for specifications on armaments and data on the cost of big guns, anti-aircraft artillery and coast defense equipment, it was ascertained.

It was said that officials are convinced that American arms and equipment of the type needed are the best obtainable at present. Because of this conviction, it was said, Spain has made a study of American equipment, delving as deeply as possible without infringing on American government secrets.

It was learned the closely guarded plans call for two, four, six, eight, and ten year building programs. The program is designed to encircle the three major islands, Mallorca, Minorca, and Ibiza, with a chain of steel and stone. Armaments, it was understood, are to include disappearing and railway guns of the largest caliber in use anywhere. Spanish mills have had no experience constructing such weapons. A fleet of swift, armored speedboats are proposed to attack landing parties. Data is also being sought from America on submarine nets, mines, and torpedoes.

STOCK RISE HERE IS GREATER THAN ON N. Y. EXCHANGE

Shares on the Chicago Stock exchange last week were in better relative position than New York exchange stocks, both in relation to the previous week and to the corresponding period of 1933, according to compilations made by Paul H. Davis & Co.

The market value of 25 representative stocks listed on the Chicago exchange increased $108,020,837 to $695,928,212 at the close of business yesterday. This was a rise of 18.38 per cent for the week. This figure, however, was 11.39 per cent, or $89,488,201 below their market value of $785,416,413 at the same time a year ago.

Fifty representative listings on the New York exchange showed a gain of 1.57 per cent for the week, market values increasing $194,894,500 to $12,565,300,750. The latter is 17.62 per cent, or $2,687,904,875, less than the market value of $15,253,265,625 a year ago.

New York Tax Collections Rise Over $39,000,000

New York, July 8.—(AP)—Controler Joseph D. McGoldrick said today that an increase of more than $39,000,000 in tax collections during the first six months of the La Guardia administration over the corresponding period of 1933 and the reestablishing of the city's credit gave him confidence that the city should be able tomorrow to float a bond issue at under 4 per cent. The issue is for $72,000,000.

Omaha Road Asks Permit to Abandon Nine Mile Line

Washington, D. C., July 8. — (AP) — The Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha R. R. has petitioned the interstate commerce commission today for permission to abandon approximately nine miles of trackage from Elmwod, Pierce county, to Weston, Dunn county, Wis. The trackage is part of the company's Spring Valley branch line.

STUDY REVEALS SHOWING OF BIG FIRMS IS BEST

Small Concerns' Rate of Return Less.

Cambridge, Mass., July 8.—Large corporations showed more satisfactory earnings during 1931 than the small ones, according to Prof. W. L. Crum of the Harvard business school, who has made a comprehensive analysis of the effect of size on corporate earnings and conditions in the United States.

Prior to this time it has been difficult to classify corporation incomes or deficits in the United States by any satisfactory measure of size of firm. This research study is based on the most recent income statistics published by the United States bureau of internal revenue on the basis of corporation income tax reports for 1931.

Large Concerns' Returns Better.

A significant tendency for larger corporations to have a higher return on their gross business than smaller corporations is shown by the investigation. It is also shown that larger corporations have a smaller rate of loss on their net worth, in a depression year like 1931, than is found in the case of smaller companies.

General findings of the study show: Sales volume in terms of net worth is larger for small than large corporations in most lines of industry; sales volume in terms of capital assets is larger for small companies than large; current position of the larger corporations is distinctly better in most divisions than the smaller companies. In 1931 the ratio of sales to inventory was higher in the smaller companies than in the large ones, except in the trade division.

381,088 Firms Included.

Balance sheet and income data of 381,088 corporations for the year 1931 are included in the study. Separate figures are shown for the following divisions: Manufacture, trade, mining, construction, agriculture, public utilities, finance, and service.

Information on divisions and groups is also divided according to nine size classes, ranging from corporations with total assets under $50,000 to corporations with total assets of $50,000,000 and over.

$300,000,000 PUT UP TO FINANCE HOME PROGRAM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, July 8.—As a result of amendments to the home owners' loan act made by the last congress, $300,000,000 is now available for cash advances for maintenance and reconditioning of homes financed by the corporation, and it was announced today that 288,000 applications already had been made for an aggregate of $55,000,000, an average of nearly $200 in reconditioning expenditures for each home. Loans of this type through the corporation are restricted to home owners who are in financial difficulty temporarily and are unable to obtain financing elsewhere.

Under the direction of the home loan bank board, it was stated, a reconditioning organization of architects and other technical specialists has been set up by regions, states, and districts to pass upon reconditioning loan applications and to approve the bids and supervise the actual construction work which will be carried out by private contractors selected by the home owners.

Freeport Texas Company.

Investors' Guide: I would appreciate information regarding common stock of Freeport Texas.—B. A. G.

Answer: Freeport Texas company ranks second to Texas Gulf Sulphur company in production of sulphur. These two are the only major producers of the mineral in this country.

Most of the product is taken by manufacturers of sulphuric acid. Other consumers are manufacturers of paper, insecticides, and rubber.

Due to the limited source of supply the price structure for the product has remained unchanged at $18 a ton since 1927. Thus profits depend on volume of sales, costs of mining, and amount of reserves. The prospect of exhaustion of the company's original mine was apparent several years ago. Fortunately new deposits were discovered in Louisiana in 1932. The company has leased these on a royalty payment basis of 70 per cent of profits, thus assuring reserves with a prospective life of about twenty-five years.

Pickup in industrial activity, causing increased demand, enabled the company to report net income of $1,428,000, or 55 cents per share, for the initial 1934 quarter, against net of $977,000, or 38 cents per share, for the corresponding 1933 period.

Net income (all figures before depletion) was $2,479,000, or $3.01 per common share, for 1933, against $2,005,000, or $4.49 per share, for 1932. Net for 1931 was $2,877,000, against $3,124,000 for 1930.

Current assets on Dec. 31, 1933, totaled $9,435,000, against current liabilities of $3,397,000. There was no funded debt. Capitalization consists of 15,816 shares of 6 per cent $100 par preferred and 784,650 shares of $10 par common. The common currently pays 50 cents a quarter.

The preferred is rather high grade. The common is medium grade.

Telepost Company.

Investors' Guide: Some years ago an uncle of the undersigned died. Recently a number of shares of stock of Telepost company were found in the old homestead. What information can you give me on it?—M. D. W.

Answer: Telepost company was organized in Maine in 1907. It proposed using a machine which could send many messages over one wire at one time. Wires were leased between several cities. The idea did not work.

The company was promoted by Sterling Debenture corporation, certain officers of which received prison sentences for using the mails to defraud. Telepost company remained dormant from 1914 until 1924, when it was wound up through bankruptcy.

There is no market for the stock. It is considered valueless.

METAL MARKETS DISPLAY FIRM TONE FOR WEEK

New York, July 8.—(AP)—Steady to firm conditions were reported in some non-ferrus metal markets last week. Tin prices rallied about ¾ cent per pound in sympathy with over holiday advances in London. The market here remained quiet. Tin plate mills in this country curtailed operations over July 4, but the trade looked for maintenance of activity next week.

Zinc prices were unchanged but a firm undertone reflected reports from the tri-state district that mine producers would reduce ore output this month by about 30 per cent. Reduced stocks of zinc at the end of June reflected decreased production.

Recent declines in lead attracted a fair diversified consuming demand from practically all branches except the cable trade and prices ruled steady. Lower prices now prevailing were said to have discouraged production of secondary refined metal.

Copper was without fresh feature as the price remained unchanged at 9 cents for Blue Eagle electrolytic. Antimony was dull in the domestic market with the undertone somewhat easier owing to restricted consuming demand, but the Chinese market was reported firmer on European buying.

CLOTHING FIRM BLAMES NRA IN UNION DEMAND

Baltimore, Md., July 8.—(AP)—L. Greif & Brother, Inc., large manufacturer of men's clothing, through its attorney, Leonard Weinberg, tonight blamed an NRA order on "the attempt of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America" and affiliated manufacturers, "to force all manufacturers into this union or out of business."

The compliance board of the NRA Friday ruled that the Greif company must choose between paying employes upwards of $100,000 in back wages or losing its Blue Eagle unless it is granted a special wage "exemption" under "the clothing code."

A report that the company was mailing a check in settlement of the wage restitution was declared "absolutely false."

SEABROOK FARM WORK TO RESUME DESPITE PICKETS, OWNER SAYS

Bridgeton, N. J., July 8.—(AP)—Charles E. Seabrook, owner of the 5,000 acre truck farm which has been the scene of strike disorders, announced today all regular farm operations halted by the walkout will be resumed tomorrow.

Leaders of the Agricultural and Industrial Workers' union, however, reiterated that no workers would be permitted through the picket lines.

Sheriff William Brown said he plans to augment his force of 30 deputies and local policemen with more than 100 members of the Farmers' Vigilante committee.

Two men are in jail on charges of assault and battery in connection with a disorder Friday at the farm. One is alleged to have injured a constable with an ice pick. Four other persons were injured in the disorder. The strike was called about two weeks ago in protest against wage cuts.

BRAND FEDERAL POWER PROJECTS GRAVE MENACE

The New Deal program for nation-wide development of hydro-electric projects was branded yesterday as a menace to the jobs of thousands and to the savings of millions of persons in some way dependent on the coal industry.

George J. Leahy, chairman of the National Job Saving and Investment Protection Bureau for the Coal Industry, said the government's entry into the power business in plans to date will destroy the market for 21,500,000 tons of coal annually consumed in steam generating plants which will be driven out. Mr. Leahy estimated that 27,000 of 600,000 miners and 22,000 men in the railroad business would be thrown out of work. This means loss of livelihood for a quarter million persons.

In addition Mr. Leahy declared that both large and small investors will suffer losses from further spread of the government financed projects.

RESERVE BANK OFFICIAL MEETS REICHSBANK HEAD

Problem of German Debt Payment Discussed.

BASEL, Switzerland, July 8.—(AP)—Means of obtaining interest payments to American holders of the German Dawes and Young loan bonds were discussed at a private luncheon today by George L. Harrison, governor of the New York Federal Reserve bank, and Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, head of the Reichsbank.

Dr. Schacht was amiable and ready to go into all phases of the problem, but pointed out that negotiations between the United States and the German government will be necessary to bring about an adjustment of the question. Harrison, it was understood, acceded to this view.

The American banker, referring to the Anglo-German agreement, under which interest is to be paid to British holders, emphasized his opinion that Americans will expect to receive exactly the same treatment as bondholders of other nations. Harrison declined to comment on views presented by Dr. Schacht, but he did not seem to be displeased with results of the informal conference.

Gets Warm Welcome.

Harrison, attending for the first time a meeting of the governors of world central banks this afternoon, received a warm welcome. There was a general exchange of views on technical problems.

Questions were raised and answered concerning the problems of financial credits and monetary policies due to the fact that some nations are off the gold standard while others retain it. Harrison answered many queries concerning banking conditions in the United States.

After the general meeting broke up, bankers formed in small groups. In separate, informal discussions the German moratorium, the future of the gold bloc nations, war debts and the possibility of England stabilizing its financial system on a gold basis all had their innings.

Going to Paris Tuesday.

Harrison will leave for Paris Tuesday. Later he will go to London, and he plans to sail for the United States on the Europa July 18.

Bankers here manifested the liveliest interest in the question of whether Germany will devalorize the reichsmark. Such action, it was pointed out, would have an important effect on world commerce and might influence the policies of the gold bloc nations.

Seemingly no agreements were reached on anything by the conference of bankers. The divergence views on many issues indicated a probability of continued disagreement on the outstanding financial problems of the world.

Improvement in Canadian Crop Situation Reported

Washington, D. C., July 8.—(AP)—General improvement of crop conditions in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta is reported from the foreign agricultural service representative of the bureau of agricultural economics at Ottawa, Canada. Precipitation was fairly general over the farming area, but in some scattered regions hail caused severe damage, a dispatch declared. An early wheat harvest was predicted and the report declared grasshoppers were being kept under control by the weather and the poisoning campaign.

MUNICIPAL BOND NOTES

A total of $124,036,589 of new state and municipal financing was done in June, including $303,000 of loans by the Public Works administration. In May the total was $81,155,053, including $916,000 PWA loans, and for June, 1933, the total was $99,905,293, of which $8,089,000 represented loans by the Reconstruction Finance corporation. During the first six months of 1934 new financing aggregating $645,106,104 was done, compared with $468,863,397 during the first half of 1933.

The city of Quincy, Mass., will offer on July 10 a new issue of $200,000 of revenue anticipation notes. The issue will mature on Dec. 28, 1934.

Livingston county, N. Y., reports a new low record interest rate on a short term loan in the country's financial history. The county has awarded a new issue of $50,000 six months' certificates of indebtedness to Sage, Rutty & Steele of Rochester on a 2.75 per cent basis.

The city of New London, Conn., will be in the market on July 13 with a new issue of $50,000 of public improvement bonds. The issue will mature serially from 1935 to 1944, with the interest rate to be named by the bidders at not to exceed 4 per cent.

A new issue of $50,000 of notes has been announced by Norfolk county, Mass., for award on July 17. The notes will mature on April 3, 1935.

A syndicate comprising E. H. Rollins & Sons and others will offer today a block of $1,700,000 state of Louisiana 5½ per cent bonds, due serially from Jan. 1, 1935 to 1953. The bonds, dated Jan. 1, 1933, are part of an original issue of $4,950,000 and do not constitute new financing on the part of the state. The bonds will be offered at prices to yield 4 to 5.50 per cent. According to the bankers, the bonds are legal investment for savings banks and trust funds in New York, Massachusetts, and other states, and, in the opinion of counsel, are eligible as security for postal savings deposits.

FARM POLICIES OF ROOSEVELT TO BE WEIGHED

Madison, Wis., July 8.—(AP)—The Roosevelt administration's farm policies will be weighed and its probable future course scrutinized by agricultural leaders from all parts of the nation during the six day meeting of the American Institute of Coöperation which starts here tomorrow.

Many controversial matters concerning the government's part in the rehabilitation of agriculture will be brought to the fore by various leaders of coöperatives, and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and his aids will be on hand to expound the administration's farm recovery views.

Underlying the themes of many discussions will be the question of whether the agricultural adjustment act will give way to some other type of legislation, and whether the future development of agricultural institutions will be based on a partnership between farmers business organizations and the government or by means of burocratic social controls originating in Washington.

The institute is an educational enterprise sponsored by some of the larger coöperatives, and has for its purpose the collection and dissemination of information concerning the coöperative movement. It adopts no resolutions and takes no official position, but as a clearing house for conflicting views is expected to provide a cross section of national opinion on agricultural problems and programs.

544,000 PERSONS AT WORK UNDER PWA PROGRAM

Ickes Reports 300,000 Gain in 15 Weeks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, July 8.—Direct employment on construction sites of federal and non-federal projects under the public works program reached 544,000 for the week ending June 23, and it was estimated that another 1,088,000, or twice the number directly employed on the sites, had been put to work indirectly in the production, processing, and transportation of the raw and finished materials used, Secretary Ickes, administrator of public works, said today.

Mr. Ickes said that direct employment on the sites which had lagged in the early months was mounting rapidly toward the summer peak and as of June 23 showed an increase of 300,000 in fifteen weeks since March 10, the low point for the winter.

Work Groups Included.

"In the key figure are included only the men employed on the non-federal projects, the federal projects being constructed by the various departments of the government and the work being done by the Tennessee Valley authority," Mr. Ickes said. "Men enlisted in the civilian conservation corps are not included, nor are men and women employed by the NRA, PWA, and other administrative agencies, although they are paid from the public works appropriation. All of these men and women are excluded from the key figure because their work does not result in indirect and industrial employment in the two for one ratio."

Administrator Ickes would not predict when the peak of employment would be reached this summer, nor how high it will be, but pointed out that this year it is inevitable that there will be a decline when cold weather sets in. The extent of the decline will depend on the weather.

Start In Mild Climates.

There was no sharp decline last winter, it was explained, for when PWA started out it planned ahead and concentrated on getting under way first those projects located in sections of the country where the winters are not severe. Now, however, projects are under way all over the country, and some of them will be shut down this winter.

RISE OF FEDERAL LIENS FEATURES TRADE IN BONDS

Prime Obligations Share in Improvement.

New York, July 8.—(AP)—United States government securities stepped into the bond market lead last week and the majority recorded advances which put them up to new high levels for the year. Many prime corporation loans, although quieter than usual, also bettered their best prices since 1928 or longer. At the same time semi-speculative liens moved somewhat irregularly and the averages for these groups were not able to show any appreciable progress.

Low Yields Curtail Demand.

In the matter of the highest grade investment issues, dealers pointed out that extremely low yields for this class of bonds had tended recently to greatly restrict both public and institutional buying. The pressure of idle funds was said to be almost as strong as ever.

With some loosening of the securities act of 1933 and the existing record easy money rates banking circles were anticipating a flood of new financing and refunding operations in the next several months, provided nothing serious appears in the economic picture to stem the investment tide.

The financial district was highly encouraged by announcement that the Pennsylvania railroad's $50,000,000 4½ per cent bond offering was oversubscribed. This issue was partly for the purpose of meeting the maturity of $60,000,000 of 6½s due in February, 1936. The sale of a $35,000,000 issue of 3 per cent notes by the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston, based on a price of 98.24 paid by the underwriting syndicate, was also seen as a straw in the investment wind.

Ignore Treasury Offering.

The market for government bonds apparently paid little attention to the fact that the treasury, for the third consecutive week, will issue next Wednesday new bills $25,000,000 in excess of weekly maturity. The demand for listed federal loans was brisk near the end of the week.

In the foreign section German obligations reflected the confused political situation in the reich by dropping sharply. Young and Dawes plan loans steadied on Thursday when Berlin agreed to continue the service on those bonds held by the British. Hope was expressed that Washington would reach a similar accord with German financial authorities. Other foreign bonds were mixed and quiet.

REP. EICHER PLANS MORE MEDDLING WITH HOG PRICES

Washington, D. C., July 8.—(AP)—Representative Eicher [Dem., Ia.] said today he is drafting a measure for introduction at the next session of congress to fix the price of hogs at the basic parity figure. The bill would make it mandatory for the secretary of agriculture to determine and proclaim the parity price, which would apply to all hogs needed for the domestic market, this percentage also being determined by the secretary.

Under Eicher's contemplated machinery for carrying out the plan the farmer would be given a receipt for the percentage of his hogs not marketed at the domestic basic price. The receipt would be negotiable, but would not be cashable until the world market figure at which the surplus had been sold was determined.

Surplus stocks would be handled through a government agency which would dispose of them at the best price in the world trade or in some other channel not competing with the domestic market. Eicher last session introduced a bill fixing a minimum price of $6.74 per hundredweight on hogs. The bill was introduced late and failed of consideration.

MANUFACTURERS TO MAKE REPORT ON POWER PLANS

Investigation of the effect of government competition on private business, as exemplified in the Tennessee Valley project, is to be conducted by a committee of the Illinois Manufacturers' association. The committee, selected from members of the board of directors, plans to visit the Muscle Shoals power development and other places in the valley.

Among the points to be taken up, according to an announcement of the committee's plans yesterday, are: how competition in the sale of electricity by the government affects utilities and public users; the effect upon industry of the government practice of selling electric appliances "at cost," and the effect of the power project on the fertilizer industry and its relation to agriculture in general. The committee is to report its findings to the broad of directors.

FULTON COUNTY WHEAT YIELDS VARY WIDELY

Canton, Ill., July 8.—[Special.]—Wheat fields in Fulton county are yielding from 2 to 54 bushels per acre, with the quality varying as widely as the quantity, according to Farm Adviser J. E. Watt. High yields are reported from bottom lands where there was plenty of moisture despite lack of rainfall.

Other areas all report exceptionally small yields. Threshing of oats has started but no reports have been received regarding the yield. Prospects for a good corn crop are reported by some farmers as being the best in recent years, temperatures having been ideal for this crop.

U. S. Stocks of Zinc Decline During June

Stocks of zinc in the United States at the end of June totaled 99,689 short tons, against 104,732 at the end of May and 122,891 at the end of June, 1933, according to the American Zinc Institute. Production in June was 25,143 tons, against 30,992 in May and 23,987 in the same month last year.

COMMISSIONS DENIED BANKS FOR STOCK SALES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 8.—A ruling by Controler of the Currency J. F. T. O'Connor, permitting national banks to buy and sell corporate stocks solely for the account of customers, emphasizes that the banks must not engage in what amounts to a brokerage business and that any charge for the accommodation "must not exceed the actual cost of servicing."

The ruling was contained in a communication sent to all national bank examiners June 28, but which was not made public at that time. It was issued because in the jam of legislation in the closing days of congress the Bulkley bill, which would have amended the banking act of 1933 so that no doubt could exist as to the position of the national banks on this matter, failed of passage.

The federal reserve board had previously ruled that it found nothing in the federal statutes to prevent state charter banks, members of the federal reserve system, from buying corporate stocks, without recourse, solely for customers' account.

SQUARE-SHOOTING MEN WHO WANT A SQUARE-SHOOTING CHANCE.

The past 56 months have tumbled the income foundations from under many a square-shooter with a keen, alert mind, who naturally ought to get along better. Many a 1930-'34 Adam has found himself outside his 1925-'29 Garden of Eden. He didn't get thrown out, but they moved the garden away from him. Now, the full-way man accepts it as part of life and keeps on trying; the half-way chap slumps or jumps! Some of the best fighters in the world had to learn how to get up after the count of 9 and start all over. It is that type of man we wish. There are many men right here who are winning their way to a new, higher and really permanent top who represent many lines of business, professions and trades. Not all started over. Some left positions that limped badly—others came directly from college and university into our ranks. They don't look alike. They have different names, representing many national antecedents. But they are all alike in respect to their inner machinery. They are men who run on their own power, and who have conquered fear!

Without past experience in this field, these men have mastered it. We're justly proud of those men. There's a man here in his 57th year, who had felt the bite of tough times as hard as any man in Chicago, but in less than a year he elevated his income to $550 in one month. He had one high week of $175, getting this full percentage without question and knowing every penny of bonus would come to him! He reasoned thus: This is the age of inventions. It is the air and electrical age. A company that stands foremost in its line in electrical unit production and distribution and keeps on growing ought to be a good connection for the right man. He proved that this was so. Another man who had risen to heights in the building contract line found that he and his family faced the necessities of basic creature comforts. This field was open to him and provided room for the play of his vision. He, too, is winning and is happy in this work. No man ever had any deeper feeling of loyalty to their universities than these and numerous other successful men have toward this great organization. And these are the men who help you. There is another man here whom we feel moved to mention. He was a tailor. He has known many struggles in life. Last Saturday this man felt ill. But he made over $22.50 for his family that day, and was feeling ill at the time. The success proved to be good medicine to him! He made nearly $1,000 more last year than the year before!

There is a newer man here—a big fellow, who for years was a baseball umpire. He has a smile that starts away down deep and ripples over his face. Like these other men, he impresses people with his square-shooting qualities. He has won from the start, just like an old-timer. There are other men like that. You might be one of them, or you may start slower and have a smaller income until you develop into the full idea of this permanent business that doesn't cost you a penny!

We want square-shooters, and particularly west side men and west suburban men. We want men who don't smile with their faces and weep with their brains. We need vigorous men—not trailblazers, pathfinders or hardy pioneers, but men who have durable habits and durable personalities. It's a great business, gentlemen, and it soon becomes part of you—just as you become part of it. We want men whom we shall like and who like us—so that we can travel the success trail together. That is why we shall look for you in Suite 329 at 9 So. Kedzie-av. from 11 a. m. to 3 p. m., Monday, July 9. You and I and the great company back of us may be associated successfully for many happy years to come! I hope so, and am sure you do, too!

MEN

DO YOU BELIEVE IF GIVEN A CHANCE YOU COULD SUCCESSFULLY OPERATE YOUR OWN BUSINESS? ARE YOU INDUSTRIOUS ENOUGH TO WORK DAY AND NIGHT TO MAKE $5,000 A YEAR? IF YOU CAN SINCERELY SAY YES TO THE ABOVE QUESTION, MAKE A PERSONAL INVESTIGATION MONDAY OF A COMPANY AND ITS PRODUCTS THAT IS ESTABLISHING MEN IN CHICAGO AND THE WEST.

Here in Chicago we have men representing this company who are in their own business, financed by us and many are earning a percentage profit of from $35 a week to as high as $916 in four weeks.

Our products are patented and come close to selling themselves. Our electrical hygiene unit is by far the most outstanding—however, we sell air conditioning, concealed heating, electric mixers, etc.

Our Company is rated in millions and operates all over the world and has grown by leaps and bounds because of its unique method of distribution, extremely profitable to our dealers and leaving almost no resistance to the sale.

The men we desire to interview do not have to be business men or salesmen. Our only requirement is good appearance, sincerity and a willingness to work hard and learn.

Our expansion program will create business opportunities for a few men this week. We have nothing to sell you—you can't invest anything but your time and we want you to know straight from the shoulder that we feel you will consider our business the most outstanding opportunity you have ever investigated.

Apply MONDAY ONLY, 10 to 10:30 and 2 to 2:30.
